POSTAL SAVINGS HAS ITS PROBLEMS

System by Which Uncle Sam Could Afford to Pay Interest Not Yet Suggested.

EUROPE LEADS AS SAVER.

American Banks, While Prosperous, Reach Only a Small Part of Country's Population After All.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Although financial experts of the government have been unable to figure out any scheme by which Uncle Sam could afford to pay interest on deposits made in postal savings banks, general arguments in behalf of the system are so strong they are receiving respectful attention at the postoffice department and probably will result in an official recommendation by the postmaster general.

The United States has lots of people who have acquired a saving habit to a certain extent. There is every reason to believe, however, although our deposits in savings banks run well up into billions, there is now in reserve as the result of continued prosperity a sum far greater than that already deposited. For long years the United States was distinctively an undeveloped country. It is only within the last generation that the central west has passed beyond the period when it was necessary to draw upon the east and Europe for the development of its resources.

West Getting a Surplus.

The far west is only just now in a position where it is beginning to accumulate a surplus. Ten years ago farms in the Mississippi valley were covered deeply with mortgages and the working classes in the cities were just going to labor after a disastrous period of enforced idleness. Since then the people have hardly had time to get into the habit of saving, although now prosperity has continued long enough to pay off mortgages and to produce a surplus.

Treasury experts and those in congress who are studying the postal savings bank problem say ordinary savings banks, in spite of their progressive methods, have as yet only reached a small percentage of the actual savings of our people as a result of the last ten years of good crops and high prices for labor. This is peculiarly true when we compare the savings bank statistics of this country with those of Europe. The total individual deposits last year amounted to $3,482,187,198. This is about equal to the aggregate deposits of Great Britain and Germany combined, and from that point of view it would appear that the United States was learning how to save its money.

Savings Class Is Small.

When one studies the savings deposits of the United States in their relation to the total population a different story is told. It appears that with us the savings class is a small one and the amount to the credit of each depositor averages a good deal more than it does across the water. The average deposit in Europe to the total population is generally much greater than it is in the United States, which goes to show that there must be here enormous reserve surplus earnings which have not yet reached the savings banks and which may never reach them. That this untouched surplus would be poured into the government treasury through the postal savings bank there is little doubt, because the guarantee of the government would be back of every dollar.

According to the figures prepared by the controller of the currency, the average amount to the credit of each depositor in our savings banks last year was approximately $434. This amount was contributed by 8,027,192 individuals. In Germany in 1902, the last year for which a report happens to be available, the depositors numbered 16,002,088. The number was double that in the United States, but the average for each depositor was only $150. In each case the average of deposits for the total population was about the same, it being $41 in the United States and $40 in Germany.

Germans Strong on Savings.

It is evident, however, that the percentage in Germany of the number of people dealing with savings banks is far greater than in the United States, per capita deposits being increased by the smallness of each individual amount. The United States is as prosperous as Germany, and it ought to have at least as many depositors with far greater average deposits. The amount now on deposit in our savings banks could be doubled or quadrupled without exciting much astonishment on the part of those who have been studying the situation.

In some of the smaller countries of Europe the habit of saving has been acquired to such an extent as to present figures which put the United States to shame. Denmark is the banner state on the continent in this regard. Its savings bank returns show an average of about $157 to each depositor. This is larger than in Germany, more than twice as large as in France, and a great deal larger than in Great Britain.

It is in the per capita deposits of the savings banks, however, that the small European countries chiefly excel. In Denmark, for instance, in 1903 the savings banks held in their vaults or under investment funds which aggregated $78 for every man, woman, and child in the country. This is approximately twice as large as the per capita savings of the United States. In Switzerland the average is $148 for each depositor, and $93 for each inhabitant in the whole country.

Bonds Not for Small Saver.

It is of course true that in Great Britain as well as in continental countries, and particularly in France, there is an opportunity to take up public securities as a popular investment. Here in the United States the government bonds are used as a basis for circulation of national banks. For this purpose they command such a premium that the average saver cannot afford to hold them even if they were issued in attractive low denominations.

For this reason friends of the postal banks are urging upon congress that the government ought to step in and furnish the people a sure system of investing their surplus.

These friends of the postal savings bank scheme, including probably Postmaster General Meyer himself, believe that the effect of the bank failures in 1893 and later on has never been eradicated, and that there is an enormous amount of capital lying absolutely idle because poor and ignorant people prefer to deprive themselves of interest rather than risk their savings in the hands of men who may some time default in payment.

GOTHAM TRACTION MESSES UP COURTS

Metropolitan Gets Receivers from Federal Judge, Beating Out State's Suit.

MILLIONS LOST IN TANGLE

Attorney General Jackson Charges Collusion in Legal Fight and Shady Management of Lines.

New York, Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Chicago never dreamed of a tangle such as that which developed in New York's traction muddle today when the Metropolitan Street railway voluntarily went into the hands of receivers. Just an hour or two before, Attorney General Jackson filed suits to have receivers forced upon the company.

Judge Lacombe, in the United States court, appointed the receivers for the Metropolitan on its own application. The attorney general filed his suit for receivership in the State Supreme court and at the same time a suit for the dissolution of the New York City railway.

Under ordinary circumstances one court does not interfere with another after a receiver has once been appointed. If the Supreme court grants the attorney general's application it will mean a conflict between the state and federal courts, and the attorney general declared today that in that event he would carry the case up without delay to the highest tribunal.

Trick to Dodge State Courts.

He is of the opinion that the Metropolitan's application for receivership in the federal court was a trick to block action in the state courts. He charges collusion between the Metropolitan and the New York City railway, which leases lines to the Metropolitan, in the feedral action, the purpose of which, as he sees it, is to preserve the system intact.

The legal tangle precipitated by the double receivership suit would baffle a corporation lawyer, and the financial muddle revealed by the day's developments is even worse.

In the suit he filed asking for the appointment of receivers for the Metropolitan, Attorney General Jackson makes charges of extravagance, failure to account for millions of dollars, and hints at big frauds. He alleges that the appointment of receivers for the New York City railway company by Judge Lacombe in the United States Circuit court a few days ago was illegal, and demands that the defendants be directed to pay back all money and the value of all property "which was lost and wasted by or through them."

The defendants named are Daniel B. Hasbrouck, De Clifford Moore, Herbert H. Vreeland, Richard W. Meade, Robert A. C. Smith, Charles E. Warren, William Fahnestock, Solomon Guggenheim, Ralph L. Anderson Jr., and the Metropolitan Street railway company.

Waste or Theft of Millions?

In his petition against the Metropolitan and its directors the attorney general declares that the New York City railway company, the lessee of the Metropolitan company, became insolvent shortly after the execution of the lease of the Metropolitan Street railway company, and has continued to be insolvent ever since. The liabilities of the New York City railway company are stated to exceed its assets by approximately $10,000,000.

In his petition the attorney general says: "The defendants have unlawfully disposed of assets and property of the defendant company. During the year 1902 the defendants expended or claimed to have expended $1,284,800 for engineering and superintending expenses in changing motive power on less than forty-three miles of double track road, this being at the rate of $30,000 a mile. If such money was expended for any such purpose the defendants were negligent and wasted the funds. If the money was not expended for said purpose the expenditure has never been accounted for by the defendants.

"During the year 1902 the defendants claim to have expended on the property of the defendant company the sum of $4,395,687 for laying new rails, this being equivalent to the rate of over $108,000 a mile, whereas the true cost and expenses of laying such rails could not have exceeded the sum of $22,000 a mile; that if said sum as stated was actually expended for that purpose defendants wasted about $3,500,000 of the assets of the defendant company, and if the money was not so expended then the defendants have not accounted for a sum amounting to $4,895,687."

$150,000 Lost "Bucking" Belmont.

Today's hearing of the public service commission into the affairs of the Interborough-Metropolitan threw light on how some of this money was used. Samuel Ely Quigg, the Metropolitan's legal chief and "legislative agent," admitted that in the last four years the company had paid him $217,907. About $150,000 of it, Mr. Quigg testified, had been spent in connection with the Metropolitan's attempts to bid for new subway routes to shut out the Belmont interests.

Mr. Quigg said that he had paid all of the expenses of eight or ten citizens' organizations which he had organized to appear at hearings here, and in Albany had hired counsel for them, written most of the arguments that public spirited citizens delivered.

Many of the bills amounting to hundreds of dollars were for expenses of trips to Albany. Mr. Quigg said that it was either to promote or defeat legislation affecting the company and that he had performed this work before committees, with legislators individually, with the speakers, and others. It was all done in the committee room. The expense was charged to the "special construction account" or to the "subway construction account."

Lawyers Receive $916,000.

Including the $217,000 paid to Quigg, it was brought out that a total of $916,000 had been paid out by the company to lawyers since 1892. Out of the "special construction account," which amounted to $7,000,000, it appeared payments were made to many individuals, but names of the payees were left off the stub of the check book in most cases.

Through the examination of D. G. Moorehead, former auditor and now secretary and treasurer, Mr. Ivins, who has been going over the books, showed that only about $20,000 could be traced by the names on the stubs, and the canceled checks in the case of the other payments where the payee's name was left out have not been found.

NO COCKTAILS FOR PRESIDENT

Reception Committee at St. Louis Bars All but Sherry.

SEE WARNING IN FAIRBANKS.

Divine Now Blames Roosevelt for Indiana Man's Downfall.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt can have anything he wants during his stay in St. Louis, except cocktails. The strongest thirst quencher at his disposal will be sherry. The reception committee, taking warning from the Fairbanks episode, put them on the index expurgatorius.

Blamed for Fairbanks' Fall.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—The blame for the defeat of Vice President Fairbanks as lay delegate to the Methodist Episcopal conference has been placed squarely on President Roosevelt by the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Jones, pastor of the Monroe Street Methodist church of this city.

Dr. Jones, in a remarkably blunt letter, which he sent yesterday to the president, declares that Mr. Fairbanks has been retired to private life by his defeat, and that Mr. Roosevelt is responsible. The letter follows in part:

"My Dear Mr. President: A dispatch from Columbus, Ind., states that Charles W. Fairbanks, vice president of the United States, was defeated for delegate to the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, after one of the most bitter contests ever waged in a religious assembly.

"That Mr. Fairbans is no longer a presidential candidate, or even a vice presidential possibility, can no longer be doubted. The laymen's convention of his own state and conference have refused to send him to the general conference to be held here in Baltimore next May, which kills all of his prospects of said nomination.

Says President Caused Defeat.

"You were the cause of his defeat. Mr. Fairbanks' dinner was given in your honor. You are reported as ordering what is called the 'Fairbanks cocktail.' Mr. Fairbanks had the ingredients in his home and granted your wish. This incident retires him to private life.

"Get into line, Mr. President. Be on time for the next tidal wave of prohibition that will sweep down upon this blessed land and break through all barriers that stand in the way of its onward rush to victory.

"The canteen! The canteen! If it is to be restored as formerly, when our boys in blue were made bartenders, then, by the grace of God, the republican and the democratic parties will meet their Waterloo and a prohibition candidate sit in your chair."

Dr. Jones declined to make any statement regarding his letter tonight, and expressed great surprise that it had become public.

The Coeducational club has tried the man membership plan and has found it so successful that the other woman's clubs of the city are looking on with great concern. President Mrs. C. Todd Hood opened the meeting with a flattering report of the men members. With the advent of men membership the club has gained 20 per cent in women members during the year.

"As the matter is of a government nature I took it up with Assistant United States District Attorney Childs this afternoon, with a view of prosecuting the persons flying the kite that broke the vane. Mr. Childs will give me his opinion in the morning, and on it may rest a federal prosecution."

ASK JOBS; GRAND JURY INDICTS.

Four Members of State Legislature and Two Aldermen Held in Boston for Seeking Positions

Boston, Mass., Oct. 1.—Believing that the state law forbidding the soliciting of positions in public service corporations by public officials has been violated, the Suffolk county grand jury today indicted State Senators E. J. Bromberg of West Roxbury and S. J. McLeod of Cambridge, Representatives D. J. McDonald of Charlestown and F. J. Dethro of this city, and Ald. James M. Curley and John B. Baldwin. It is charged that these men solicited positions from the New England Telephone and Telegraph company.

ILLINOIS MILITIA HAS CRITIC.

Army Officer, After Inspection, Reports System Inefficient.

REAL TRAINING IS NEEDED.

Sees Nothing but Disaster in Such Defense in Case of War.

The National Guard of Illinois is not an efficient military force and cannot be made so under present conditions, in the opinion of Capt. Melville A. Jarvis, U. S. A., who has inspected the state forces and made a report to the war department.

"The national guard of Illinois," the report says, "so far as observed, is not an efficient military force, and it cannot be made so under present conditions. What is required is more money, judiciously expended. Officers' uniforms and necessary equipment should be furnished them and the men should be paid for their time and service.

Good, but Not for War.

"From what has been seen of the militia in other states it is thought the militia of Illinois is probably considered above the average, but it is not a force that could be used against trained, disciplined troops of approximately equal numbers without the certainty of disaster. The material is excellent, but training is lacking. The remedy, of course, is to pay for military training, and that fact should be recognized and provided for if we are going to depend upon organized militia for immediate service in the event of war."

Maj. G. H. Morgan, assistant adjutant general, writes about the Illinois troops that adequate army facilities are lacking there, and says:

"In Chicago, where need of cavalry is greatest, a proper drill hall and armory, with sufficient drill grounds, might be set aside in one of the new central parks if the attention of the city authorities could be properly drawn to its benefits.

"The work of the cavalry in ranks is so effective, and generally accomplished without bloodshed, that this branch of the service should be especially encouraged and maintained."

Election of Officers Wrong.

Lieut. William B. Gracie, Twenty-seventh infantry, reports as follows:

"The pernicious practice of electing officers has so often been commented on by inspecting officers that it is unnecessary to say anything on that subject. In the state of Illinois the elective system is made worse by holding elections every three years. After serving as an officer for three years an election is held, and if a company saw fit it could elect an entirely new set of officers. This is considered ruinous to discipline."

BETRAY TENNES? PREFERS A CELL

Argo, Chief Lieutenant of Alleged Boss Gambler, Refuses to Testify to Grand Jury.

DAILY BOMB FIRED OFF.

Explosion Is in Evening at Wisconsin Central Depot, Harlem, Scene of a Previous Blast.

Given a choice between probable imprisonment for contempt of court and immunity from prosecution if he would divulge the secrets of the gambling trust, Horace Argo, Mont Tennes' chief lieutenant, yesterday chose the possible jail sentence.

This morning Argo will be compelled to appear before Judge Chetlain in the Criminal court, where he again will be given an opportunity to answer the questions put to him by the state's attorney. If he continues stubbornly to refuse the information demanded a term in jail for contempt seems inevitable.

It is certain that Argo can illuminate the subject, and the state's attorney believes he is nearer the light on the mystery of the bombs and the gambling cliques and the police indifference than ever he was before.

Daily Bomb Exploded.

After the grand jury's session had adjourned until today there occurred the diurnal bomb explosion at one of the gambling centers.

This one—No. 11—occurred at old Harlem, now Forest Park, a station on the Wisconsin Central railroad which has become the distributing center of racing news for Mont Tennes' system in Chicago—the Payne service for odds and results. It is the second bomb at the same building.

The explosion occurred at 9:37 p. m., under the railway station platform. W. C. Gorke, the night operator, saw two men running toward Altenheim and fired five shots at them. He does not think he wounded them.

The report was heard for a long distance and brought many residents of that village and the surrounding suburbs to the scene. The damage was small.

Day Has Other Features.

The threatened citing of Argo, Tennes' aid, for contempt and the bomb in the evening at Harlem—one of a series more frequent since the grand jury began to investigate—were but two of the features the day brought out to interest the gambling contingent, the police, and the public.

The jurors are believed to be preparing to return indictments against several of the big gambler leaders. State's Attorney Healy summoned stenographers, and the indictments—just how many is not known—are being prepared.

Indictments Are Expected.

As convincing evidence against Mont Tennes, "Jim" O'Leary, Paddy Grimes, John A. Rogers, and others already has been heard, it is considered certain they are named in the indictments. It is hard to prophesy just what will be done in the cases of the Chicago Telephone company, which has been furnishing the gamblers with phone service, the police, who have been lax in their duty regarding the suppression of gambling, and the Payne gambling service.

Mr. Healy has admitted the jurors have received information that convinces them that the police cannot be other than cognizant of the gambling situation in the city. They have as yet been given no names of individual policemen who have been lax in their duty.

Along with the day's developments came a statement from State's Attorney Healy that he intended to stop all gambling in Chicago—"open" or otherwise—in spite of interference from any or all sources. That was the only way, he said, to stop the bomb throwing, and it was his set purpose to stop that.

Argo's Dogged Attitude.

The incident which may prove so disastrous to Argo, the one man who is thoroughly acquainted with the machinery of the gambling trust, took place late in the afternoon. He was called into the grand jury rooms shortly after 3 o'clock the first time and questioned regarding the gambling situation.

"What is your connection with Tennes and the bookmaking combination?" Argo was asked.

"With due respect to this body, I must refuse to answer on the ground that I might incriminate myself," was the reply of the witness.

Mr. Healy and the jurors were surprised for a moment into silence. The gamblers who have been summoned as witnesses have been surprisingly ignorant of the local situation, have said that they "forgot" and that they "were out of the game," but this was a new reply.

Promises Immunity Bath.

"Well, in that case I will promise you immunity from prosecution on any matter upon which you may testify," said Mr. Healy.

It was the witness' turn to hesitate. He apparently had been instructed by his superiors not to give any information, and this new move left him at a loss for a reply. He was not accompanied by an attorney.

"Now, please tell us what you know of the gambling situation," persisted Mr. Healy.

"I must again refuse to answer," was the reply.

"Do you realize the seriousness of your refusal to answer under these circumstances?" asked Mr. Healy. "You are making yourself liable for contempt of court and possible jail sentence by refusing to give the grand jury information in this manner."

"I must refuse to answer, however," continued Argo doggedly.

Thinks It Over; Again Refuses.

"Well," said Mr. Healy, after he had argued for fifteen minutes to no purpose, "I wish you would go out into the other room and think this matter over for awhile. I do not believe you will maintain this position after you have given the matter sufficient thought."

Argo walked out into the little room adjoining the jury room and remained there nearly half an hour. Then he was recalled to the jury room. This time a stenographer was present to take such replies as he might make.

"Have you decided to give the jury the information asked for?" asked Mr. Healy.

"My position is the same as before," was the reply.

Then, in order to make clear the matters upon which he had refused to answer, the prosecutor asked him the questions regarding the gambling situation that have been put to the other witnesses. He was asked what part Tennes played in the local gambling situation. He was asked what places, to his knowledge, were being operated at present. He was asked of the Payne service, the telephone service, and the inactivity of the police.

Still Refuses to Answer.

"I must refuse to answer," was the reply in each instance.

"Then," said Mr. Healy at last, "I must remind you that you still are under subpoena from this court, and that I shall demand your attendance here tomorrow. You will appear in Judge Chetlain's court to show cause why you should not be held in contempt of court for refusing to answer these questions. You will be in Judge Chetlain's court at 9:30 o'clock."

"Very well," jauntily replied Argo. "I shall be present," saying which he left the building.

"Will you give any information about your connection with Tennes or the gambling combination?" Argo was asked as he left the Criminal Court building.

"I must refuse to answer that question also," was his reply.

Calls a Telephone Official.

Immediately after Argo's experience in the grand jury room S. J. Larned, superintendent of the Chicago Telephone company, was recalled to the jury room. He had testified on Monday, but his answers of "I don't know" had caused Mr. Healy to recall him.

This time he was questioned about the service being given by the telephone company to gamblers, the headquarters of the company at Forest Park—maintained especially for the bookmakers—and the money paid in monthly rentals by the gamblers. Especial attention was given to the matter of telephone rentals and other charges because of the repeated statements, made in the grand jury room and elsewhere, that the company was charging high rates for gambling telephones.

Mr. Larned was able to give a little more information than on Monday. He asserted the company did not knowingly supply open poolrooms with service. He discovered, however, "he didn't know" about many important questions put to him by Mr. Healy, chiefly in relation to the Forest Park service. He was dismissed, consequently, with the statement he might again be recalled.

Talk of O'Leary's House, Says Report.

After that Detectives Bell and Kinder were called before the jury to tell of the investigation which they have been carrying on for Mr. Healy. It is said the evidence given included testimony relating to O'Leary's "open house" at 4183 Halsted street. Such, if true, will prove more disastrous to O'Leary than to any of his brother gamblers, as he already has been convicted twice, and a penitentiary term is the result of a third conviction.

After concluding the work of questioning witnesses, Mr. Healy summoned Assistant State's Attorneys Underwood and Zolotkoff, both of the indictment department. The assistants, accompanied by stenographers and bearing the indictment blanks, were kept busy in the jury room nearly an hour.

Later they were summoned into Mr. Healy's private office and together the three men labored on the legal blanks for some hours. That a number of indictments were drawn is certain. They have not yet been formally returned, however, as in that case the men named could not be used as witnesses during the remainder of the investigation.

"Bomb Outrages Must Be Stopped."

"These bomb outrages can and must be stopped immediately," said Mr. Healy during a lull in the work. "The way to stop them is to stop gambling. I am going to do this if it is within my power.

"I am awfully hampered in this work, however, by the fact I haven't the men to carry on a crusade like this. I now have four men—detectives from the city police force. Instead of these I ought to have a force of my own—twenty or thirty at least. I have repeatedly endeavored to get the county board to make an appropriation for this purpose, but I have failed. I can only hope to be more successful in the future."

It is expected the grand jury will complete its investigation of gambling on Friday, at which time it will make its report. Because of the sensational nature of the evidence heard during the last week the report is expected to be one of the most startling made by a grand jury in many months.

Gamblers Shut Up Shop.

Gambling and "poolroom" operations practically were nonexistent in the city, as a result of the publicity and grand jury inquiry. Poolrooms in the downtown district and in outlying sections of the city, which flourished up to a few days ago, gave unmistakable evidence of having withered under the onslaught of newspaper publicity.

Even "Big Jim" O'Leary capitulated during the day.

O'Leary's saloon license was revoked a year ago. Despite this, his name appears on the window of the saloon and on two signs above the door. A bartender refused to display the license under which the saloon is permitted to operate. The telephone in O'Leary's saloon is given in the telephone directory under O'Leary's name.

PREDICT TRADE TRIUMPHS IF SHIP CANAL WINS OUT.

Deep Waterway Means New Prestige for Chicago, Insist Speakers Before Hamilton and Iroquois Clubs.

With all the enthusiasm of political spellbinders, the educational campaign in Chicago in favor of a deep waterway between Lake Michigan and the Gulf of Mexico was waged yesterday.

Edwin S. Conway, a member of the national organization, and who will head the Chicago delegation to the convention which meets in Memphis Friday, together with Robert R. McCormick, president of the drainage commission, delivered addresses on the subject of deep waterways before the Hamilton club, and Congressman William Lorimer made a similar talk before the Iroquois club.

The Chicago delegation, nearly 200 strong, made up of delegations from the Association of Commerce, the Illinois Manufacturers' association, etc., will leave on two trains Thursday evening. Friday and Saturday will be spent attending the convention at Memphis, and the party will return to Chicago Sunday morning.

Conway and McCormick Speak.

Mr. Conway in his address before the Hamilton club explained what the deep waterway plan really meant, and the advantages which would accrue from its construction. He laid special stress upon the railroad situation as it exists in the country today, and insisted adequate water facilities between Chicago and the Gulf of Mexico would revolutionize freight transportation facilities.

Mr. Conway was followed by Mr. McCormick. Mr. McCormick distributed among his hearers maps of the drainage canal, and made an illustrated talk on conditions existing today and outlined the situation of the future should the deep waterway plan become an existing fact. Mr. McCormick briefly explained the trouble encountered in obtaining the necessary legislation for the furtherance of the drainage canal plans and made a plea for the cooperation of the members of the Hamilton club in the battles yet to be fought.

Lorimer Foresees Trade Conquests.

The appearance of Congressman Lorimer, a republican, before the democratic Iroquois club, was the source of much interest. Mr. Lorimer recounted to the club his observations when he made an inspection tour of the route for the proposed canal.

"It would take too long to tell all the advantages that are going to come when this scheme is completed," said Mr. Lorimer, "but here is just one. By the time we get our deep waterway canal the Panama canal will be near completion, and when both are in working order it will be possible to sell American goods in the orient and the wares of the central Mississippi valley on the Pacific coast cheaper than those places can themselves make them or can buy them anywhere else."

Mr. Lorimer made a big hit with his hearers by his announcement that the deep waterway system would regain for Chicago its prestige in the grain market, which it once held, but resigned to Duluth.

ROOSEVELT WARNS AND MAKES PLEA.

"Square Deal" Speech at Keokuk Tribute to Homemakers of the Nation.

GIVES ONE NEGRO FAME.

Black Plasterer Presents a Gold Headed Cane and Gets Prolonged Handshake.

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt captured Keokuk's heart today inside of three hours, and started down the Mississippi to lay siege to St. Louis.

Into his brief visit the president crowded a notable message of friendship and sympathy to the homemakers and breadwinners of the nation, a warning to land thieves, land jumpers, and other evil doers, and at least two incidents calculated to make Keokuk remember the man long after it has forgotten what he said.

While a crowd of many thousands waited impatiently for him to speak Mr. Roosevelt delayed his speech a few minutes until a tired looking farmer and a woman, both carrying a child, were led to seats inside the roped off inclosure. He saw them in the crowd standing outside the ropes, and as there were some chairs still vacant he insisted they be given seats, and as many more allowed inside the ropes as would fill the vacant chairs. He watched this done, and then remarked: "Now we can proceed."

Shakes Negro's Hand Warmly.

The other incident came at the end of the speechmaking, when a negro plasterer marched up to the president and shoved a massive gold headed cane into his hand. This, the negro explained, was a token of the esteem in which he was held by the negroes of Keokuk. Straightway President Roosevelt reached out for the negro plasterer's big right hand, and, grasping it tightly all the time, told the negro and the crowd that it gave him great pleasure to accept the cane. He added that in dealing with the black man, as in dealing with white, he was following what he believed "the only sane principle—that of treating every man according to his merits as an individual, regardless of race."

Accompanied by companions of the days when he was roughing it in the west and campaigning in Cuba, President Roosevelt is tonight steaming down the great Father of Waters aboard the old fashioned stern wheeler Mississippi. With a brief good-by to the visiting governors of twelve states, who had come here to meet and receive him, the president took his old rough rider comrades Seth Bullock, Civil Service Commissioner McIlhenny, and Gov. Franz of Oklahoma with him aboard the steamer and left this city at noon. All the governors except one went on to St. Louis by special train. Gov. Johnson was taken ill here and left for his home in St. Paul.

Kidnap Seth Bullock for Trip.

Seth Bullock, his bronzed face shadowed by a broad sombrero, stood in the crowd that greeted the president on his arrival here. He had left his office of United States marshal in South Dakota and had come to Keokuk to greet his chief. The moment the president caught sight of that big hat he exclaimed: "Why, there's Seth," rushing toward him with outstretched hands. "Seth, how are you? Seth, you've got to go with me on that boat down the Mississippi."

Seth started to make a protest. "That's all right, that's all right, Seth," broke in the president, "but you've got to go with me, and that's all there is to it."

"Well, Mr. President," said Seth, "orders is orders, and I'm not the fellow to disobey them."

Though it was a prepared speech he delivered here this morning, the president departed from it occasionally to accentuate and elaborate.

"You will remember that a year ago I expressed my opinion of certain undesirable citizens," he said in one of these interjections, "and I stand by what I said."

He added that he would always condemn the man who incites to murder and would demand punishment for that offense, as he would for the crime of the corporation criminals.

Address of the President.

The president said:

"During the last few years we of the United States have been forced to consider seriously certain economic problems. We have made a beginning in the attempt to deal with the relations of the national government—that is, with the relations of the people of the country—to the huge and wealthy corporations, controlled for the most part by a few rich men, which are engaged in interstate business—especially the great railway corporations.

"You know my views on this matter. You know that I believe that the national government, in the interests of the people, should assume much the same supervision and control over the management of the interstate common carriers that it now exercises over the national banks. You know furthermore that I believe that this supervision and control should be exercised in a spirit of rigid fairness toward the corporations, exacting justice from them on behalf of the people, but giving them justice in return.

Not Favoring One at Others' Expense.

"We are not trying to favor any man at the expense of his fellows. We are trying to shape things so that as far as possible each man shall have a fair chance in life; so that he shall have, so far as by law this can be accomplished, the chance to show the stuff that there is in him. We have no intention of trying to work for the impossible and undesirable end of giving to the lazy, the thriftless, the weak, and the vicious the reward that belongs to, and in the long run can only come to, the hard working, the thrifty, the resolute, and the honest.

"But we do wish to see that the necessary struggle in life shall be carried on under genuinely democratic conditions; that, so far as human action can safely provide it, there shall be an approximately fair start; that there shall be no oppression of the weak, and that no man shall be permitted to acquire or to use a vast fortune by methods or in ways that are tortuous and dishonest.

"Therefore, we need wise laws, and we need to have them resolutely administered. We can get such laws and such administration only if the people are alive to their interests.

"The other day I listened to an admirable sermon by Bishop Johnston of western Texas. His theme was that the vital element in judging any man should be his conduct, and neither his position nor his pretensions; and, furthermore, that freedom could only stay with a people which has the habit of self-mastery. As he said, the price of liberty is not only eternal vigilance but eternal virtue; and I may add, eternal common sense."

First Master Yourself.

"Each man here knows that he himself has been able to use his freedom to advantage only provided that he could master himself, that he could control his own passions and direct his own faculties. Each of you fathers and mothers here knows that if your sons are to do well in the world they must know how to master themselves. Every man must have a master; if he is not his own master, then somebody else will be. This is just as true of public life as of private life. If we cannot master ourselves, control ourselves, then sooner or later we shall have to submit to outside control, for there must be control somewhere.

"One way of exercising such control is through the laws of the land. Ours is a government of liberty, but it is a government of that orderly liberty which comes by and through the honest enforcement of and obedience to the law. At intervals during the last few months the appeal has been made to me not to enforce the law against certain wrongdoers of great wealth, because to do so would interfere with the business prosperity of the country. Under the effects of that kind of fright which, when sufficiently acute, we call panic, this appeal has been made to me even by men who ordinarily behave as decent citizens.

Some Sure to Cry "Stop."

"Whenever a serious effort is made to cut out what is evil in our political life, whether the effort takes the shape of warring against the gross and sordid forms of evil in some municipality, or whether it takes the shape of trying to secure the honest enforcement of the law as against powerful and wealthy people, there are sure to be certain individuals who demand that the movement stop because it may hurt business.

"In each case the answer must be that we earnestly hope and believe that there will be no permanent damage to business from the movement, but that if righteousness conflicts with the fancied needs of business, then the latter must go to the wall. We cannot afford to substitute any other test for that of guilt or innocence, of wrong doing or well doing, in judging any man.

"If a man does well, if he acts honestly, he has nothing to fear from this administration. But, so far as in me lies, the corrupt politician, great or small, the private citizen who transgresses the law—be he rich or poor—shall be brought before the impartial justice of a court.

"Perhaps I am most anxious to get at the politician who is corrupt, because he betrays a great trust; but assuredly I shall not spare his brother corruptionist who shows himself a swindler in business life; and, according to our power, crimes of fraud and cunning shall be prosecuted as relentlessly as crimes of brutality and physical violence.

Character Is Above Law.

"We need good laws, and we need, above all things, the hearty aid of good citizens in supporting and enforcing the laws. Nevertheless, men and women of this great state, men and women of the middle west, never forget that law and the administration of law, important though they are, must always occupy a wholly secondary place as compared with the character of the average citizen himself.

"On this trip I shall speak to audiences in each of which there will be many men who fought in the civil war. You who wore the blue, and your brothers of the south who wore the gray, know that in war no general, no matter how good, no organization, no matter how perfect, can avail if the average man in the ranks has not got the fighting edge. We need the organization, the preparation; we need the good general; but we need most the fighting edge in the individual soldier. So it is in private life.

"We live in a rough, workaday world, and we are yet a long way from the millennium. We cannot as a nation, and we cannot as individuals, afford to cultivate only the gentler, softer qualities. There must be gentleness and tenderness—the strongest men are gentle and tender—but there must also be courage and strength. I have a hearty sympathy with those who believe in doing all that can be done for peace; but I have no sympathy at all with those who believe that in the world as it now is we can afford to see the average American citizen lose the qualities that in their sum make up a good fighting man.

Must Be Able to Fight, Too.

"You men must be workers who work with all your heart and strength and mind, at your several tasks in life; and you must also be able to fight at need. You women have even higher and more difficult duties; for I honor no man, not even the soldier who fights for righteousness, quite as much as I honor the good woman who does her full duty as wife and mother. But if she shirks her duty as wife and mother, then she stands on a par with the man who refuses to work for himself and his family, for those dependent upon him, and who in time of the nation's need refuses to fight.

"The man or woman who shirks his or her duty occupies a contemptible position. You here are the sons and daughters of the pioneers. I preach to you no life of ease. I preach to you the life of effort, the life that finds its highest satisfaction in doing well some work that is well worth doing."

Speaks in Favor of Waterways.

The president then referred to the trip he was about to make down the Mississippi, his first experience of river travel on a steamboat. In this connection he said:

"As this country grows I feel that we cannot have too many high roads, and that in addition to the iron high roads of our railway system we should also utilize the great river highways which have been given us by nature.

"From a variety of causes these highways have in many parts of the country been almost abandoned. This is not healthy. Our people, and especially the representatives of the people in the national congress, should give their most careful attention to this subject. We should be prepared to put the nation collectively back of the movement to improve them for the nation's use. Our knowledge at this time is not such as to permit me to go into details, or to say definitely just what the nation should do; but most assuredly our great navigable rivers are national assets just as much as our great seacoast harbors.

"Exactly as it is for the interest of all the country that our great harbors should be fitted to receive in safety the largest vessels of the merchant fleets of the world, so by deepening and otherwise our rivers should be fitted to bear their part in the movement of our merchandise; and this is especially true of the Mississippi and its tributaries, which drain the immense and prosperous region which makes in fact the heart of our nation; the basin of the great lakes being already united with the basin of the Mississippi, and both regions being identical in their products and interests."

Farms the Nation's Backbone.

The president pointed out the value of waterways for the transportation of farm produce and urged the value of agriculture to the nation, saying:

"Nothing is more important to this country than the perpetuation of our system of medium sized farms worked by their owners. We do not want to see our farmers sink to the condition of the peasants of the old world, barely able to live on their small holdings, nor do we want to see their places taken by wealthy men owning enormous estates which they work purely by tenants and hired servants.

"At present the ordinary farmer holds his own in the land as against any possibe representative of the landlord class of farmer—that is, of the men who would own vast estates—because the ordinary farmer unites his capital, his labor, and his brains with the making of a permanent family home, and thus can afford to hold his land at a value at which it cannot be held by the capitalist, who would have to run it by leasing it or by cultivating it at arm's length with hired labor.

Breed Vigorous Leaders.

"In other words, the typical American farmer of today gets his remuneration in part in the shape of an independent home for his family, and this gives him an advantage over an absentee landlord. Now, from the standpoint of the nation as a whole it is preeminently desirable to keep as one of our chief American types the farmer, the farm home maker, of the medium sized farm. This type of farm home is one of our strongest political and social bulwarks. Such a farm worked by the owner has proved by experience the best place in which to breed vigorous leaders alike for country and city. It is a matter of prime economic and civic importance to encourage this type of home owning farmer."

The president urged the importance of agricultural education, saying the present tendency of schools and colleges is to put a premium on mere literary education and train away from the farm and the shop. This process, he said, should be reversed. He defined a real education as one which "should fit people primarily for the industrial and home making employments in which they must employ the bulk of their activities." Children, "our greatest national asset," he said should be trained "to high ideals of every day living and to high efficiency in their respective vocations."

Plea for the Homemaker.

The president devoted the concluding portion of his speech to the necessity of protecting and aiding the man who takes up land for his own and family's use, "the homemaker." The one object of all our land laws, he declared, should be to favor the actual settler. He said:

"The government should part with its title to the land only to the actual homemaker—not to the profit maker, who does not care to make a home. The land should be sold outright only in quantities sufficient for decent homes—not in huge areas to be held for speculative purposes or used as ranches, where those who do the actual work are merely tenants or hired hands.

"No temporary prosperity of any class of men could in the slightest degree atone for failure on our part to shape the laws so that they may work for the permanent good of the homemaker. This is fundamental, gentlemen, and is simply carrying out the idea upon which I dwell in speaking to you of your own farms here in Iowa. Now in many states where the rainfall is light it is a simple absurdity to expect any man to live, still less to bring up a family, on 160 acres. Where we are able to introduce irrigation, the homestead can be much less in size—can, for instance, be forty acres; and there is nothing that congress has done during the last six years more important than the enactment of the national irrigation law."

The president scored the practice of illegally fencing in government land and added:

"To permit the continuance of this illegal fencing inevitably tended to grave abuses, and the government has therefore forced the fencers to take down their fences. In doing this we have not only obeyed and enforced the law, but we have corrected many flagrant abuses. Nevertheless, we have also caused hardship, which, though unavoidable, I was exceedingly unwilling to cause. In some way or other we must provide for the use of the public range under conditions which shall inure primarily to the benefit of the actual settlers on or near it, and which shall prevent its being wasted.

"This means that in some shape or way the fencing of pasture land must be permitted under restrictions which will safeguard the rights of the actual settlers. I desire to act as these actual settlers wish to have me in this matter. I wish to find out their needs and desires and then to try to put them into effect. But they must take trouble, must look ahead to their own ultimate and real good, must insist upon being really represented by their public men, if we are to have a good result."

ENDS RIVER DISPATCH SPURT.

Message of Mayor Busse to President Halts at Alton—Chief Executive's Arrival Awaited.

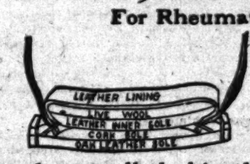

Alton, Ill., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—The relay motor boat voyage from Chicago with a letter from Mayor Busse to President Roosevelt practically ended at Alton at 9:19 o'clock tonight, one hour and ten minutes ahead of time, when C. F. Sparks, owner of the Kitty Sparks II., in which the last relay was made, reached his home town and put up for the night. He was several hours ahead of the president's fleet, and decided that it was not necessary to come on to St. Louis tonight. Mr. Sparks will leave Alton at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning, come down the river, and deliver the letter to the president on the steamer Mississippi at some point near the chain of rocks.

SAY "FORAKER FOR PRESIDENT."

Georgia Republicans Opposed to Roosevelt and Taft Seek a New Candidate.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 1.—At a largely attended massmeeting under the auspices of the Republican State League of Georgia tonight to select candidates for delegates at large to the republican national convention, Senator J. B. Foraker of Ohio was put forward as a presidential nominee. The resolutions adopted said "the league was for Foraker first, and if he could not be nominated, then the league stood for any man who could defeat Roosevelt, Taft, or any man named by Roosevelt."

DEPOSED OFFICER THUMPS MOULTON

Civil Service Commissioner Is Attacked by Former Asylum Head.

CULLOM STARTS BIG BUZZ.

Prediction of Peace at Primaries Expected to Arouse the Yates Men.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Peaceable politicians assembled in the Leland hotel lobby, trying to nominate a candidate for governor in advance of the primaries, had the shock of their lives tonight.

President William B. Moulton of the state civil service commission, being engaged in harmless conversation, was approached by Dr. C. B. Taylor of Lincoln and swatted vigorously between the cigar pocket and the carnation buttonhole of his coat lapel. The swat was intended to land between his nose and his chin, but Mr. Moulton saw it coming and sidestepped so as to get it in the locality aforesaid. Another was on the way and Mr. Moulton, drawing himself up in the manner approved by the manly science, was ready for the battle, when friends, fearing bloodshed, interfered.

Dr. Taylor was superintendent of the asylum for the feeble minded at Lincoln until about six months ago, when he was removed by the state civil service commission and Dr. Harry Hardt appointed in his stead. Dr. Taylor was given twelve hours' notice to vacate and the explanation was made that the administration of the institution was entirely incompetent.

Political Activity Charges.

These charges were amplified later by Mr. Moulton, who alleged that the institution had been operated as a political asset of Representative John G. Oglesby, now a candidate for lieutenant governor. Oglesby and Moulton had a number of bitter arguments in committee over the institution, Oglesby attacking the civil service commission and Moulton attacking Oglesby's connection with the state institution and his operations there.

Dr. Taylor conceived a bitter dislike for Moulton, and is said to have threatened to chastise the civil service man on sight. He entered the hotel lobby tonight in the company of Sheriff McGorrey of Macon county. He saw Moulton standing near the clerk's desk, and, throwing his overcoat to McGorrey, stepped up and conducted himself as above described.

After the battle Dr. Taylor regained his overcoat and departed from the hotel. Thereupon Mr. Oglesby, who was suspected of having aided and abetted the proceedings, appeared on the scene to protest his entire innocence and to beg for ample details of the encounter. He also protested his friendship for Mr. Moulton and extended the right hand of fellowship to the assaulted president to prove it.

McEwen Takes the Field.

Judge McEwen arrived from Chicago on a late night train and immediately began meeting the politicians from down state. Judge McEwen says he is in the race to stick to the finish, regardless of developments. He said:

"I am entirely satisfied with conditions as they are at present. I have no assurances from any one man of his support. I do not know what Mr. Busse will do. Any announcement of his intentions will have to come from him. I am entirely satisfied."

Senator Cullom started something today which may have unexpected results. He gave out an interview in which he said that, from all he could see in surface indications, it did not appear that "the boys in Illinois" wanted much of a fight in the coming primaries.

"Of course," he said, "I do not know much about it except what I hear and what I read, but it looks as if the old ticket would be renominated. It looks as if the boys didn't want to fight and as if Senator Hopkins would go back into the senate and Gov. Deneen be renominated.

"There is no opposition to Attorney General Stead and none to State Auditor McCullough; neither does Mr. Russel seem to have any opponents for state treasurer."

The effect which these statements are apt to have on Mr. Deneen's enemies can only be guessed at, but it is probable they will not be received with good grace.

May Bring Yates Forward.

Former Gov. Richard Yates has been of half a mind to launch himself against Gov. Deneen and join in the campaign being made by Judge McEwen and Speaker Shurtleff. He is convinced Gov. Deneen did not support him in his contest for the senate as his services to the governor warranted.

What the anti-Deneen republicans want is another candidate in the field. If Mr. Cullom's pro-Deneen prediction could start Mr. Yates in pursuit of Mr. Deneen they would be obliged greatly to the senior senator.

Both Mr. Shurtleff and Mr. McEwen have figured the situation out something in this fashion: The judge is bound to get a certain number of delegates in Chicago whether he has the active support of Mayor Busse or not.

Depend on Lorimer Machine.

They hope that he will receive the support of the so-called old organization in Chicago, the organization credited to William Lorimer and Fred Blount. They hope that he will be able to command considerable personal strength on the northwest side, and they hope that, with the aid of the Lorimer-Blount people, he can get at least 200 Chicago delegates.

If another candidate from outside of Cook county, or, better still, if two more down-state men could be brought into the race, the governor's strength outside of Chicago would be badly cut up.

The decision on the primary law still hangs fire, with the probability, but no certainty, that it will be handed down in a few days.

WATER OFFICE 'EXAM' CALLED.

Date for Competition to Succeed H. O. Nourse Announced by the Civil Service Commission.

The civil service commission has called an examination for superintendent of the water office to succeed H. O. Nourse, discharged, for Nov. 19. It is to be an original examination, and anybody in Chicago with the exception of Nourse himself can take it. Acting Superintendent Harper will probably not compete. William Haskell, formerly superintendent of the Fifth ward, discharged by the civil service commission in 1906 for dishonesty, began action in the Circuit court to be restored to his position. He petitioned for a writ of mandamus.

PRICE OF MILK REMAINS SAME.

Report That Excited Housewives Denied, but Dairymen Admit Future Advance Is Contemplated.

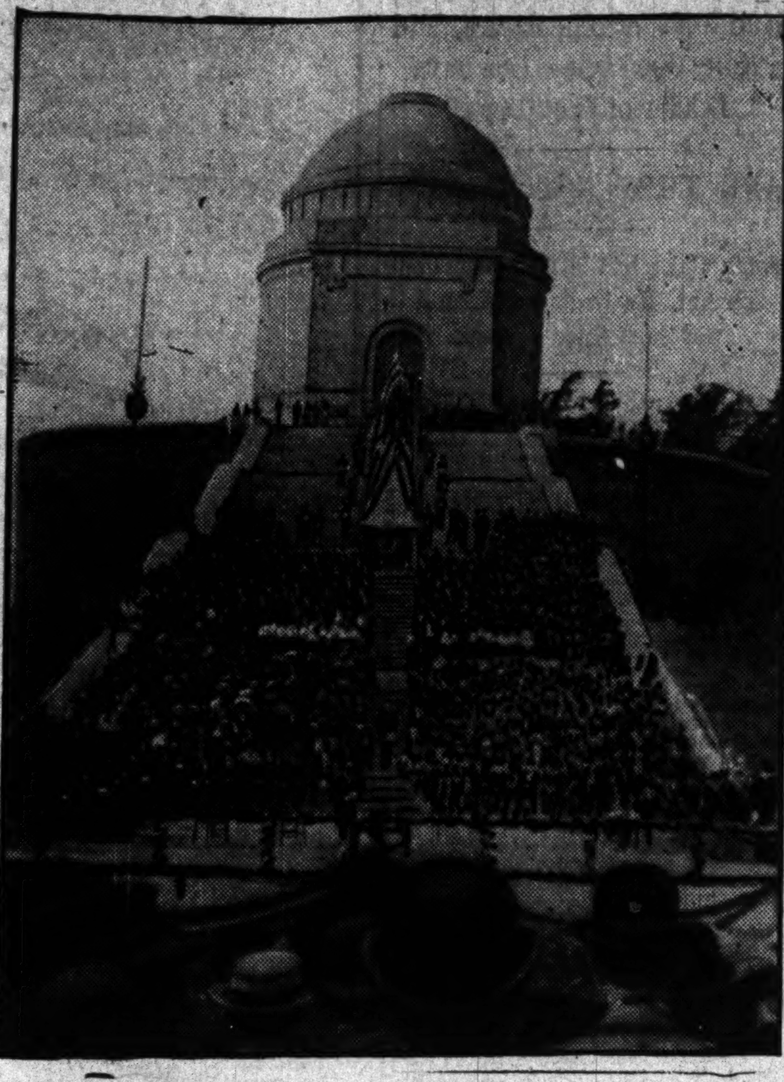

Reports that the price of milk would be advanced at once caused excitement among Chicago's housewives yesterday. Notices were said to have been sent out to the effect that henceforth the price would be 1 cent higher per quart or fraction thereof. Representatives of Bowman's, Wieland's, Sidney Wanzer & Sons, and several other dairies denied, however, that an advance had been posted. At the same time they admitted there is talk of a raise for next month.

QUARREL LEADS TO KILLING.

Slayer Part Owner of Billiard Room Where Tragedy Occurred.

A wrangle over the scoring of a pool ball resulted in the murder of Clarence Patterson, 21 years old, 1047 West Chicago avenue, yesterday afternoon. Patterson was shot through the heart and almost instantly killed by Bartholomew Witte, part owner of the billiard and pool room of Witte & Meucci, 1172 West Chicago avenue, with whom he was playing pool.

The wounded man staggered out of the doorway into the arms of Alfred Smalley, 15 years old, a newsboy, dying in a few moments without uttering a word. Witte escaped and had not been apprehended up to a late hour.

Witnesses Taken Into Custody.

Meucci, the murderer's partner, and John Keatsmiller, 1142 West Chicago avenue, a mute, who witnessed the killing, were taken in custody by the police. The former told the story of the quarrel that led to the shooting. Meucci was held, but Keatsmiller was released after he had written an account of the murder, which corroborated the former's story.

The shooting, which occurred at 5 o'clock, attracted a large crowd of persons on their way home from work, and when it became known that an Italian had committed the deed there were angry murmurings against all persons of that nativity. The vicinity is populated mostly by Italians, and, fearing a race riot, Detective Valentine of the West Chicago avenue station sent in a riot call.

The police, under the command of Lieut. Custy, dispersed the crowd and took the two witnesses to the station.

Fires After Being Attacked.

According to the account of the affair obtained by the police, Witte and Patterson had played several games of pool, when a dispute arose over the credit of a pool ball that was discovered in one of the pockets after the last game was finished.

Both men claimed it and the argument became so heated that Patterson is alleged to have picked up two balls and thrown them at Witte's head. The latter dodged the missiles and running to his desk seized his revolver. Divining his purpose, Patterson ran toward the door just as Witte fired.

GIRL DECLARES HER MOTHER THREATENED TO MURDER HER.

Disowned by Her Sobbing Parent, Who Alleges That the Young Woman Is Incorrigible.

Sobbing bitterly at charges made against her by her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Frentzel, 882 Sedgwick street, rushed from the Juvenile courtroom yesterday, crying:

"God, forgive me! I must disown my child forever."

The daughter, Mrs. Mary Cummings, 17 years old, was arraigned before Judge Tuthill on a charge of being incorrigible. Her mother said the girl staid out late at night and refused to return home. The young woman was married last March and she said her husband deserted her a week after the ceremony.

"I left home about a month ago," she added. "My mother chased me out of the house at the time. She had a butcher knife in her hand and said she would cut me to pieces if I returned."

The case was continued one week for further investigation.

MEMORIAL CROSS A SHRINE

Worshipers Gather at Symbol Erected in Honor of Explorers.

PRAYERS SAID BEFORE IT.

Monument for Marquette and Joliet Impresses Humble People.

The huge cross erected and unveiled last Saturday in memory of Father Marquette and Louis Joliet at the entrance to the new drainage canal, foot of Robey street, is being used as a shrine. Scores of Chicagoans daily are worshiping before it, and the number is increasing.

The neighborhood where it stands abounds with people of religious temper from foreign lands. They are of the extremely devout sort, and evidently regard it as a work of the church. This came to light on Saturday, shortly after the dedicatory services ended, and the crowd of onlookers had considerably thinned out.

A workingman, who had taken the deepest interest in the ceremonies, stepped over and fell upon his knees, placed his dinner pail at the side of the little ancient iron cross with its fleur de lis, and from the base of the new big cross offered up a prayer.

Worshipers Increase in Number.

He spoke aloud and his words seemed to affect others, who crowded close to listen. Soon he was joined by a score or more of the same belief. Word of his action quickly spread about the neighborhood, and early Sunday morning there were more than 100 surrounding the cross, many praying.

The scene was repeated on Monday and yesterday. The visitors are not restricted to men or women, but include children.

It is considered likely that many of the worshipers intend honoring the spirit of the Rev. Father Marquette, the Jesuit who lived among the Indians and gave up his life at the early age of 38. Others, of course, are used to shrines in their native land and regard this as one of them.

Cross Kissed by the Devout.

Those imbued with the teachings of Christ and the fervor of their religion have gone so far as to kiss the cross.

No attempt has been made to interfere with the worshipers nor correct the impressions that they have gained regarding the structure. Miss Valentine Smith, who headed the movement for the erection of the cross, said last night that no harm can come from the misunderstanding, and added that the worship is a pretty and uplifting sight to behold.

HOTEL CLERKS FINED HEAVILY.

Penalty Imposed After Conviction on Charges Made in Municipal Court by Young Women.

Two clerks of the Hotel Grace, Jackson boulevard and Clark street, were fined heavily yesterday by Municipal Judge Newcomer.

Two young women, Miss Grace Devito and Miss Kathleen Francis, who for three days were guests at the Grace, testified that S. F. Gaines, 40 years old, the night clerk, tried to extort money from them by threatening to have them arrested. Gaines was fined $100 and costs.

M. Peck Grivot, chief clerk at the hotel, was convicted of attempting to induce the young women to leave Chicago after they had been instructed by the court to remain until after the final disposition of the case against Gaines. He was fined $125 and costs.

SUBURB MOURNS A PRINCESS

Elizabeth Wyneischteranentz Not Dead, but Merely Absent.

Tales of Title and $27,000,000 Inheritance Touch Evanston.

Facts constituting either a clever confidence game or a strange romance were brought to light in Evanston yesterday when it was disclosed that a woman who claimed that she was the Princess Elizabeth Wyneischteranentz of Austria had disappeared from her home.

Chief of Police Fred C. Schaffer became suspicious last week when he heard that a woman who had been living in a rented house at 1012 Asbury avenue for the last five months had obtained several loans with the explanation that she was of royal blood and would inherit $27,000,000 on Oct. 9. In endeavoring to investigate, Schaffer had Fred Fischer, a florist, swear out a warrant for her arrest on the charge of beating her maid, Catherine Schroeder.

Under examination she adhered to the story which she told her friends. It was to the effect that she had been banished from Austria twelve years ago with a parting gift of $2,700,000, that she had lost her money in California land speculation, and after working for $3 a week as a waitress in St. Paul she married a printer named John Volk, whose name she used in Evanston. Recently, she said, she had received word that Austrian attorneys were to meet her at the Auditorium on Oct. 9 and bring to her $27,000,000, bequeathed her by her brother.

She was released on bonds of $100 signed by Frank Fehr, an Evanston grocer, but when her case was called yesterday afternoon she failed to appear. Her maid had received letters from her and was told to address her "care of general delivery, Chicago." Fehr received a note asking him to meet her at the Randolph street corner of Marshall Field & Co.'s, and although he waited there four hours she did not appear.

Fehr had loaned her $50 prior to her arrest. Other complaints are made by P. H. Clinkunb, 1515 Davis street, to whom "the princess" owes $135 as house rent. Chief Schaffer stated that she also obtained sums ranging from $50 to $500 from persons whose names he refused to give.

Telegrams sent at different periods from Austria relating to an inheritance of a large sum of money were shown by Mrs. Volk to those from whom she wished to borrow money.

Going to Investigate Name.

Fehr, who until the disappearance of the woman, was firm in the belief that she was of royal blood, this morning will visit the office of the Austrian consul to learn if there is any basis for her story.

When Justice Boyer learned that Mrs. Volk had disappeared he gave Fehr until Saturday to find her; otherwise the bond will be forfeited.

TRACTION BOND TRUSTEES SEEK TO REACH PRINCIPALS.

Hold Meeting and Discuss Ways of Finding Security Owners and Getting Them to Organize.

Representatives of all the banks which act as trustees for the various issues of bonds of the Union Traction system met in the Illinois Trust and Savings bank yesterday afternoon to try to determine how best to reach the numerous bondholders and get their consent to a plan of reorganization.

A proposition made by James C. Hutchins of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank met with much favor. It was that as fast as bondholders are reached they be invited to form protective committees of their own, one for each issue of bonds, and then a general committee, composed of one member from each of these minor committees, can handle the entire matter.

The first default occurred yesterday, when the interest on $1,614,000 of 4½ per cent bonds of the North Chicago street railway company which fell due went unpaid. These bonds are in the care of the Northern Trust company, which prepared for this emergency over a year ago by notifying the bondholders of what was coming.

CITY BLUECOAT "DANGEROUS MAN"

That Is What Lieut. O'Connor Calls Temporary Patrolman John J. Courtney.

TO URGE HIS DISCHARGE.

Record of New Policeman Is Said to Be by Far Too Bad to Be Condoned.

One more Chicago bluecoat will be suspended in disgrace today. His superiors declared last evening that he "is a dangerous person and one not to be trusted with the lives of citizens whom he may be called upon at any time to protect."

The man whose name will be added as one more to the long list of discharged policemen, if Lieut. Dennis O'Connor has his say, is John J. Courtney, 24 years old, a probationary patrolman of the Desplaines street station.

Although a policeman less than six months, Courtney has appeared before the police trial board three times.

O'Connor to Prefer Charges.

"Believing Courtney would eventually make a good policeman, we overlooked many errors he made for which he ought to have been discharged," Lieut. O'Connor said. "He lacks good common sense, the first requirement of a good policeman. Before the trial board I will furnish facts to convince the commission of the truth of this, and ask for Courtney's dismissal on general principles."

Hearing of his son's misconduct Thomas Courtney, the accused officer's father, visited the Desplaines street station in the evening, and asked that "just one more chance" be given his son, but Lieut. O'Connor said the young policeman's record is too bad to be condoned.

Accused of Neglect of Duty.

Here is a record of some of Courtney's offenses as compiled by Lieut. O'Connor:

1. Fails to "pull" boxes regularly; misses several "pulls" every night.
2. Sunday night "pulled" at 12:30 a. m. and was not seen until 5 a. m.; due in the station for roll call at 4 a. m. When asked for an excuse said it was "nobody's business" where he was.
3. Did not appear for work Monday night. Sergeant Barry visited his house and was told he had "dressed up and gone out for a good time."
4. Seen visiting saloons several times, but always offered acceptable excuse. Habitual drinker.
5. Friday night made last "pull" at 11:30 p. m. Returned to station at 9 o'clock the following morning. When reprimanded he laughed at Lieut. O'Connor and said he was "all right."
6. Saturday, 4:30 a. m., arrested a colored man without cause.

Courtney lives with his parents at 912 Ridgeway avenue. He was transferred from the Maxwell street station five months ago, three weeks after his appointment.

Food Stopped It

Worth More Than a Gold Mine.

See Below.

To find a food that will put an absolute stop to "running down" is better than finding a gold mine.

Many people when they begin to run down go from one thing to another without finding a food that will stop the progress of disease. Grape-Nuts is the most nourishing food known and will set one right if that is possible.

The experience of a Louisiana lady may be interesting. "I received a severe nervous shock some years ago and from that and overwork gradually broke down. My food did not agree with me and I lost flesh rapidly. I changed from one kind of food to another, but was unable to stop the loss of flesh and strength.

"I do not exaggerate when I say that I finally became, in reality, a living skeleton. My nights were sleepless, and I was compelled to take opiates in various forms. After trying all sorts of food without success I finally got down to toasted bread with a little butter, and after a while this began to sour and I could not digest it. Then I took to toasted crackers and lived on them for several weeks, but kept getting weaker.

"One day Grape-Nuts was suggested and it seemed to me from the description that it was just the sort of food I could digest. I began by eating a small portion, gradually increasing the amount each day.

"My improvement began at once for it afforded me the nourishment that I had been starving for. No more harassing pains and indigestion. For a month I ate nothing but Grape-Nuts and a little cream, then I got so well I could take on other kinds of food. I gained flesh rapidly and now I am in better health than I have been in years. I still stick to Grape-Nuts because I like the food and I know of its powerful nourishing properties. My physician says that my whole trouble was a lack of power to digest food, and that no other food that he knows of would have brought me out of the trouble except Grape-Nuts." "There's a Reason."

FEDERAL BANK TO LIQUIDATE

Concern Founded by Isaac N. Perry Closes Doors Tomorrow.

WILL PAY ALL DEPOSITORS.

Assets Realization Company Will Wind Up Its Business.

After an unsatisfactory existence lacking a few days of being two years in length, the Federal National bank will cease active business with the closing of its doors tomorrow afternoon.

Formal notice was issued yesterday, following a meeting of the directors, that no deposits will be received after that hour. Arrangements were completed with Cobe & McKinnon of the Assets Realization company for the liquidation of all accounts. They have advanced funds for the payment of all depositors upon demand, and upon negotiating the paper in the vaults will settle with the stockholders upon what is estimated as a basis of 60 cents on the dollar.

Heavy Decrease of Deposits.

The deposits, almost entirely commercial accounts, amount in round numbers to $750,000. In the last report to the controller of the currency, on Aug. 22, the deposits were given as $1,066,000, so that one-fourth of that amount has been withdrawn during the last month. The cash on hand and due from banks at that time was given as $468,000, less than half of which now should be in the vaults. If the customers begin an immediate demand for their money it is expected that Cobe & McKinnon may have to advance nearly $500,000 before they can begin to realize upon the assets.

"The depositors will get their money as soon as they ask for it," declared Ira M. Cobe. "It simply has been found unprofitable to continue the business, and the directors and stockholders are agreed upon the plan of discontinuing business. I cannot say at this time whether the stockholders will lose anything or not.

Securities Said to Be Good.

"I believe all of the paper is sound. Mr. Perry, the founder of the bank, did not leave any questionable securities among the assets. Considering the size of the institution there is a large percentage of stock of other banks as collateral, but we are confident it is gilt edged."

During the last few months the Federal National has occupied two-thirds of the space on the ground floor at the southwest corner of Dearborn and Monroe streets, formerly used by J. Elliott Jennings for his "All Night" bank. The Federal bank was organized on Oct. 16, 1905, by I. N. Perry, who also was the founder of the National Bank of North America, which he left in 1904 after he was charged with arson in connection with the burning of the mills of the Chicago Locomotive works. He was tried on the charge and acquitted.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

DIVORCE SOUGHT BY MRS. BATONYI.

Both Sides Refuse to Discuss on What Grounds Decree Will Be Asked.

TELLS OF JEROME CHARGE

Editor, on Stand, Explains Why He Accused New York's District Attorney.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, Oct. 1.

Mrs. Batonyi Begins Suit for Divorce.

Mrs. Aurel Batonyi, formerly Mrs. Burke-Roche, has begun a suit against her husband for divorce. The summons in this and two other suits in the Supreme court were served upon him at the Hotel Empire on Monday night, and his lawyer, Edward A. Alexander, will enter an appearance immediately. Until this is done it will not be known whether the suit for divorce is for an absolute or limited separation, or upon what grounds the other suits are based.

At the office of Mrs. Batonyi's attorney, J. Edward Work, all information was refused, and Mr. Batonyi's lawyer was in the dark. Reports were current today that Mr. Batonyi was in a fighting mood. He was represented as believing that there would have been no disposition on the part of his wife to attempt to put him away if she had not been egged on by her relatives. At the time that she married the horseman there was a quarrel with her father, and he bitterly reproached her for marrying a man whom he considered so much beneath her in the social scale.

Editor Tells About Charges Against Jerome.

Editor Frank E. Xavier of the Yonkers Herald, who is on trial on the charge of criminal libel preferred by District Attorney Jerome, went on the witness stand in the Westchester County court today and explained how he came to write the article setting forth that "Jerome had made an agreement with J. P. Morgan and George W. Perkins not to prosecute insurance officials providing he was given the democratic nomination for governor."

This is the story of Mr. Xavier as to how he came to write the article:

"In January, 1906, Mayor Coyne of Yonkers said to me that Patrick J. McNulty of Yonkers had told him that he, as representative of the Morgan-Perkins financial institution, had been engaged to enter, if possible, into an understanding with District Attorney Jerome to prevent the indictments of John A. McCall and George W. Perkins.

"A week later I was visited in my office by Mr. McNulty, who told me Mr. Jerome would be nominated for governor. He said he had visited the office of Mr. Jerome and met John Henneberry and talked over the political situation with him. He said he told Mr. Henneberry that the Morgan-Perkins interests would agree to secure support for Mr. Jerome's nomination for governor provided he would not indict the insurance men.

"Later Mr. McNulty said he again visited Mr. Henneberry and that the latter told him that it was 'all right,' and that 'Mr. Jerome would make the race.'"

Brothers Aid Sister in Divorce Suit.

Sensational testimony was given today at White Plains in the action brought by Edith Gardiner Miller, a niece of Col. Asa Bird Gardiner, former district attorney, in a divorce suit against her husband, Mr. Miller is a brother of Andrew Miller, a well known horseman.

Two brothers of Mrs. Miller told how, acting as sleuths, they had visited the Hotel Navarre and forced their way into a room where they found their brother-in-law in the company of Miss Carlotta Knopf, daughter of a rich leather merchant. Miss Knopf is mentioned as co-respondent.

George M. Gardiner Jr. said he and his brother Bentley saw a waiter taking drinks to the room in the hotel and followed him. As Mr. Miller opened the door to admit the waiter they pushed by him and went in. He said they served the divorce papers on Miss Knopf at that time.

New Price Cutting Motor Cabs in Use.

The new taximeter motor cabs, which promise New Yorkers a low priced cab service, made their initial trips for the general public today. The new cabs are attractive looking vehicles, sixteen horse power, four cylinder Daracq cars of the landaulet type, made in France. The cabs have covers which may be lowered at will and will seat four people, having one rear seat and two small ones in front, with back to driver, which are turned up when not in use. Fifty cabs were put on today and seventy-five more will be added each month until 600 are on duty.

The tariff registered on the taximeter for from one to four persons, day or night service, will be as follows: First half mile or fraction thereof, 30 cents; each quarter mile thereafter, 10 cents; each six minutes of waiting, 10 cents. Small baggage is carried free, but trunks cost 20 cents extra.

Woman Found Murdered; Companion Held.

A young woman who was known as Mrs. Boyle, but is said to be Nellie Quinn, a City hospital nurse, was found murdered today in her room in a furnished room house at 481 East Eleventh street. George L. Kramer, who passed as the murdered woman's husband, was arrested tonight on suspicion.

Kramer and the young woman went to the house last Friday. Mrs. Schwartz, the landlady, thought it strange today that she did not hear the woman moving about the room, and at noon she went upstairs to investigate. She found the woman murdered, and called a policeman. Her body had been badly mutilated.

Kramer admitted he had been living with the woman, but denied that he had killed her.

Frick Pays $100,000 for Theater Box.

Henry Clay Frick has purchased the box at the Metropolitan opera house owned by Henry L. Barbey, who died last winter, and for the first time in five years there will be a change in the parterre. The purchase price was $100,000, which is $20,000 ahead of the price of the last box which was sold, in 1903, when the late Heber R. Bishop's box was bought by James B. Haggin.

As yet it is not known whether the new owner will occupy the box alone this winter or whether he will sublet it on certain evenings in the week, as has been formerly done.

JAPANESE HONOR TAFT AGAIN

American Visitor Guest at Reception in Yokohama.

TEA SERVICE FOR MRS. TAFT.

Secretary's Speech Decrying War Universal Theme of People.

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 1.—Secretary and Mrs. Taft were the guests of honor at a reception at the American consulate here this afternoon under the auspices of the Asiatic associations. Features of the entertainment were the presentation of a silver tea service to Mrs. Taft from the city of Yokohama and the exchange of significant and friendly speeches between Secretary Taft and prominent Japanese.

The city council headed by the mayor of Yokohama was present, as was the governor of Sufa, the members of the municipal assemblies, and a number of representatives of the diplomatic corps at Tokio and the consular corps here.

Welcomed to Yokohama.

Mr. Smith, president of the Asiatic associations, welcomed Secretary Taft and introduced him to the mayor of Yokohama, who in excellent English assured the secretary of Japanese friendship. The mayor then presented the tea service to Mrs. Taft.

In reply Secretary Taft emphasized the reciprocal nature of the commerce between the United States and Japan, which he declared, precluded any idea of hostilities. The secretary said he considered Yokohama to be the connecting link, the commercial stepping stone, between America and Japan, and that consequently the function of this afternoon was practically significant. While thanking the city for himself and for Mrs. Taft for the tea service, the secretary said he could not but feel that this spontaneous offering from the Japanese municipality was a manifestation of mutual recognition of the reciprocal and pacific benefits of commerce. He realized also that residence abroad produced in Americans a broader conception of international relations and obligations.

Guests at Tokio Luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Taft later returned to Tokio, where earlier in the day they were given a luncheon, which was attended by a notable gathering of Japanese officials.

The Japanese normally are lacking in display of emotion, but Mr. Taft's speech of yesterday evening continues today a theme of universal conversation. All the editorial articles in the Tokio papers praise it, and a number of prominent Japanese business men have said they regard it as an official and final declaration. It had a buoyant effect on the bourse. All the newspapers publish pronounced tributes to the American visitor.

HELD FOR CUBAN CONSPIRACY.

Seven Men Indicted, Five of Whom Are Arrested—Plotted to Overthrow the Government.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, Oct. 1.—Special Judge Bordonave, who was appointed by Gov. Magoon to investigate the Parra conspiracy, this afternoon indicted seven men, five of whom were arrested. The other two have not yet been apprehended. The text of the indictment reveals that the conspirators plotted to overthrow the provisional government, and to "destroy bridges, burn the property of foreigners, excepting Spaniards, and kill Americans." The rising was to have taken place on Sept. 27 or 28. All the men arrested are held in $10,000 bail each.

OLD RULES HOLD CUP, SAYS LIPTON

Irish Yachtsman Claims Contest Is Impossible Under Conditions.

TERMS BAR EQUAL RACE.

Clauses of Ancient Deed of Gift Preclude a Modern English Craft.

DUBLIN, Oct. 1.—Sir Thomas Lipton again has expressed his deep regret at the refusal of the New York Yacht club to accept his challenge to a race for the America cup, and in a lengthy letter to the Royal Irish Yacht club he sets forth his reasons in detail. The committee of the club met tonight.

"While recognizing the responsibilities of the members of the club as trustees of the America cup," writes Sir Thomas, "it might be pointed out that when the deed of gift was drawn up the developments which have taken place in regard to the modern racing of yachts could not have been foreseen.

Handicap Is Too Great.

"I have already competed three times under the conditions of the deed of gift with the modifications arranged under the mutual agreement clause, and my personal experience of these contests is such that I consider that the handicap of having to design a vessel of the type which has been gradually developed during recent years, and which shall be of sufficiently light construction, yet capable of being taken with safety on its own bottom across the Atlantic, entirely precludes the possibility of competing on equal terms with a vessel which is not compelled to make this ocean voyage.

"My present challenge was drawn up with a view to comply with the principal conditions of the deed of gift and at the same time encourage the type of vessel which has been approved and adopted by the New York Yacht club.

Regrets Loss of Race.

"I recognise that the members of this club are well within their rights in deciding as they have done, yet I am sorry that they have not been able, under the mutual agreement clause, to meet me in my wish to have a race under their own universal rule, which, in my opinion, encourages a wholesome and desirable type of yacht.

"In view of their attitude, however, there is nothing left but to abandon the idea of a contest for the present, although I am always prepared, under mutually satisfactory conditions, to arrange a race."

The committee of the Royal Irish Yacht club, in cabling its formal acknowledgment of the refusal of the challenge, expressed the regret of the committee and all the members of the club that a race could not be arranged.

Sweden's Pride in Challenge.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 1.—A deep feeling of patriotism and the desire to impress the world with the separate nationality of Sweden appear to be the underlying motives for the challenge to a series of races for the America cup.

"All men applying to participate in this race, from the captain down, will be examined as to their nationality and any men having Norwegian ancestors, even as far back as the fifth generation, will be excluded."

These words were used today by a prominent yachting authority in discussing the subject.

German Chancellor Challenges Proof as to Charges Made Against Him in Pamphlet.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—Chancellor Prince von Bülow has instituted libel proceedings against a pamphleteer named Brandt, who has publicly attacked the prince in handbills that were widely distributed. Accusations are made similar to those made against Prince Philippe von Eulenburg and his fellow "knights of the round table."

KNELL FOR PRIVATE DOCTOR?

Experts Predict Public Health Officer Will Displace Him.

PREVENTION, NOT CURE, AIM.

Londoners Think as People Are Educated Disease Will Diminish.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The inaugural addresses of the leaders of the medical profession at the opening day of the winter session of the medical schools connected with the London hospitals were noteworthy for the emphasis laid upon the change the practice of medicine is undergoing. The note struck by the speakers may be described as the knell of the private medical practitioner.

The day was coming, the speakers said, when the doctors in private practice would disappear and be replaced by the public health officer whose work would lie in the direction of the prevention rather than the cure of disease.

Dr. Allchin, addressing the King's college students, contended that as the work of health officers extended and developed and the people became more careful in their modes of living there would be such a large diminution of disease that the need for physicians would proportionally decrease.

Dr. Ewart told the St. George hospital students that the profession was in the throes of a double crisis, economical and professional. He declared that the growing success in reducing the prevalence of disease and the growth of specialism had contracted the field of general practice.

"Doctors," he said, "are too many and patients too few. We have seen our busiest days."

Henceforth, he said, the people must devote themselves to the culture of health, preventing instead of curing disease. The registration of each individual's health was not a Utopian idea. It was a measure suggested by common sense. When a watch was kept over each life tuberculosis would be stamped out. This should be the work of the state.

OBITUARY.

THE REV. JACOB BLETSCH, a pioneer German Methodist minister of Chicago, died suddenly yesterday while seated in a physician's office at Wellington and Sheffield avenues. Death was due to heart disease. He was 76 years old and was born at Waldorf, grand duchy of Baden. He was reared a Roman Catholic, but was converted to the Methodist faith and in 1834 came to the United States. In 1858 he entered the Methodist ministry. He was presiding elder of the Oshkosh district of the Chicago conference during two terms. His last pastorate was in the Robey Street German Methodist Episcopal church. He was pensioned thirteen years ago. The funeral will be held from the residence, 279 Winthrop avenue, tomorrow at 12 o'clock and from the Centennial German Methodist Episcopal church, Wellington and Sheffield avenues, at 1:30 p. m. Interment will be at Rosehill.

GEORGE H. MERRICK, former member of the board of trade, who died on Saturday, will be buried at Syracuse, N. Y. The funeral services over the body of Mr. Merrick, who resided at 369 Dearborn avenue, will be held at Sheldon's undertaking rooms, 289 West Madison street, today. Mr. Merrick succumbed to injuries received in a street car accident. He was born in Syracuse fifty-eight years ago, came to Chicago in 1869, and ever since had acted as confidential clerk and bookkeeper to John Williams and his estate. When Mr. Williams died, in 1888, Mr. Merrick received the board membership. The decedent never married. His closest surviving kin are brothers and sisters.

DRUNKARD CAN BE A PROHIBITIONIST

Hundreds of Them Are, and Make Good Ones, Too, Says Leader of the "Drys."

ARE THEY NOT SLAVES?

Some Church Elders to Be Consistent, He Declares, Should Get Jags Once a Week.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—M. H. Stevenson, the prohibition candidate for treasurer of Pennsylvania, caused consternation in the camp of the party tonight when, in a speech at West Bridgewater, he said:

"I was surprised the other day when a man twitted me because he had heard of one prohibitionist who sometimes took a drink, and of another who got drunk occasionally. Some people think it is necessary to join the church, sign the pledge, and become a total abstainer to be come a prohibitionist.

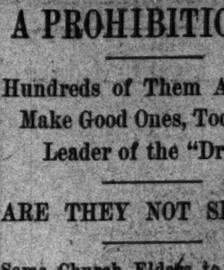

"A prohibitionist is one who votes the prohibitionist ticket. The prohibition party is not a church nor a total abstinence society, but a political party. Many fail to note this distinction. We have hundreds of drunkards in the United States who voted the prohibition ticket. Why? Because they are slaves to drink and would like to see the temptation removed.

"The inconsistent fellow is the judge, perhaps an elder in a church, who grants licenses for selling liquor, and the Sunday school superintendent who votes for a license party, and yet do not drink. To be consistent they should go at least once a week to the saloon they vote for and get drunk."

MOFFETT FLUNKS AT JURY SESSION.

Oil Magnate Unable to Make Good Charges of Rebates to Other Shippers.

INVOLVES A RATE CLERK.

Alton Employe Will Be Called Before Federal Inquisitors This Morning.

James A. Moffett, president of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, who was subpœnaed by Judge Landis a week ago to appear before the special federal grand jury and substantiate the charges he had made that other railroads and shippers were as guilty of rebating as the Standard Oil company, failed to "make good" yesterday.

The witness led the grand jury a merry chase around a circle. At the end of the session the jury found it was going over the same ground stirred up by Judge Landis in the Standard Oil trial, when vague charges of guilt on the part of other shippers were made, but were found impossible to substantiate.

Mr. Moffett shouldered the responsibility for his statement upon the testimony of other witnesses in the Standard Oil trial, principally F. S. Hollands, chief rate clerk of the Chicago and Alton railroad. Mr. Hollands was called before the jury, but failed to produce facts and figures to back up the charges against other shippers.

Rate Clerk to Testify Today.

Hollands will have another chance this morning. If he gives the grand jury any information of value the investigation will proceed and indictments will result. If he does not come down to facts the investigation will end tonight and the grand jury will be discharged.

As far as Mr. Moffett is concerned the grand jury is through with him. He has not been released finally and is still in Chicago subject to a return call before the investigating body. But there is no hope in the breasts of the government officials that he will divulge anything of an incriminating nature against any railroad or corporation.

Contempt proceedings will not be instituted against him on account of his criticism of Judge Landis in the Standard Oil trial, but Judge Landis is expected to speak his mind regarding the witness and his failure to back up his charges when the grand jury is discharged.

Jurors Ask for Proof.

The Standard Oil president went before the grand jury at 10 o'clock in the morning. Previously he had held conferences with Attorney Alfred D. Eddy, chief counsel for the Standard Oil company, and District Attorney Sims. He was before the jury for more than an hour. The pamphlet issued under his signature was produced by the foreman of the grand jury and this passage was pointed out to Mr. Moffett:

Thousands of tons of freight have been shipped from these points [referring to various suburban towns in the Chicago switching district] during the last fifteen years under the same circumstances as the Standard shipments, and if the Standard is guilty in this case so is practically every other shipper in this great manufacturing territory. Is there a purpose in selecting the Standard as a victim?

Mr. Moffett was asked to substantiate it. The jurors intimated that if the railroads were in the habit of quoting to favored shippers rates that are not filed with the interstate commerce commission it presented a field of investigation which they would be glad to invade. All they wanted was facts.

Refers to Evidence in Court.

In reply the witness referred to the testimony in the Standard Oil trial. He said his statement was justified by the testimony given by Rate Clerk Hollands. He had not made the statement, he said, to show that other shippers were guilty, but to show that the Standard was innocent. As far as he was concerned, he knew of no actual violations of the law. He simply presumed from the evidence that came out in the trial that many others shipped under the same conditions as the Standard.

Mr. Moffett then was asked if he could name any man who could give actual evidence of the violations he referred to. He was not sure, but thought Mr. Hollands might be able to. Mr. Hollands was sent for at once, and the grand jury adjourned until 2:30 p. m.

The Alton clerk appeared in Mr. Sims' office attended by attorneys for the Alton railroad. He went before the grand jury at 3 o'clock, but did not remain long. He was asked if he had any specific information along the lines suggested by Mr. Moffett. He begged to be excused from answering this question in detail until he could have some time for preparation. He was given until this morning to prepare. The evidence which Mr. Hollands will give will not incriminate any one, it is believed.

The regular October grand jury was organized during the day. Several immigration cases and minor matters are to come before it. The case of most importance which it is expected to consider is the John R. Walsh bank case. Efforts will be made by the government to have certain subordinates of Mr. Walsh indicted in connection with the failure of the Walsh bank.

Several witnesses have been subpœnaed for today and tomorrow. Among them are F. M. Schulze, auditor of the Wisconsin and Michigan railway; Miss Bertha Shaw, secretary of the same company; A. M. Williams, auditor of the Southern Indiana railway; Lyman A. Walton, vice president of the Equitable Trust and Savings company; C. C. Orgn, secretary of the company; and C. K. G. Billings, one of the directors of the Chicago National bank. Mr. Billings will not testify until he comes to Chicago for the Walsh trial, which begins Oct. 15. R. B. Connolly of Waukegan was elected foreman of the jury.

NEGRO PASTORS DENOUNCE COLORED CRIMINALS' ACTS.

Methodist Ministers Urge Their People Not to Condone Lawbreaking—Walton and Two Women Held.

At a meeting of the pastors of all the African Methodist Episcopal churches in the city, held yesterday at the Institutional church, resolutions were adopted deploring the spread of lawlessness and crime over the city and condemning especially the lawless and criminal of the negro race.

The colored people of the city were urged to be especially careful that they condone no violation of the law, nor by word or look give any encouragement to criminals.

By the verdict of a coroner's jury Richard E. Walton was held without bail to answer for the murder of Mrs. Lillian White Grant. Isabella Clark, 2743 La Salle street, and Hensie Bearmon, 15 Frederick place, accused of aiding Walton in evading capture, were held as accessories after the fact. Lizzie Johnson was exonerated.

Former Conductor Wins Damage Suit.

Clinton Pierson, formerly a City railway conductor, was given damages of $10,000 for personal injuries in a suit against Lyon & Healy before Judge McSurely yesterday. The city was co-defendant, but was found not guilty of responsibility. An auto truck owned by the defendant was driven into the rear of a street car on Sept. 26, 1905, and Pierson was severely injured.

JAIL STORE FACES ORDER TO CLOSE.

After Resolution by County Board President Busse Says: "Out with It."

STRASSHEIM MAY FIGHT.

Assistant Jailer and a Guard Are Ousted, Latter for Borrowing from Prisoners.

The "store" operated at the county jail by Frank Jacoba—an enterprise in which Sheriff Strassheim is said to be interested financially—will have to go. An order to "tear it out" was given yesterday afternoon by President Busse of the county board to Superintendent of Public Service McLaren, and unless the sheriff voluntarily closes up shop the fixtures will be thrown into the street.

President Busse's decision to force the store out of business came as a bombshell to the sheriff's office. Strassheim saw more in it than the question of the mere continuance or suppression of the store.

"It is an unwarranted slap at my prerogatives as sheriff," he thundered, "and I am going to find out whether I will have to submit to such an affront." Then he rushed out to consult his lawyer. It is said he may try to enjoin Mr. McLaren from tearing out the store.

Board Forbids "Sales Stands."

The issuance of the order by President Busse marks the first open clash between the commissioners and the sheriff. Mr. Busse bases his action on the authority derived from the following order adopted unanimously by the county board at its meeting Monday afternoon:

"That no lunch counters or other sales stands be permitted in any building belonging to or under control of the county, and that any such existing at this time be ordered removed at once and the superintendent of public service be instructed to execute this order."

The order was slipped through the board quietly as part of a recommendation from the special committee on the new courthouse, and it is believed that Sheriff Strassheim's coterie of friends among the commissioners failed to see it would apply to the jail store.

No Alternative, Says Busse.

Explaining his action, President Busse said: "The county board has jurisdiction over the county jail building, and therefore I had no alternative but to enforce the order against the jail store as well as against the cigar stores in the new courthouse. The jail building and every fixture in it have been provided and paid for by the county board. The 'store' cannot be operated there without fixtures. The county board has decreed that it will neither supply fixtures for a store there nor permit fixtures from outside to be brought in or used there. Besides, the fixtures used as a store in the jail at present will have to go out. Nothing can stop that."

Much petty graft in the jail has been traced to this store, as the guards act as "drummers" for it among the prisoners. Postage stamps were sold there at a profit of 1 cent on each. Exorbitant prices were also charged for tobacco, newspapers, pies, coffee, sugar, and "delicacies" supplied from Sheriff Strassheim's own grocery at 153 West Randolph street.

Two of Jail Force Discharged.

Assistant Jailer "Jake" Bonga and John Haight, a guard, were discharged by Sheriff Strassheim in the afternoon. Haight was separated from the pay roll because he had been addicted to the practice of "borrowing" money from prisoners, one of whom complained to Mr. Strassheim. Requests for a statement of the reasons for the dismissal of Bonga met with this answer from the sheriff:

"I will not talk about Bonga at present. I fear I have had too many 'undesirables' who were palmed off on me by the ward organizations, but I will weed them out."

RELEASE HIM, OR WE FREEZE

Twice Punished Janitor Freed When Temperature Drops.

TENANTS' PLEA TO MAYOR.

Says That Without Their Furnace Artist They'll All Catch Pneumonia.

A plea of "please release our janitor, else we surely freeze," made by tenants of the apartment building at Fifty-first street and Michigan avenue, sufficed to free Ansel Clark, colored, and 40 years old, from the bridewell. Nobody around the mayor's office could withstand it.

Ansel, who is seemingly popular in the neighborhood, had an extraordinary police experience on Sept. 24. He got himself arrested twice the same day for the same offense. Early that morning a policeman found him drunk and asleep on the sidewalk in front of the apartments he has charge of and carted him to the police station.

At the early session of court he was brought before Judge Maxwell, but the tenants all had a good word to say for him, and he was let off with a $1 fine, which the tenants paid.

But either he had not yet recovered his sobriety or else the lesson was not sufficiently impressive, for instead of going to work he proceeded to absorb more alcohol and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon was gathered in by the police again and brought before Judge Maxwell at the afternoon session of his court.

"Were you not here this morning?" asked the judge, and Ansel acknowledged such was the fact.

"Well, I will give you a chance to get sober," remarked the judge, and this time the fine was $25. There was nobody to pay it for him and Ansel was taken to the bridewell.

The next day the weather turned colder. Another janitor was hired, but he did not seem to understand the heating plant of the apartment building and the tenants suffered. Monday, they decided they could stand it no longer and yesterday two prepossessing looking women, giving their names as Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Ginsburg and saying they represented the tenants in the building, called at the mayor's office and asked for the janitor's release. They said if they did not get him back everybody would have pneumonia. So Ansel was pardoned.

There Is a Royal Road to Music—Take It

That famous pianist, Hans Von Bülow, said that if he stopped practicing one day, he knew the difference; if two days, his friends knew it; if three days, the public knew it. Even a month's vacation could make no difference in his knowledge of musical expression, so this incessant practicing was merely to make machines of his fingers.

What hope does this offer the amateur who plays only for pleasure yet knows what a perfect performance should be?

Formerly there was no hope and many were content with mediocrity. But now pianos are made with a machine inside that does all the mechanical work—the fingering—that plays any composition with perfect accuracy, that makes you master of the keyboard without an effor and leaves your mind and hands free for the really important part of music—expression. WOMEN WHO TALK ARE PROUD OF IT.

Fair Economists Give Chicago Complete Duplicate Set of Municipal Officials.

SOLVE PROBLEMS OF CITY.

Society with Thirteen Years' Record for "Discussion" Holds Novel Session.

One morning six months ago Chicago waked to find itself governed by two mayors. The situation was embarrassing, but it was quickly remedied.

Today this municipality finds itself possessed not only of two mayors but also of two city councils, two superintendents of police, and two of pretty nearly everything else; and this time there really doesn't seem to be any way out.

It happened yesterday afternoon—at 2:47 o'clock, to be exact—when Mrs. John F. Thompson, "mayor of Chicago," called the council to order in the Masonic Temple building, and told "City Clerk" Ninah Kilbourn to call the roll, and please to try and get it right, for there were nine men in the visitors' gallery. At the end of an hour and a half the body had disposed of the problems of the city for the current month.

In private life, the aldermen, and the mayor, and the rest are members of the Social Economics club, an organization of women formed for the study of economics. Last spring Mrs. Thompson, who is the club's president, conceived the idea of a city government in which politics should cease from troubling, and men, for once, should have nothing to say, and the new municipality was formed forthwith. Yesterday's council meeting inaugurated the new government.

Talking for Thirteen Years.

"For thirteen years," said "Mayor" Thompson in opening the session, "this club has been talking. We are willing to let other organizations do the philanthropy and reform work. It is needed, and it is well that they should do it. We are going to continue to talk."

With this frank enunciation of principle the council got down to work. There was a slight hitch in the proceedings when Mrs. Lucinda B. Chandler addressed the chair with a timid inquiry as to what ward she was representing.

"Why, you're from the Fifth," said Mrs. L. W. Greene, who represents the First herself. "Didn't you know?"

"No, I didn't," replied Mrs. Chandler, meekly. "Fr—where is it?"

"Well, you go over to the city hall and look it up!" put in "Mayor" Thompson. "You'll find a map there with all the ward boundaries on it."

This point settled, the council took a recess for some music. Then the "mayor" rapped for order again and things began going like clockwork. In rapid succession an "ordinance for the regulation of dramshops in the city of Chicago," a measure establishing a woman's municipal hotel in the downtown district, and a proposal to secure the enforcement of the anti-spitting ordinance were presented, considered, and referred to the proper committees.

The "dramshop ordinance," which provides, among other things, saloons shall be closed at 12 o'clock, was referred to the license committee, of which Mrs. Claribel Schmitt is chairman.

Gives Herself an Office.

Mrs. Corinne Brown, who has just returned from London and was not elected to the council, said she wanted to designate an office for herself.

"We shall be glad," murmured the "mayor."

"Well," said Mrs. Brown, "not a word has been said here about the long suffering public. The people that are the underdogs in our civilized life ought to be represented, and I want to represent them."

"Well, we have one place where the troubles are gathered in," suggested the "mayor." "Perhaps we could make Mrs. Brown 'superintendent of the dog pound.' I don't really think of anything else."

The "mayor's" suggestion was concurred in.

The organization of the club's city corporation and council was announced in detail in THE TRIBUNE several weeks ago. Council meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of each month, from October to May.

Nurse Falls Heir to $600,000 Estate.

Mrs. Helen St. Clair Noble, a nurse at the Chicago hospital, 452 Forty-ninth street, was notified yesterday that through the death of Col. Benjamin Carroll Dent, a ranchman of Sydney, Australia, she was heir to $600,000. The information was imparted by Dudley Bagley, an attorney of Sydney. Col. Dent was a veteran of the civil war and, refusing to be reconstructed, left the United States and became a sheep rancher in Australia and amassed a fortune. Before the war he was a warm friend of Mrs. Noble's family in New Orleans, and it appears he has kept track of her ever since. Mrs. Noble came to Chicago three years ago and entered the Chicago hospital. She has two sons, one is studying civil engineering and the other is at school in New York.

TELLS OF JAPAN'S ASPIRATIONS.

H. C. Mabie of Boston Addresses Baptist Union in the Auditorium Hotel.

"Japan today aspires to be the mistress of the Pacific ocean, and the sending of United States warships to the Pacific coast is but a demonstration of self-respect, and will be of salutary effect."

This was the statement of the Rev. H. C. Mabie of Boston, addressing 350 persons at the first fall session of the Chicago Baptist union in the Auditorium hotel last night. His remarks were received by prolonged applause.

He called attention to the great advance in civilization in China and Japan, the Hawaiian islands, Australia, and said: "The great climax of our mission work now rests in British Burmah."

DECIDES BORAH CASE TODAY

Court Hears Argument on Motion to Order Acquittal.

LAWYER ROASTS SENATOR.

Says Accused Must Have Guilty Knowledge of Land Fraud.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 1.—Federal Judge Edward Whitson, presiding at the trial of United States Senator Borah, will decide tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock whether the case shall be taken from the jury, and a verdict of acquittal ordered by the court.

At the conclusion of the government case today the defendant entered a motion for acquittal on the grounds that no evidence tending to connect the senator with a land fraud conspiracy had been adduced. The motion was argued at length, but the jury was not present.

Mr. Rush, in opening the argument of the government, said there had been tangible evidence of a conspiracy on the part of a few persons at least, and in this view Judge Whitson said he coincided. The evidence against Senator Borah was circumstantial, Mr. Rush admitted, but tended to show that the defendant acted in concert with the other alleged conspirators to the extent at least of receiving in his office the deeds resulting from fraud and having these deeds recorded at his request. This act of the defendant, Mr. Rush asserted, placed him in the light of one who receives stolen property.

Says Borah Protected Client.

Mr. Hawley, replying, charged opposing counsel with misapprehension of the law. Every act of Senator Borah's to which the evidence had alluded was shown to be open and above board and in pursuance of honesty of purpose. Every step taken by the defendant was the proper action of an attorney protecting the interests of his client and was susceptible of no other interpretation. Mr. Hawley claimed the evidence was that Senator Borah always announced that he was acting as attorney and that his desire was to protect his client, the Barber Lumber company, from securing claims tainted with fraud.

Idaho Detective Bomb Victim.

Baker City, Ore., Oct. 1.—Sheriff Harvey K. Brown, who was made the victim of a bomb outrage similar to that which killed former Gov. Steunenberg of Idaho, is still alive, with some chance for his recovery. No trace of the criminal has been discovered.

Brown is the man who arrested Steve Adams for his alleged crimes in Idaho.

The detective has been gloomy and downcast for several days, and when asked concerning his troubles by a friend, he replied: "I am a doomed man. Those people in Idaho will get me yet."

FEW PRESSMEN REMAIN OUT; ONLY SIX FIRMS AFFECTED.

Close of Day Set for Eight Hour Strike Finds Most of the Men Still at Work.

At the close of the first day of the strike of the printing pressmen and bookbinders only six establishments, employing 134 men, had been involved. These houses are:

R. R. Donnelley & Sons	50 men
M. A. Donahue Co.	44 men
Hill & Cuneo	12 men
Tony Rubovitz & Co.	12 men
Rand, McNally & Co.	7 men
Poole Brothers	8 men

The arrival of President Small in Chicago caused a noticeable change of front in the telegraph strike. He told the strikers neither he nor the executive board of the union would sanction any violation of contracts by brokers and leased wire operators.

STATES' LAWYERS PLAN TRUST WAR.

Attorneys General in Conference Hit at Rule of Corporations.

SEEK U. S. COURT CURB.

Legislative Bridle for Huge Combines Asked at St. Louis Meet.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 1.—Action that will have far reaching effect in anti-trust and corporation litigation and which will bear fruit in almost every state in the union was taken by the convention of attorneys general in final session here today. A committee was appointed to draft a scheme for anti-trust legislation to be sent to all attorneys general, and as a climax the entire meeting adopted a resolution which is expected to remove the interference by the federal Circuit courts with the operation of state laws. Permanent organization was also effected.

The resolution is in the shape of a memorial to congress and was framed by a committee composed of Attorneys General E. T. Young of Minnesota, Dana Malone of Massachusetts, A. M. Garber of Alabama, W. T. Thompson of Nebraska, William H. Dickson of Colorado, and H. S. Hadley of Missouri. It follows along the lines pointed out by Mr. Young's paper of yesterday.

Thrust at Federal Interference.

In the memorial is incorporated a resolution intended to end the controversy between the United States government and state rule. It is plainly stated that aid by appeal to federal courts by the trusts must be curbed.

The convention opened today with a discussion of the paper read yesterday by Attorney General Young of Minnesota, with Attorney General Garber leading the debate. The first set address was the paper by Attorney General Dana Malone, his topic being "Capitalization of Public Service Corporations."

Attorney General Jackson was detained in New York, and in his absence his paper on "State Regulation of Public Utilities" was read by Attorney General Dickson of Colorado.

The closing paper of the day, by Attorney General Wade Ellis of Ohio, was on "The Standard Oil Trusts."

Reviews Oil Trust's Career.

He reviewed the inception, formation, growth, and consolidation of the Standard Oil company, which was founded in Ohio, and outlined the litigation which was started against the company by the attorney general of Ohio in 1890, and then discussed the present phase of litigation instituted by the government.

His next question was, "What will be the effect on the oil business or the investors if the Standard Oil trust is dissolved?"

He said: "Manifestly the wells, tank, pipe lines, stations, and refineries will not be destroyed.

"The properties will be preserved and the business will go on. But whether the wrongs complained of are revealed by the voluntary admission of the perpetrators, or are uncovered by use of the strongest weapons which honest prosecutors can command, this controversy between those who would free and those who would enslave industry will go on and the right will ultimately prevail."

UPSETS THE IMMUNITY BATH

Frisco Jury Indicts Former Supervisors for Taking Bribes.

PENALTY FOR PERJURY?

Men Who Kidnaped Newspaper Editor Also Accused of Crime.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 1.—The first breach in the immunity contracts given the former board of supervisors by the bribery prosecution was made today when the grand jury brought in indictments against ex-supervisors Andrew M. Wilson, S. R. Nicholson, and Michael Coffey on charges of accepting and agreeing to accept bribes from the United Railroads, the San Francisco Gas and Electric company, and the Home Telephone company.

The indictments are in punishment for Wilson and Coffey's alleged perjury in the trial of General Counsel Tirey L. Ford of the United Railways.

The grand jury also brought indictments against Porter Ashe, a San Francisco attorney; Luther Brown, a lawyer of Los Angeles, and three others who are accused of kidnaping Fremont Older, managing editor of the San Francisco Bulletin.

Roosevelt's Friend Is Freed.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 1.—Col. Zach Mulhall, well known as a friend of President Roosevelt, was freed here today of the charge of assault to kill in connection with the shooting of Ernest Morgan in 1904.

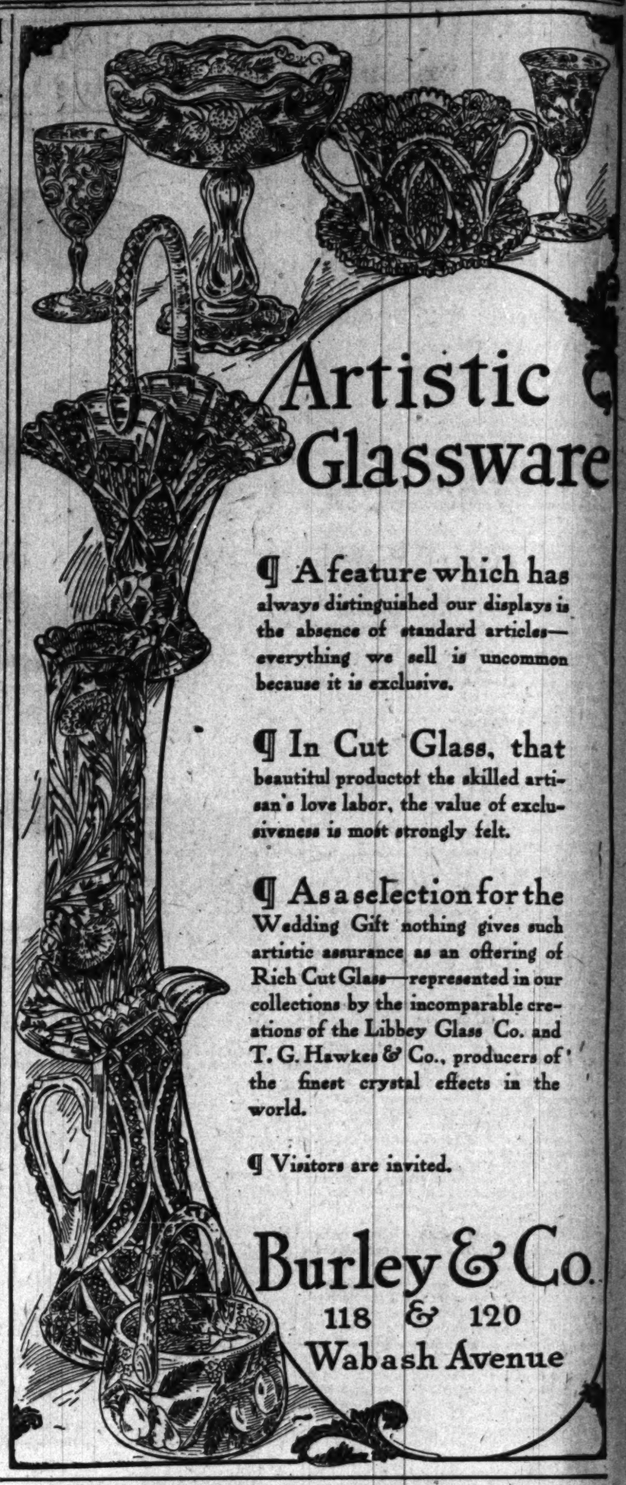

He is a bold man who would say of any advertising enterprise, "It is impossible."

Not many months ago a manufacturer started a food product in the field which is perhaps the most crowded of all the advertising area, and he demonstrated that the thing would "go" with an initial advertising appropriation of fifty-seven dollars. In an incredibly short space of time he has become one of the biggest advertisers of America.

He has bought space liberally in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. Perhaps this has something to do with his success.

THE NEW ROMAN HOLIDAY.

It is generally admitted that the automobile endurance race at Morris park last Saturday was a "sad affair." It is frankly conceded that the contest was "marred by a distressing accident," and acknowledged that "gloom was cast over the race" when an automobile crashed into a fence, injuring many spectators and killing the owner and driver of the machine. Despite this unpleasant incident, however, the race progressed to the end, as the ethics of the noble sport demanded.

An endurance automobile race is one of the triumphs of civilization. As run at the Morris park track it endures for twenty-four hours and the machines speed round and round the track, each endeavoring to cover the greatest number of miles within the specified time limit. While the race is in progress the track is lined with spectators, who usually escape injury save when an automobile flies the track, as on the late lamented occasion. Then there is likely to be a few more casualties. Indeed, one is not surprised to read that after the car had gone through the fence and into the crowd "scores of spectators overran the track and the police were unable to cope with the situation in spite of the added peril." It may be remarked that the police usually are unable to cope with a situation of this nature. The trouble is not with the police but with the situation.

At this memorable race the worst possible conditions existed. Rain had fallen steadily and the track was extremely slippery and perilous. Yet in spite of evident dangers the chauffeurs threw aside every thought of disaster or death and dashed over the course at a speed often exceeding fifty miles an hour, trusting as much to the luck of the game as to their own skill. It was "lucky" that only one tire exploded, that only one man was killed, and that only a dozen or two spectators were more or less injured. People at a safe distance from the track, who went out to see a Roman holiday, must have been grievously disappointed at the lack of excitement.

This is the pleasant diversion that the spirit of the age demands, that public sentiment countenances, and that the authorities look upon amiably, with occasional and subsequent expressions of polite regret. One must be amused and interested in this age of gasoline and progress.

The sane automobilists, who are in the majority, ought to insist that this insane sport should cease. It does not help the manufacturers of automobiles. It simply ministers needlessly to the popular craze for the spectacular, sensational, and dangerous.

IMPROVE THE WATERWAYS.

Mr. James J. Hill has found out what ails the railroads. It is the lack of terminals and the inability to get the money with which to procure them. He cites a harrowing instance. It would take more than $550,000,000 to buy a tier of narrow blocks from the Harlem river to Thirty-third street in New York City. That would be equal to $165,000 a mile for a road from Chicago to that city.

There is no question that the terminals of many if not most of the railroads entering the great cities of this country are inadequate to the work put on them. This is due to a considerable extent to the inability of railroad men to read the future. If they had had any conception of the volume of business that was in store for the roads they would have made better preparation for it. The railroad manager who complains today of the great expense of adding to the terminal facilities of his road in Chicago should blame his predecessor, who did not attend to the matter when the cost would have been comparatively small.

When Mr. Hill says that "railroad building in the United States is a thing of the past" he is exaggerating, but it does not relieve the transportation situation to lay new track without providing additional terminal facilities. To do that in a great trade center is confessedly a difficult matter.

This is another reason for the utilization of the waterways. When effective steps shall be taken in that direction the river towns will regain something of their old importance. They will become points for the establishment of railroad terminals. Perhaps it is not easy for a road to get all the room it needs at New Orleans. If navigation on the Mississippi were what it might be, terminals at Memphis, St. Louis, or some other important river point would be of far more service than they are now. The roads could transfer there to vessels the freight which they now carry to the ocean or the gulf.

The improvement of the waterways will relieve the railroads of a burden which they confess is too great for them. It will give the shippers by water freight rates only about one-tenth of those the railroads charge. The Memphis convention is to be held at an opportune moment. The country is in great need of better transportation facilities, and the convention can aid materially in providing them.

NO CHANGE IN POLICY.

President Roosevelt repeated at Keokuk yesterday the assurance he gave at Provincetown ten weeks ago, that there is to be no change of policy during the remaining eighteen months of his term. The anti-trust law is to be enforced. Wrongdoers, no matter how great their wealth, are to be prosecuted.

The president appears to have changed his mind as regards one phase of the subject. At Provincetown he spoke of the severe disturbance on the New York stock exchange and said it might well be that the determination of the government to punish certain malefactors of great wealth had "caused these men to combine to bring about as much financial stress as they can" in order to secure, if possible, a reversal of the policy of the government.

At Keokuk he made no mention of the possible plot of the malefactors. He refused to admit that the policy of the government had been the main cause of any business troubles, but admitted that it might possibly have been a contributory cause. If some unoffending people had suffered in company with the real offenders, that was what happened, said the president, in any great movement for righteousness where the forces of evil were strongly intrenched. If that had occurred in this instance it was not the fault of those who were enforcing the laws but of those to whom the innocent people owed their false position.

The president says that during the last few months appeals have been made to him not to enforce the law against certain wrongdoers of great wealth because to do so would interfere with the business prosperity of the country. After the second emphatic statement of his intentions it is not likely that there will be more appeals.

DOLLAR VALUE OF ATHLETICS.

A serious problem confronts the trustees of Swarthmore college. By the terms of the will of Miss Anna T. Jeanes of Philadelphia the institution is to receive "coal lands worth about $3,000,000," provided the institution "would at once drop all athletics." It is presumed, of course, this refers to intercollegiate contests, as it is not supposed that Miss Jeanes, while a peaceful Quakeress, would have objected to athletic exercises among the young Friends at college.

President Swain expresses the belief that the trustees will not accept the bequest with the accompanying provision. He points out, what is already known in the student world, that athletics have been a strong and attractive feature of college life at Swarthmore, and that the strength of the various teams, which have commanded the respect and fear of many of the larger institutions, has shown how general is the athletic spirit. He deplores a step which would injure the college in the esteem and love of the undergraduates and plainly conveys his fear that compliance with the terms of the will would be fatal to the interests of the institution.

For the world outside this is an interesting situation. For the first time the commercial value of athletics is to be tested. And, fortunately, Swarthmore is an ideal institution for a satisfactory test. Here is a college with 30 instructors and 307 students deeply interested in athletic sports and unusually successful in intercollegiate competitions. To an institution so small comparatively the sum of $3,000,000 is an extraordinary legacy. With ordinary care the money could be invested in a manner that would give the college unusual equipment and put it above the need of further anxiety. But evidently the question is, what is the use of a perfectly equipped institution of instruction if it ceases to attract students? To what extent are young men drawn to Swarthmore by its attention to and success in athletics and in what degree would the embargo on athletics affect its prosperity and future attendance?

The general question is, can any institution give up athletics for any stipulated sum? And what is, proportionately, the commercial value? If $3,000,000 will not tempt Swarthmore with 300 students, would $32,000,000 have any effect on Yale with 3,200 students? Unfortunately, as Miss Jeanes is no longer interested in mundane affairs, she cannot raise her offer, but whatever the result of the present discussion we shall get some further light on the importance of college athletic sports as the requisite means to a college education and as an inducement equal if not superior to climate, location, intellectual and spiritual advantages.

REGULATING THE HOTELS.

The hotel license ordinance which was passed in January last because of a wave of popular indignation over the immorality which flaunted itself in some notorious resorts is said to have become a dead letter. These places are running as before, with no evidence of change in the character of their patronage. If the license law were to be enforced strictly many of them would have to close.

It is reported that 233 hotels have been licensed under the provisions of the ordinance mentioned and that 1,300 others have applied for licenses, but that that number does not represent by any means all buildings covered by the ordinance. If there were enforcement of the ordinance a good many disreputable places would have to close. As is indicated by the chairman of the council license committee, the ordinance was not passed for the sake of securing revenue. It was designed to restrict immorality, which had become so open as to be public scandal. It required scandals of exceptional proportions to provoke a demand for reform.

The present situation is another illustration of the need of constant watchfulness in dealing with regulation in a city. One sees it all the time. The peddlers and small dealers defraud their customers by false weights and measures. There is an outcry. There are a few arrests, and then after a few weeks the need for regulation is as great as ever. In dealing with those who sell milk, with the management of penny arcades and nickel theaters, with the proprietors of disreputable saloons, there must be continued vigilance. Spasmodic regulation is useless. What is needed is unremitting vigilance.

It is to be regretted that disreputable hotels have been allowed free swing again. The license measure was designed to restrict them. If it has become a dead letter the police authorities should take early steps to put it into operation again. It is far better to use available means for regulation within due bounds than to let these institutions flourish without restriction until the community is shocked once more by some disgraceful occurrence connected with them.

TOO MANY BAD POLICEMEN.

This week one policeman has been sent to the bridewell for assault with a deadly weapon. Another has been accused of robbing a woman of her money and watch, and still another of being drunk on duty and assaulting unoffending citizens. There is no profession or occupation but what has its black sheep. There would be nothing to comment on if at rare intervals some policeman were to prey on the community he is hired to protect, but too many of them have gone wrong during the last few months.

Policemen are not the only city employés, but they seem to be the only ones who break the peace. There are many firemen, for instance, but one never hears of a fireman assaulting and robbing citizens. There are many laborers on the city pay rolls, but if any of them take to highway robbery nobody knows of it.

What is more disturbing even than the published instances of police misconduct is the suspicion that there may be other bad men who have not been detected. There is the further suspicion that commanding officers do not look closely enough after their men, not merely to find out whether they obey rules but to make sure that they are not going wrong. That discipline in the force is not rigid is well known. If it were there would not be so many transgressors.

What is the matter with the police force? The patrolman who was sent to the penitentiary the other day for robbery said he was an honest man before he was appointed and that it was police work which made him a criminal. Nobody is ready to believe that. Some other explanation of the prevalence of crime among policemen should be forthcoming.

Yes, it was a great day for the Keokukkers.

Their excellencies, the various governors who are to accompany Mr. Roosevelt on his trip from St. Louis down the mighty Missouri—frequently but erroneously called the Mississippi—have been officially assured that he believes in utilizing the great river highways which have been given us by nature and is in favor of "putting the nation collectively at the back of the movement to improve them." How can Gov. Vardaman hold out against that?

Followed by a Slight Coolness.

Percy—"Yes, it's rather a neat tie. Who gave you the idea?"

Cholly—"Nobody. I got it out of my own head."

Percy—"O! Blocked it out yourself, did you?"

Merely Between Friends.

Rivers, who was making a memorandum in his notebook, muttered something hastily under his breath and threw down his third pencil.

"What's the reason the points of these blamed things break off as soon as you begin to use them?" he said.

"It's because the boy that sharpens them uses a machine," said Brooks, who was hammering away on a first page story.

"What kind of machine?"

"One that works with a crank."

"Darn anything that works with a crank!"

"Don't say that, dear boy," remonstrated Brooks. "I work with a crank all day long."

The Subject Exhausted.

Mr. Highsome was reading the newspaper aloud to his wife. He had begun on the department of "Marine News," when his wife said:

"Skip that, Hugh."

"Why?" he asked. "Aren't you interested in the movements of ocean vessels?"

"Not now. I got enough of their movements when we went across last spring to satisfy my curiosity for the rest of my lifetime."

Then Mr. Highsome turned with alacrity to the sporting page.

A well known clergyman of Boston once was talking to some friends with reference to the desirability of chronological conerence in ideas, in the form of written statement, when he observed that there are times when this method becomes a trifle too suggestive.

"For instance," said the speaker, "I once heard a minister in New Hampshire make his usual Sunday morning announcements as follows:

"'The funeral of the late and much lamented sexton takes place on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

"'Thanksgiving services will be held in this chapel on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.'"

EMPEROR NICHOLAS may be said to bear a charmed life, and there is no monarch in modern times, nor prince of the blood, who has had so many hairbreadth escapes, for it now turns out that the wreck of his steam yacht, the Standart, was the result not of accident but of deliberate design. The channel where the mishap occurred is notoriously dangerous; so much so that the little passenger steamers running from St. Petersburg to the neighboring Finnish ports, and drawing three times less water than the imperial yacht, are strictly forbidden to use it. This prohibition is known to everybody in Finland, and is a matter with which every navigating officer of the Muscovite navy is acquainted.

Yet, in spite of this, the most experienced Finnish pilot took the huge imperial yacht into the channel at full speed, of course ripping up its bottom on several rocks, which, in spite of what has been said to the contrary, figure on every chart, Russian as well as foreign. The boat was going at the rate of fifteen knots when it struck, and the force was so great as to give it a heel of 24°. Fortunately the sea was absolutely and phenomenally calm. If the ordinary fresh Finnish weather had prevailed it would have been a matter of the utmost difficulty to have taken off the ladies, and especially the children, in the boats.

The commodore in command of the yacht was the captain of that solitary cruiser of the ill fated Baltic fleet which managed after the victory of Admiral Togo to escape northwards, and to convey to Vladivostok the first news of the destruction of the Russian Armada in the Sea of Tsushima. The arrival of that one battle scarred, storm beaten cruiser in the bay at Vladivostok in view of the crowds assembled on the neighboring heights to witness the advent of the great Muscovite fleet which they had hoped would break the naval power of Japan, turn the tide of the war, and transform defeat into victory, but which proved to be such a messenger of evil, has furnished the inspiration of several striking marine paintings.

The czar's escapes, so far as they are known to the public, have been, to say the least, dramatic and well nigh miraculous—and there are many others which from motives of policy have remained shrouded in mystery. One of the most sensational was the wreck of the imperial special train at Borki, in October, 1888, when the destruction was so complete that it seemed inconceivable that any one could have escaped alive. Twenty-one were kiled outright, including several of the servants, who were in the act of serving dishes to the late czar, seated with his wife and his children at dinner. Grand Duchess Olga's nurse was found, with her skull shattered, holding tightly clasped in her arms the child, whose only injury beyond the terrible shock to her nervous system was from a dinner fork, the prongs of which had penetrated deeply into her arm. Alexander III. also sustained some slight injuries. But the present emperor, then a lad of 20, suffered no harm at all. I need hardly add that the destruction of the imperial train at Borki was nothing more or less than a carefully organized attempt to wipe out of existence at one blow the late emperor and all his children, for no more deadly spot could have been selected for the purpose than that where the wreck took place.

Then there was that attempt upon the life of the present czar in Japan, when a crazed and fanatic Japanese ex-noble struck at him with one of those terrible old two handed Japanese swords, the blades of which are so keen and so finely tempered that they will slice without effort a silken handkerchief thrown up into the air, and cut through tissue and bone, inflicting the most frightful wounds. Nicholas, thanks to the intervention of his cousin, Prince George of Greece, who hit the would-be assassin a terrific blow on the head with his heavy walking stick, escaped with a glancing wound on the head. Had the sword struck true, and had it not been for Prince George's interference, it must have cleft the head of Nicholas to the chin.

Then, two years ago, when the emperor, the empress, and his other relatives were presiding at the ceremony of the blessing of the waters of the Neva, the guns used in firing the salutes across the stream from the opposite bank were found to be loaded with shrapnel instead of blank cartridge, and several members of the imperial entourage standing in the immediate vicinity of the czar and czarina were struck, while many of the windows of the winter palace, including the two at which the imperial children were standing to witness the ceremony, were shattered. Now we have the wreck of the yacht Standart. Truly the escapes of the present emperor of Russia from violent death may be described as miraculous.

Many courts are thrown into mourning by the demise of Prince Augustus of Saxe-Coburg, at the age of 61, at Carlsbad, following an operation for appendicitis; and as his recovery was hindered by an attack of jaundice, a complication which, indeed, proved fatal, his face was so appallingly yellow in death that the most extraordinary artifices in the shape of paint, powder, and cold cream had to be employed in order to prepare the remains for the public lying in state. The result from the testimony of eye witnesses is said to have been ghastly in the extreme, and it would have been infinitely preferable to have, under the circumstances, dispensed with the medieval custom of lying in state.

The prince was an elder brother of Ferdinand of Bulgaria, one of the sons of old Princess Clementine of Saxe-Coburg, who died at an advanced age last winter, and a grandson, therefore, of King Louis Philippe of France. Much of the early portion of his life was spent in Brazil, where he married in 1864 Princess Leopoldine, younger daughter of old Dom Pedro, the last emperor of Brazil. Leopoldine's elder sister, Isabella, married in the same year to Prince Gaston of Orleans, count d'Eu, had no children during the first eleven years of her wedded life, and during all that time Prince Augustus of Coburg, who had been made admiral in chief of the Brazilian navy, and his consort, Princess Leopoldine, were taught to look upon their eldest boy, Prince Peter, as the heir apparent to the Brazilian throne. The princess died in the '70s, at Rio, and by the time that her boy, Peter, had attained his eleventh year, his aunt, the now ex-crown princess of Brazil, countess d'Eu, had given birth to a son, which, of course, ousted him from his position as heir presumptive and relegated him, so to speak, to the background.

After the overthrow of the monarchy in Brazil, Prince Augustus of Coburg and his children came back with his father-in-law, Dom Pedro, to Europe, where soon after his arrival his eldest boy, Prince Peter, was seized with homicidal mania at Vienna. After a most sensational siege in the Coburg palace in the Austrian capital, Peter was eventually captured and subdued by the fire department, and has been confined in an insane asylum ever since.

Thenceforth, Prince Augustus divided his time between Paris, where he had a beautiful home at 42 Champs Elysées, and his château and estate of Schladming, in the Styrian province of Austria; and, while in France he was known as a student of political economy and as devoted to art and literature, in Austria he was famed as a chamois hunter, and at the time of his death held the record as a hunter of that most difficult game, the number of his trophies in the shape of gemebeards and horns being even larger than that of the emperor of Austria, who comes next in rank. He leaves a considerable fortune, which will be divided between his second son, Augustus-Leopold, a captain of the Austrian navy, and married to Archduchess Caroline, and his youngest son, Prince Louis of Coburg, whose wife, Princess Matilda of Bavaria, died about this time last year at St. Moritz, in Switzerland.

The late Prince Augustus visited the United States some years ago with his brother, Philip, the ex-son-in-law of King Leopold, during the course of a trip round the world.

HITS AT HIGH-PAID PARSONS

Frank D. Sheets Startles Rock River Methodist Conference.

SAYS CITY CAN'T BE RULER.

Equalization of Salaries to Come from Clergy, Not Laity.

A warning of the differences that may arise during the sessions of the Rock River conference of the Methodist church was uttered at the first meeting last evening by the Rev. Frank D. Sheets of Rockford. He seized an opportunity to declare the independence of the country districts from the Chicago organization, and to anticipate sensational utterances on the salary question.

This session, the sixty-eighth of the conference, was opened last evening in St. James' church, Forty-sixth street and Ellis avenue, of which the Rev. Dr. W. A. Quayle is pastor. D. W. Potter presided, and N. W. Harris delivered an address of welcome to the delegates. To this Mr. Sheets was to make response, but in addition to expressing appreciation of the hospitality of St. James', he took up the issues which are likely to cause argument at the meetings both of clergy and laity during the remainder of the week.

After a few remarks emphasizing the probability that Dr. Quayle will be made a bishop at the general conference in Baltimore next May, he took up the subjects upon which he expressed himself so clearly. He is well known in Chicago, as he formerly occupied the pulpit of the Epworth church in Edgewater, and his remarks were received with applause.

Seeks to Forestall Agitation.

His first object was to forestall any unusual agitation in protest against the inadequacy of ministers' salaries. He said upon this point:

"According to the conference minutes of 1906 the 300 ministers of this conference received an annual average salary of at least $100 a month. This included house rent and a small allowance for perquisites. The presiding elders of the conference received an annual average salary of $227 a month. This does not include house rent, but does provide for necessary traveling expenses.

"The figures are not mentioned in order that thunderbolts may be forged out of them to hurl at the laymen of the church. The ministry is not a money making profession. It is believed by one minister that the 300 effective members of the Rock River conference would not earn a higher average wage were they in secular vocations. They might, but others do not. Of ourse, there are individual cases—not many of them, perhaps—where strictest economy, health, and missionary help will scarcely keep in comfort the minister and his family.

Relief to Come from Ministry.

"The time is not distant, I am sure, when the Christ spirit in the ministry—and not in the layman—will bridge the gulf between the extremes of salaries. We ministers are coming to deprecate arbitrary and unjust classifications wrought out by inequitable salary statistics. We think it is decidedly unfair to weigh a minister by the scale weights of his salary. There are seven presiding elders whose annual salary is practically two and a half times the average salary of the ministers of this conference.

"It is no sequitor, therefore, that they are larger and more capable men than 200 and more of their brethren. I will not admit for a single moment that the presiding elders toga adds capacity, or gift, or grace, or sense to the man who wears it. He had these before the robe was laid upon his shoulders.

Hopes for Two Reforms.

"What I hope to see before I pass out of the ranks of the effective ministry is:

"First—A relation of minister to church that is undetermined by other than fitness; and

"Second—An appointment of minister to church which ignores present and past salary.

"But this will never be until the discussion of salary and the recognition of classes thereby, both in the cabinet and the lobby and the study, becomes so minor as to have no determining influence.

"It will be a glad day for the cause of Christ when there is no holding men up or pulling men down—because there is no up or down in appointments.

"In summarizing, permit me to say:

"First—That the church does not exist for the preacher.

"Second—That the preacher does not exist for the presiding elder.

"Third—That the church and the preacher and the presiding elder do not exist for the bishop.

"Fourth—That the preacher and the presiding elder and the bishop—all exist for the church.

No Inherited Privilege.

"Fifth—That there is no inherited privilege by which any minister is entitled to reëlection to successive general conferences. I have wondered if it is not selfish for a minister to expect repeated election. For no one is or no seven men in Rock River conference are so conspicuously genuises as to make their presence in the general conference absolutely necessary.

"Sixth—That there is no constitutional right by which one's salary determines his appointment as presiding elder. The higher salaried pastorates are not intended to be rounds in the ladder that reaches the eldership. And so we are coming to think that an elective eldership will be democratic enough and fair enough to permit an equitable distribution of coveted places, or at least to assure the superintending services of one eminently satisfactory to the majority.

Chicago Not the Conference.

"Seventh—That Chicago is not Rock River conference. That Chicago and 57 Washington street are not to be the hub of power administered through resident presiding elders who radiate their ubiquity as spokes to the rim of the wheel—the country.

"I read of a man who was accustomed to boast a good deal of Chicago. He admitted that he had lied often in his boasting, but he added: 'Providence always came to my assistance and helped me out.' Some of us are of the opinion that Providence will never help out any plan to superintend Rockford and Freeport from '57 Washington street.'"

Dr. Charles L. Goodell, pastor of the Calvary church, New York City, delivered the first of a series of addresses as the closing part of the program. His subject was "The Soul Winner and His Call."

Program for Today.

A business session will be held this morning, while this afternoon the Rev. M. M. Parkhurst will deliver his semi-centennial sermon, which will be followed by Dr. Goodell's second address upon "The Soul Winner and His Own Soul." The evening program will be in the form of an anniversary for the board of education, the Freedman's Aid society, and the Sunday school. An address will be given by the Rev. Dr. David G. Downey.

AGED JURIST ILL, DEPENDENT.

George Gary, Brother of Late Chicago Judge, Helpless—Aided by Relative by Marriage.

George Gary, former judge of the Probate court of Winnebago county, Wis., and a brother of the late Judge Joseph E. Gary of Chicago, is lying in a condition of helpless invalidism and semi-dependence in a cottage in Milwaukee, Wis.

At one time he was a well known attorney and served a term in the Wisconsin legislature. He is the author of "Law and Practice of Probate Courts," which has gone through several editions. He is now 84 years old and is confined to his bed by the effects of paralysis. He is blind and almost deaf.

His home was formerly at Oshkosh, Wis., but several years ago he went to reside with his daughter, Mrs. Julius Rieckhoff, wife of a violinist in Milwaukee. Two years ago she died, leaving her aged father and five children, all less than 12 years old. The Wisconsin State Bar Association gave them some help, but Mr. Gary's only regular source of income was an allowance sent to him monthly by Mrs. Charles Higgins, 375 Ontario street, Chicago, a distant relative by marriage.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS

IF I WERE KING.

A Romantic Drama in Four Acts.

BY

JUSTIN HUNTLEY M'CARTHY.

Presented at the Garrick Theater, Chicago, by E. H. Sothern and His Company, Oct. 1, 1907. The Cast:

François Villon	E. H. Sothern
Louis XI.	Malcolm Bradley
Tristan L'Hermite	Adolph Lestina
Olivier Le Dain	Frank Reicher
Thibaut D'Aussigny	William Harris
Noel De Jolys	Albert S. Howson
Guy Tabarie	Rowland Buckstone
Katherine De Vaucelles	Florence Reed
Mother Villon	Mrs. L. Holcombe
Huguette Du Hamel (The Abbess)	Virginia Hammond

Mr. Sothern revived the Justin Huntley McCarthy "If I Were King" at the Garrick last evening and scored with it an unmistakable success. The drama is easily one of the worthiest and most effective romantic plays any modern playwright has fashioned, not only its story being an interesting and attention holding one, and its workmanship being neat and skillful, but its language is of superior beauty.

The having of François Villon, the vagabond poet of Paris, for a central figure justifies the introduction of poetry and romantic speech, and in the writing of these passages the English dramatist has given his fantasy free rein and produced much that is of exceptional charm and true worth. Villon is idealized, of course, and history is twisted to suit stage needs, but these liberties are fully warranted when the outcome is a drama of such quality as is the present one. The whole world loves a spirited, daring man, and is especially fond of him if in addition he be a lover. Villon, as Mr. McCarthy has drawn him, is both of these, and his translation over night from vagabondage to the most powerful position Louis XI. of France had to bestow, and his skill and prowess in saving Paris to the king, appeal to every person who has the slightest trace of romance or of hero worship in his makeup. The theme is a fine one, and the dramatist has handled it finely.

The performance was one which calls for little save the sincerest and heartiest commendation. The same settings are used which Mr. Sothern supplied when first he produced the play, and they now, as then, are of distinct beauty and picturesqueness. The setting for the tavern is made uncommonly attractive through the artistic employment of lights, and the rose garden of the royal palace is splendid without being overdone or tawdry. In the matter of costume nothing has been spared or overlooked, and, the management of the crowds being of the best, a series of moving stage pictures harmonious in coloring, finely animated, and yet at no time obtrusive is the result.

Mr. Sothern as Villon has mellowed his portrayal since last he was seen here in it. It has lost nothing of its romantic attractiveness and none of its virility and strength, but it has gained in poetic charm, in technical finesse and finish, has deepened in sincerity and tenderness in the gentler scenes and in real potency in the more positive ones. It is now a portrayal beautifully rounded, accurately proportioned, and faultlessly finished. Naturalness in movement and in speech has replaced the suggestion of pose and of rant that formerly was discoverable in it, and it now stands clean cut, artistic, credible.

The only note of artificiality in the entire portrayal sounded out in the entrance scene for Villon in the second act. The surprise of the suddenly transformed vagabond was well assumed, but the skipping after the attendants and particularly the kicking up of one foot when kneeling on the bench after the last man departed smacked just a little of struggling to raise a laugh. Aside from this, however, the performance was deserving of only warmest praise and heartiest admiration, especially good being the impression conveyed of the marked change in character and manner that had come to Villon during the week supposed to have elapsed between the second and third acts. Authority, ease, and certainty had replaced hesitancy, self-consciousness, and doubt.

Miss Reed and Miss Hammond received generous approval at the audience's hands, and in both instances this approval was merited. Both young players acquitted themselves with distinct credit, and it would appear that Mr. Sothern in giving them their chance has supplied his company with two uncommonly capable leading women and added to the stage two young players who bid fair to accomplish things of worth in their profession.

Miss Reed was the Katherine, and she looked like some eighteenth century maiden of noble birth who had just stepped down from a canvas by a master. She was a veritable picture in her clinging gowns, and she was able to convey the impression of the pride and at the same time the lightsomeness of spirit not wholly free from heartlessness which we associate with maidens such as was Katherine. Her bantering of the transformed Villon when first she meets him in the garden was filled with coquetry and arch grace, and her wish for the coming of a man into France was voiced with a fervor and a vocal ring that gave it thrill. Her listening to Villon's love declaration later was, on the other hand, fine in the maidenly modesty, the shy happiness, and the purity and sweetness that characterized it.

Miss Hammond threw herself with abandon into the character of the hapless Huguette. Her recital of the poem with which the play begins had in it unrestrained happiness in life, throbbing passion, and reckless desire for joy. The jealousy of Villon's admiration for another was expressed with fitting fierceness, and the handling of the death scene in the third act showed unmistakable power. The young player gives greater promise than has any seen here in a long time, and if she let not her present success turn her head—if she accept it thankfully and not proudly—and she continue to study and perfect herself there seems no reason why the name of Virginia Hammond should not in due time become one honored on the American stage.

She has studied Miss Marlowe and her art carefully and to good purpose, for she has taken on—unconsciously undoubtedly—not only the manners, but even at times the vocal intonations of that actress. A better model she scarcely could have, but if she accept also the lesson of Miss Marlowe's career—the incessant study, the striving for constant betterment, the devotion to art ends rather than mere personal ones—she will have gained much from her year of association with that actress and will do a great deal toward bringing herself safely and enduringly on toward the higher places. Crudities are now in her work, but there is ability there—unusual ability—and it is a gift which bears with it obligations and responsibilities.

Mr. Bradley played the uncomfortable monarch who had his little sport with Master Villon with excellent understanding and an attention to detail which gave vitality and forcefulness to the portrayal. The other rôles are all secondary, but all were in capable hands, and the entire performance moved with a smoothness and evenness which told of thorough preparation and which made it the source of keen and genuine enjoyment.

The announcements for our "high school grade" vaudeville, which is to come to the Auditorium Oct. 13 and show us what the "advanced vaudevillians" are to give to hitherto impoverished Chicago, are now made public. The list contains the names of Vesta Victoria, George Fuller Golden, Karno's comedians, "That Quartet," Collins and Hart, the Zaretsky troupe of dancers, Ida Fuller, the six musical Cuttys, the six whirlwind Samois, and Cinquevalli.

STORIES OF THE HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS OF WASHINGTON.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Admiral Gives Congressman Lesson in Courtesy.

REAR ADMIRAL GEORGE W. MELVILLE, formerly engineer in chief of the navy and best known as the hero of the Jeannette arctic expedition, gave a lesson to a congressman one day which the latter never forgot. Coming fresh from a rural district, the M. C. had inflated ideas of his importance. He walked into Melville's office with his head in the air and in a commanding manner ordered the admiral to grant certain naval courtesies. The latter kept his temper admirably. He answered the member by saying he would like to tell him a story.

"On one of the old whaling barks," the engineer in chief began, "there was a captain and a first mate who were constantly at loggerheads. The mate could do nothing to please the captain, and the captain was eternally under the rasping criticism of his subordinate. One day the lookout shouted from the masthead: 'There she blows!' At the cry the boats were hastily put over the side, and the mate in command of one dashed into a school of whales. Before the big fish escaped he had killed two big, fine fellows. The day was calm and the trying-in was accomplished without much difficulty.

"The captain was delighted. He approached the mate and said: 'Have a chaw of tobacco.' 'I don't want any of yer baccy,' was the surly response. The captain sauntered away and after an hour or so again approached the mate. 'Come below an' have a bit of grog.' The mate drew himself up:

"'I don't want any of yer baccy an' I don't want any of yer grog. All I want from ye is seevility, and seevility of the damnedest, commonest kind.'

"And that, Mr. Congressman," the admiral said, pointing his moral, "is what I want from you—seevility; seevility of the damnedest, commonest kind."

Politeness is hypocrisy expressed. Used lavishly, it brings returns.

Bourne Insists on Another Term for President.

"Second Elective Term" Bourne, United States senator from Oregon, is filled with the idea that President Roosevelt must succeed himself in the White house. He has no pity for any of his friends who possess influence, but buttonholes one and all and insists upon explaining in great detail the threadbare reasons why the president should run again. He is so eager to get fresh ideas that he is about to offer a prize of $1,000 to the person writing the best essay on his pet scheme. Here is one of the choice observations Bourne made in urging the renomination of the president:

"This is a deduction of the brain and not an emotion of the heart."

A bright statesman who heard him paraphrased the senator's remark: "This is not a heart throb, but a brain storm."

Bourne was not known nationally until he came to Washington and coined the "second elective term" phrase. Since he prepared interviews with himself and gave them to the correspondents, he has gained a great deal of notoriety. He is a little fellow, with a weazened up countenance, and makes a habit of handing out a fine cigar to any one with whom he is talking. He has distributed thousands of Havanas in his time. There are two men, however, who cannot get free smokes from him—Senators Aldrich of Rhode Island and Crane of Massachusetts. He says he will show them he is not the little white chip they think him. His hostility arises out of their unwillingness to assist him to gain a place upon the finance committee of the senate. This committee is reserved for senators who have filled more than one term. Bourne has called Crane of Massachusetts the "Demosthenes of the Senate"—why, is not known; probably, however, because Crane is not an orator.

Frequently it is the idea that makes another man.

Work of State Secretary Trying to Health.

It is a curious thing that with one exception there has not been a secretary of state in recent years who could pride himself upon the excellence of his physical condition. When James G. Blaine left the state department just before the close of President Harrison's administration he was a broken man. Walter Q. Gresham died in office and was succeeded by Richard Olney of Massachusetts, the single exception to the rule. After Olney came John Sherman, who was senile, and then William R. Day, who has a frail though wiry constitution, and who is now a member of the Supreme court. John Hay succeeded Mr. Day, and upon his death Elihu Root assumed the state portfolio.

"No man can expect to work eleven or twelve hours a day transacting the technical business of the state department and keep in good physical condition," said an official of the foreign affairs office. "Mr. Olney had a due regard for his health. No matter how pressing the work, he would take a couple of hours each day to play tennis or to walk. Mr. Blaine never had time for exercise. Judge Gresham was afflicted with trouble in his thigh, due to a wound received during the civil war, and could not walk or jump around. Mr. Hay confined himself to drives or short walks. Mr. Root has ridden quite a good deal, but never regularly, and when he is busy makes a sandwich do for luncheon. Mr. Root should realize that he cannot labor from early in the morning until twilight for eleven months in the year and expect violent exercise of three weeks to restore him to health."

Nevertheless, there are few Sandows who can fill a cabinet office.

Smith Representation in Congress on Wane.

The Smith family must sit up and take notice. In the preparation of the new congressional directory it has been discovered that its representation in the new house of representatives has been reduced to five. There were nine Smiths in the last house, but the transfer of William Alden of Michigan and the defeat of others are responsible for the inadequate representation which faces a large proportion of the voters of the country. There is no reason to believe from the birth returns that the popularity of the name of Smith is declining; indeed, the friends of the senator from Michigan expect his fortunate surname to aid him enormously in securing the vice presidential nomination.

A story was told today of Henry Ward Beecher, who, in writing to a correspondent named Smith, said: "You don't want to get into any trouble with the Beecher family."

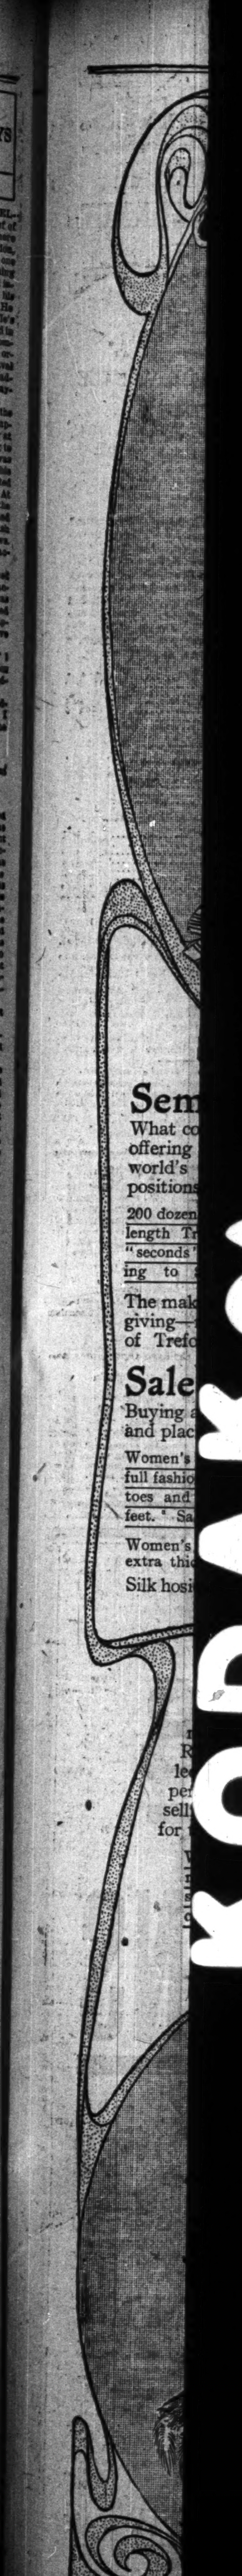

"No," came back the witty retort, "but then you don't want to get into any trouble with the Smith family." It is expected that the scarcity of members of their name in the directory will awaken the Smiths to the imperative necessity of an active canvass in the next campaign.

Any name at the bottom of a certified check looks good to the holder.

"Loquacious" Pettigrew Once Was Reticent.

One of the most loquacious men who ever have been in public life is ex-United States Senator Richard F. Pettigrew of South Dakota. Prominent men of Washington never tire of referring to him when asked by representatives of the press to express their views on important public questions. One day Mr. Pettigrew was approached by a correspondent and asked for a statement. He thought for some time, keeping still longer than he had ever before done in his known history, and then remarked: "Just say that Senator Pettigrew was reticent." President Roosevelt has used this story on occasions when trying to get away from an importunate interviewer.

It is often silence that denotes the greatest mutton head.

Mandel Brothers

Third day of the fall opening

Never since the founding of the store 53 years ago have such vast throngs of visitors entered our portals. It would seem as though all Chicagoans—as well as thousands from out of the city—had become imbued with the importance of seeing this great style show. The decorations alone are strikingly beautiful; but the great features, and the ones for which Mandel Brothers have no peer, are the masterly style creations from the world's leading artists.

Here you see the hopes of the greatest designers represented by their most beautiful conceptions. Imported suits, costumes and outergarments from the hands of Paquin, Francis, Ignace, Pasqual, Doucet and Drecol—millinery to which the foremost Parisian artists have given their fondest dreams in great variety.

Elaborate showing of imported costumes

In Paris, Paquin is on every one's lips—Paquin the miracle worker, whose genius has made the straight line effect the dominant style feature of the ultra-fashionable costume. The straight lines are maintained both front and back, but what threatens to be extreme severity is relieved by graceful side curves, and the result is most enchanting. Paquin models will be in evidence at the coming horse show.

One-piece demi-costume at $35
Of fine chiffon voile over taffeta silk, in pretty evening shades, with narrow velvet bands, cluster tucks and applique. Full plaited skirt is trimmed with taffeta silk bands and self fold. Very handsome dress, fall opening price, $35.

One-piece princess costume $50
A handsome one-piece princess costume is made of messaline silk in a wide range of evening shades; round lace yoke, outlined with clusters of tiny tucks; cross-stitched and edged with lace applique. The full gathered skirt has fancy scalloped, shirred flounce effect, $50.

Although, naturally, you will have more curiosity over the imported masterpieces, yet you will have to acknowledge that the American designers have originated remarkably clever creations. Our own original models are presented for your judgment. Second floor, State street. Ninth floor, Wabash-av.

Fall millinery opening

Amid the charming array of new models we give you an opportunity to study the finest handiwork of the Paris milliners—as well as American adaptations and original designs from our own artists—hundreds of exquisite conceits.

The leadership which Mandel's enjoy is accorded to us by the unanimous verdict of all who keep in touch with the style thoughts of the hour.

It's not high prices that tempt us—not extravagant outlay—but that indefinable yet visible something that is the real essence of style.

Showing new French waist models

In the evolution of dress, the shirtwaist has come to be regarded as one of the most important features of the fashionable woman's wardrobe. Many of the most talented French modistes are devoting their exclusive attention to the designing of shirt waists.

The result is shown in the great variety of beautifully designed waists of silk, in the new shades of blues, violets and purples, combined with rich laces and color combinations. Handsome lace waists of filet and Irish effects—lace waists in the new net and cluny lace combinations, and dainty allovers—with the new Japanese and kimono sleeve styles, now priced at $10 to $100.

Among the French waist makers who have become famous are Elise Poret, Bresson, Calvayrac, Moulinie. These and others contribute to the choicest creations of this exhibit. Every detail betrays the work of the artist.

Negligees, sacques, house gowns

Don't forget this section in your tour of inspection. The almost regal beauty of the more elaborate house gowns is worth coming far to see. Some of the finest models are sold as high as $100.

Long silk kimonos in very handsome styles, floral designs, shirred yoke front and back, trimmed with border of plain color; others are plain colors, silk Persian border, 4.95.

We are showing a special assortment of short silk kimonos, beautiful colorings in floral patterns. Some made with shirred yokes; others are plaited at shoulders, 2.95.

Style and comfort seem to blend in harmony. Designers have caught the knack.

Fall opening display fur garments

The fur section is now at its best, and women will take delight in the display of new French models that have just arrived and are shown now for the first time—beautiful models from Revillon et Freres, Bechoff, David et Cie, P. M. Gruenwaldt and Herman Gerson. We select our own furs, leaving nothing to the judgment of the middleman. This policy saves expense and insures a quality standard that we can speak of with positiveness. Buying and selling in enormous quantities enable us to accept a profit margin much smaller than possible for the exclusive furrier.

We call particular attention to our splendid assortments of mink—the season's favorite fur. The rich, soft brown of the real mink is extremely fascinating; and no fur is more durable. We offer some very remarkable values in the items below. They're all our own products; and we feel confident that you cannot find their duplicates elsewhere at the prices that we have quoted here.

Blended mink 4-skin scarfs; animal effect; with tails and claws; at $30
Large sized saddle shaped muff to match above scarf; 6 stripes; at $40

Oriental rugs: almost ½

Purchase of over $375,000 worth of the choicest Oriental rugs from two of the leading rug collectors of the East at about 50c on the dollar.

Many rich antiques included in this remarkable assemblage. These rugs come from every section of the Orient, and every type is well represented by splendid specimens.

At a saving of a third to a half you are able to select an elegant Oriental rug for the home at a very moderate price. In fact, many of these rugs sell for actually less than domestic rugs of the same size.

Parisian coat models

We do the largest retail coat business in the country. Though we advertise the popular priced lines very extensively, yet our leadership in the better grades goes undisputed. Our aim is to cover the entire range—to please those who desire the inexpensive and those who want something elaborate.

Our display of new coat models is attracting general admiration. We regard it as the most notable exhibit we have ever held in this line. The rare beauty of the new capes makes an irresistible appeal.

52-inch English box coats $25
These coats are made up in handsome new mixtures, checks and plaids; a smart double-breasted effect, with full circular flaring back and richly lined throughout with splendid quality satin. It's a style that you would deem cheap at $35. Specially priced, $25.

Evening coats and capes $25
Handsome evening coats and capes of rich luster broadcloth, in a wide range of pretty light shades; elaborated with self color silk braids; silk-lined throughout. Beautiful models—$25, $35 and up.

New Paris model coats $30
A handsome new Parisian model coat, appropriate for automobile or street wear, is made of heavy chevron cloth, in pretty dark color combinations; trimmed with self-strapping; piped with plain color broadcloth, $30.

Evening coats and capes
From all the fashion centers of Europe, as well as the best models created by America's foremost designers. These are of beautiful silks, satins, cloth of gold and silver, velvets, lace, chiffon cloth, and various other materials—specially priced, $50, $75, $100 and up.

There's not a whim of fashion that we have not considered in preparing for this opening occasion. We wish it to comprehend all that is good, so every preference can be gratified.

Not a style that is not authoritative.

BY CHARLES DRYDEN.

New York, Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Until John Dwight Chesbro and his 1907 vapor float beat the Sox 3 to 1 today they had a fighting chance for the pennant. The chance remains, but victories by Detroit and Phillie render it dimmer to the naked orb. Tonight the Tigers are 26 points in the lead, and the champions have but five more games to play. Looks bad.

Walsh came down from needed rest at his home town, Meriden, Conn. He reported his hens laying well, but the Yankees were laying for him. The big pitcher was in excellent trim. The enemy tore off but seven hits, and five of them figured in runs, while the Sox wasted all but two of their nine safe blows. Davis and Sullivan put together a double and single in the seventh which produced our lone tally.

One of Walsh's wild pitches was fatal, and the spitball was responsible for another New York run. Griff's men batted in one count in the second. In the fourth Sullivan spilled a thrown ball at the pan that would have killed a tally. In the eighth Hoffman was caught off third on an unsqueezed squeeze play. He was half way home when Chase missed the bunt. Dan started back and would have been a dead bird only Sully got his fingers on the damp part of the ball and it squirted from him. The next chuck was a wild pitch that hit the stand, and a run came in.

Sun Plays Tragic Role.

The setting sun played a tragic rôle at the finish. Never did a ball team have a more brilliant chance for an inning rally. At the back of the stand are a number of big wooden shutters that were propped open. When the Sox went to bat in the ninth the slanting rays of sunshine hit John Dwight Chesbro among the eyeballs. Griffith had a gang of men tearing along the rear of the stand closing the shutters. They failed to find the right one and while they were looking for it Donohue, Davis, and Dougherty peeled off singles, filling the bases. All this while Griff was doing a ghost dance in front of the stand and howling at the frantic shutter hunters.

They closed the opening and shut off the sunshine, which, alas! made the ball yard too dark for the Sox. With the bases full and none out J. D. Chesbro fanned Rohe. He had two strikes on Sullivan when that sterling athlete bumped to Elberfeld. The kid raced to the bag, forcing Dougherty, and threw to Chase for the out of Sully. If only the backstop had poled one through, that meant a couple of runs, and Henry Hart was all ready to bat for Walsh and bring in the rest. There should be stringent laws against closing shutters during a combat, particularly when J. D. Chesbro's spitter is working.

Hahn Is Bounced.

Incidental to the loss of the game, Mr. Hahn lost his occupation. He disagreed with Umpire Egan as to the status of the triple La Porte blew off in the fourth. Hahn carried his oration over to the next inning, by which time Mr. Egan grew weary of Eddie's rhetoric and chased him to the barn.

Isbell made two bags on La Porte's muff after two were down in the first, and Donohue fanned. La Porte cracked a single in the second and was advanced by Bell. He counted on Williams' safety to right. The next two were harmless. Isbell opened the fourth with a clean hit and was detected walking in his sleep by Chesbro. Donohue was tossed out by the pitcher. Davis walked and took third on Williams' fumble on Dougherty. Pat perished stealing.

The Yankees grabbed another in the fourth. One dead, La Porte tripled to right. With the infield up, Isbell played Bell's bump to the plate. In a collision Sully dropped the ball and La Porte lost a large portion of his trousers, but saved the run. Williams' safe shot sent Bell to third. Williams stole. Kleinow popped to Donohue and Chesbro flied to left. Rohe started the fifth with a safety. Sully skied, Walsh fanned out, and Rohe was forced by Hahn. At this juncture Hahn opened the conversation with Umpire Egan in reference to La Porte's late triple, claiming it was a foul. The new umpire fired Hahn and Hickman got a good job in right field.

Altrock Mimics Jennings.

Altrock's imitation of the Jennings school of coaching helped the Sox to a run in the seventh. Davis smashed a double. Dougherty and Rohe fouled out. While Altrock yelled "E-yah" and pulled up chunks of grass, Sully poled a beauty single to right, bringing in the faithful Davis. Walsh struck out.

In the eighth Hoffman hit safely and made second on the out of Elberfeld. With Chase up, Hoffman stole third and started to steal home on a squeeze. Chase missed the bunt and Hoffman went back when Sully dropped the ball. The next heave Walsh made was a wild pitch, on which the reckless Hoffman scored. Chase was thrown out by Isbell. All that now remained was for the sun to shine in Chesbro's eyes. It made a good start, but the shutters were lowered too soon for the struggling Sox. Score:

NOTES OF THE SOX.

There is a decided improvement in the injury of Pitcher Smith. By the time he removes the tire tape the professor stuck on him Frank will have but one leg to stand on. The other leg comes off with the tape.

Two more games here will end the eastern campaign. The champions leave for home Thursday night.

Throughout the game Altrock pulled grass and otherwise imitated the hated Jennings, but in one round only did Hugh's system produce results.

For sale—One overcoat and one sweater, nearly new. Apply to Jim McLean, solitary Chi bug, who is overstocked with what he bought and what the folks sent him when the temperature dropped.

Isbell has incurred the enmity of a certain man by purchasing some common drug store oil to rub on Smith's leg. Guess the name of the man who is peeved and get a free ticket to the world's series.

Prof. Bardell reported himself sick this morning. He had a lower berth last night for the second time this season, and the unusual luxury undermined his health. Heretofore the roof has been his limit.

Eggs will be 60 cents per dozen this winter at Meriden, Conn. Mr. Walsh brought the market report today and says his hens lay one dozen per day. We can see a soft snap ahead for the great pitcher.

Mascot Newsome has signed on for next season. As long as the Yankees do not win the pennant the mascot is sure of his job. He has been with the team four years and draws an increase of salary each season.

Jim Dougherty, aged 2 years, came away from Boston with a bad case of charley horse in the region of the belt. Jim played the limit on broiled live lobsters and ice cream, and now he is paying the penalty of high living.

Manager Jones took the wrong subway train on the way to the yard and spent an hour and a half inspecting the underground beauties of New York. He found a lot of streets and stations he never heard of. Jones was attended by a secretary, who wrote this note of the trip.

CUBS TRIM GIANTS, 2 TO 1

Game Lasts Eleven Innings and Proves Excellent Contest.

BATTLE OF THREE SLABMEN.

Fraser and Lundgren for Champs Not Outdone by Mathewson.

BY SY.

Just to show people there are other teams in the country that can play extra inning games in the last week of the season, Chicago's two star champions trimmed the New York Giants yesterday 2 to 1 in an eleven inning battle, which would have worked the fans to the jumping off place if it had mattered a little bit which team won.

It was a contest as nearly perfect as possible from an enthusiastic standpoint. The Cubs handed the Giants a start of one run in the first inning, then jollied them along with that slender lead until two were out in the last half of the ninth. At that extremely critical instant Chance's men tied the score, and, when the shades of night made it certain the battle would be terminated in the eleventh anyway, proceeded to win out right there, again with two out.

"Chick" Fraser and Carl Lundgren conspired in the feat of pitching a two hit game against McGraw's men for eleven innings. Fraser allowed the two hits in the eight innings he worked, and neither of them figured in New York's one run. Lundgren finished the job without allowing a safe rap in three innings. Christy Mathewson was almost equally stingy up to the eleventh, when the Cubs bunched two on him for victory No. 104.

Pat Moran "the" Cheese.

Pat Moran was nearly the whole cheese aside from the pitching. The Fitchburg booster was responsible for there being any extra innings, for he cracked out the solid safety which scored Manager Chance and tied up the knot in the last half of the ninth. The same lad boosted a fly into short right in the eleventh just far enough to score Sheckard from third with the winning run. This tally, by the way, was the only one that ever ought to have counted, for errors on easy chances let in the others.

The umpire, named Rigler, distinguished himself with some weird guessing around first base, and finally had to toss Tinker out of the game to look good even to himself. Joe was too greedy. Rigler had called two Cubs safe on first in earlier rounds, when they were out easily if he had been in position to see. But these decisions cut no figure. So, when the Cubs got the short end of a decision on Steinfeldt in the ninth Tinker forgot all about the others.

The Giants bagged a run in the opener without a hit. Shannon was passed, went to second on Browne's out, and stopped there while Doyle popped out. Strang hit a bounder to Chance, who fumbled an instant, then tossed the ball to Fraser, making the decision so close Rigler gave it to Strang. That put Shannon on third, and in an attempted double steal "Spike" scored while they were chasing Sammy. That let New York out for the rest of the day. In the other ten innings only four Giants reached first base, and one of these went to second. The other three were nailed stealing by Moran of Fitchburg, whose aim was deadly.

Mathewson Hard to Find.

The Cubs could do nothing with Mathewson, who held them to three hits in eight and two-third innings. Bad luck broke both ways for him in the ninth. First, Christy made a sensational stab which robbed Sheckard of a clean drive to center. That was the first out of the inning. Then Chance raised a little fly which Merkle muffed squarely. Chance was way over first at the time and had to keep going. Merkle picked up the ball and shot it to Dahlen in plenty of time to stop the manager, but Bill muffed it, too. Steinfeldt was thrown out by Dahlen in the closest kind of a finish, putting Chance on third. Moran scored him with a smash to left, but was out trying to reach second on Shannon's brief fumble.

Slagle was out in the eleventh when Sheckard punched a single to center. Chance followed with a double along the right foul line, which proved a bread winner. Moran was up again, and this time poked a little fly into right. Doyle got it in grand style by a dashing catch, but before he could recover himself Sheckard was half way home from third and beat the throw to the plate by a long step. Score:

WINS CLASS A CHAMPIONSHIP.

Toronto Takes Four of Five Games with Columbus, the Score Being 6 to 3.

Columbus, O., Oct. 1.—By defeating Columbus today the Toronto club of the Eastern league won the class A minor league championship. Only five games were played and of these Toronto won four, two here and two on its own grounds. The series of games aroused little interest here and the patronage was disappointing to the players. Today's game was called at the end of the eighth inning on account of darkness. Score:

DETROIT WINNER IN UPHILL FIGHT

Whips Senators, 5 to 3, by Batting Rally in Sixth and Seventh Innings.

COBB AGAIN TO RESCUE.

"Ty" Starts Winning Work with Single; Johnson and Siever Pitch Good Ball.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—The Detroit Tigers whipped the Senators in the opening game of their final series of the season here today and again demonstrated the staying qualities which have characterized their playing in the east in the sensational fight for the American league pennant. The score was 5 to 3.

By their victory the Tigers showed they never were beaten until the last man was out. Cantillon's men gained what appeared to be a winning lead in the first five innings, the score at that time being 3 to 1. But in the sixth round, after two men were gone, "Ty" Cobb started a batting rally with a single to center field. Rossman then hit into the crowd for two bases and Coughlin followed with another double into right, which sent Cobb and Rossman across the plate with the runs that tied the score. Schmidt then drove Coughlin home with a single to left and the inning ended with the Tigers on top, 4 to 3.

Tigers Clinch the Game.

Detroit clinched the game in the next inning, Schaefer scoring, after two were out, on his single, a steal, and Crawford's stinger to center.

The Tigers started the scoring in the opening session. D. Jones walked. Schaefer sacrificed, Blankenship to Delehanty. Crawford flied to Delehanty. Cobb singled through short and Jones scored when Warner threw to second to catch Cobb.

Washington got two in the third and took the lead. Johnson beat out a slow hit to Coughlin. Milan flied to Rossman. Ganley beat a bunt. Siever threw wild to catch Ganley and Johnson scored. Ganley scored when Cobb threw wild to Coughlin.

The Senators counted again in the third. Jones doubled to left. Shipke singled to center, scoring Jones. O'Brien was safe on Schaefer's error, but Johnson fanned and Milan grounded out to Rossman.

There was no more run getting until the sixth, when Detroit turned the tide of defeat and retained its premier position in the struggle for the pennant.

Both Pitchers Work Well.

Johnson, the Idaho wonder, who had been saved by Manager Cantillon to go against the Tigers, pitched a fair game, but his work was scarcely up to his standard. He held the visitors safe at times, but weakened after two were out in the sixth. Siever, the southpaw of Jennings' camp, pitched good ball, and the hits recorded against him were kept well scattered.

Ganley did great work with the stick for the locals, getting four hits out of four times up. Cobb and Bill Coughlin, for the Tigers, each secured three hits. The feature of the game was a one handed stop by Shipke of Rossman's drive in the second inning. The fielding of the Detroit team was erratic. Score:

NOTES OF THE CUBS' GAME.

New York again today. "last call."

Tinker rolled up eleven chances to his credit before he was sent to the clubhouse, but Hofman, who replaced him, had only one chance in two innings.

President Murphy announced the signing of John A. Donahue, pitcher for the Spaldings, to add to the 1908 list of Cub recruits. No relation to "Jiggs."

Today's is the last game of the Cubs' championship season here. Tomorrow is open, and will be spent in practice, the Cubs leaving for St. Louis tomorrow night.

Chance made a fine running catch of Hannifan's low fly back of first base in the eighth inning. The feat was surpassed only by Doyle's catch in the eleventh, on which the winning run counted.

Some concern was expressed by the fans lest Rigler's ailing eyesight prove contagious in which case Hank O'Day, on whom will depend half the world's series decisions, might catch it. President Murphy ought to provide separate dressing rooms for them to guard against that dire possibility.

Merkle saved Dahlen two of his errors by fine plays, but Umpire Rigler handed them back to Bill by miscalling both plays. On Sheckard in the first and Hofman in the eighth Dahlen threw wide of first, but Merkle jumped off the base, got the ball, and tagged the runner out both times. Merkle was between Rigler and the plays and the umpire called both men safe.

PENNANT DOPE AT A GLANCE.

Following are all the games which can be played by the three leading teams in the American league during the remainder of the season:

	Detroit	Philadelphia	Chicago	Cleveland	New York	St. Louis	Boston	Washington	Totals
Detroit	—	0	0	0	0	3	0	3	6
Philadelphia	0	—	0	2	0	0	0	4	6
Chicago	0	0	—	3	2	0	0	0	5

If Chicago wins all its five games, Detroit must lose five out of its six and Philadelphia must lose four out of its six to enable the White Sox to win the pennant.

ATHLETICS KEEP UP FIGHT BY SHUTTING OUT THE NAPS.

Victory of Detroit Over Washington, However, Makes No Change in the Standing of American League.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 1.—Philadelphia kept up the fight for the American league pennant by shutting out Cleveland today in easy fashion. Today's victory of Detroit over Washington makes the standing of the two leaders the same as before the game. The weather was cool and the attendance was small, compared with the last four games, but it was an enthusiastic crowd of about 8,000.

Dygert, who retired early in the game yesterday, was in the box for the locals and the hard hitting Clevelanders were unable to touch him. He held the visitors to three singles and a double, and was in danger in only one inning, the ninth, when Bradley, the first man up, was hit by a pitched ball. Nill forced Bradley and Lajoie forced Nill. Bemis and Hinchman then singled to center, filling the bases. Birmingham was thrown out, Murphy to Davis, ending the game. Dygert fanned two of the three batsmen in the second, fifth, and eighth innings, and but three men reached third base during the game.

Berger, who started to pitch for Cleveland, was hit so hard in the first and second innings that he was succeeded by Rhoades, who held the locals to three hits and one run in the remaining six innings.

The home team started the scoring in the first inning. After Hartsel had flied out to Birmingham, Nicholls beat out an infield hit. Seybold flied out to Flick. Nicholls advanced to third on Davis' hit to right and scored on Murphy's single to center.

Two runs were added in the second. Oldring flied out to Hinchman. Schreck, Dygert, and Hartsel made successive singles. Nicholls then forced Schreck at the plate. Seybold hit the top of the right field fence, scoring Dygert and Hartsel.

Rhoades held the locals for four innings with but one hit. In the seventh inning the home team scored one run. Dygert walked. Hartsel singled to right, and Dygert was caught at third base. Nicholls singled to left, Hartsel taking third and scoring a moment later on a long fly to center by Seybold. Score:

Roller Skating Trials Begin.

The first semi-final of the amateur roller skating trials at the Riverview rink was won last night by William Robinson of the Luna park rink. Edward Schwartz of the Riverview rink was a close second. In the first heat eighteen men started. Schwartz, who was the favorite, fell on the second round, but recovered and managed to take third place. The first three—Springer of the Chutes, and Anderson and Schwartz, both of Riverview—finished within a yard. The second heat, with twelve starters, was captured by Robinson, with Frank Bach, Chutes, second, and John O'Rourke, unattached, third.

ECKERSALL VISITS ILLINOIS FIELD.

Sizes Up the Candidates for Positions on the Football Team.

CHICAGO GAME PIVOTAL.

Rather Short of Line Material, with Plenty of Men for the Ends.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Enthusiasm is running high at Illinois and every one seems elated over the prospects of the team. They have just cause for such enthusiasm, for I was agreeably surprised to see such excellent material.

Aleady the students and townspeople are making preparations for the Chicago game on Oct. 19. This is plainly shown by the attitude of the students in recalling "Red" Matthews, the premier cheer leader of the western colleges, to lead them in their rooting for the orange and blue.

Rudderham, the man engaged by Athletic Director George Huff to look after the physical condition of the players, arrived on Monday, and immediately took up his official duties. Coaches Hall and Lindgren are working diligently with the men. As yet only rudimentary work has been indulged in. Coach Monihan of the freshman squad, numbering approximately seventy candidates, is fast weeding them out and getting down to the point of picking his eleven. As soon as he has accomplished this the varsity and freshmen will be pitted against each other, and the really arduous labors will begin.

The freshmen and varsity will play a regular game on Saturday, Oct. 12, the proceeds of which will help to make a suitable trophy room for the many prizes which the state university has won. Monihan and Burroughs will play on the freshman team and the game is creating intense interest.

Good List of Freshmen.

Illinois has secured some valuable freshmen, including the cream of the Chicago "prep" schools. Such well known stars as Garrett of Morgan Park, Griener of North Division, Brenner of Wendell Phillips and University High, Gum and Way of Hyde Park, and Flanders of Lewis institute are the most prominent.

With such a man as Hall as coach and the material on hand there is no reason why Illinois should not turn out a strong team this year. Hall assisted in puting the strong 1901 and 1904 teams into shape, and has had considerable local experience. Besides his own ideas, the well known players, Fred Lowenthal, Jake Stahl, Jimmy Cook, and Monihan, will be on hand the week prior to the Chicago game to help put the state team in shape for the one great struggle of the year with Chicago.

Sizing Up the Candidates.

After being extended the courtesy by Mr. Huff of allowing me to watch the team work out, I came to the following conclusions in regard to the candidates for the various positions:

At center—In all probability Van Hook, who was the unanimous choice of football critics as guard on the All Western team, will be shifted from guard to the pivot position. This change is made to allow the coaches to take more advantage of his defensive abilities. Van Hook should play an equally strong game at center, but his one great fault, which is naturally expected and easily overcome, is his inability to pass the ball on kicks. As kicking will be one of the main features of the new game this fault should be remedied and can be done with constant practice.

Guards—Green and "Prep" White, two veterans, appear to have the guard positions cinched, although Hull is liable to make them hurry if he should assume a more aggressive attitude. Green played center on the team last year and is not at the present time acquainted with his new position in all of the details, but Lindgren is spending considerable time with him and hopes to have all the rough edges knocked off before the Chicago game. "Prep" White is a determined and aggressive worker and it is safe to say he will be found at guard in all the big games.

Tackles—Railsback and Wham, also veterans, will in all probability play the tackle positions. Railsback is an experienced lineman, having played guard last season to the satisfaction of the coaches and he should have little trouble in holding down his job if he is shown the various points which are essential that the tackle must know. Wham, it will be remembered, played tackle two years ago and after a year's absence appears to be playing a much stronger game. While a little slow in charging and going down the field on punts and kickoffs, he is favorably considered by the coaches.

It appears as if the state team is a little shy on line material and an effort should be made by the coaches to unearth material for substitutes in case of accidents.

Plenty of End Material.

Ends—There is a wealth of material for the ends. Baum, Wacasser, Cleal, Datant, and Vosberg are all men of quality and a great fight for these positions is expected by the fans when the scrimmages take place. At the present time Baum and Wacasser are considered most favorably, the former being the star end of the freshman team last year. He is fairly fast and has plenty of ginger, and with a certain amount of coaching should develop into a first class end. Wacasser is an end of the Jimmy Cook type. He is fast, a sure tackler, and appears to have football instinct. Datant and Vosberg are men with only class team experience and need considerable coaching to bring them up to class. Cleal played end on the "fresh" team last year and is pressing Baum and Wacasser for their jobs, but he should never let a runner get on the outside of him on kicks. This is a fundamental point with an end and should be remedied at once.

Quarter—Sinnock appears to have the quarter back position all to himself. He did not appear for practice on account of tonsilitis, but was on the field receiving the benefit of the coach's instructions. Brown will be his logical successor in case of accident, although Simonini is pressing him for second laurels.

At Half Back.

Half backs—Capt. Gardner and Pettigrew will hold down these positions, but Pritchard is liable to make Pettigrew hurry, as he is looked upon favorably by the coaches. Gardner in the Chicago game last year made more ground than any other man and frequently made good gains. He is also a strong defensive player, and upon him will fall the burdens of captain. In many cases this has affected a man's playing considerably, but Gardner is practicing in a manner which assures the rooters that being captain will in no way detract from his playing ability. He hails from Chicago and will have many rooters from the windy city wishing him success on Oct. 19.

Pettigrew probably will play the other half and appears to be an earnest worker. In receiving punts he shows an inclination to run back instead of straight down the field. He is a fast, low runner, and is capable of hitting the line with good results.

Pritchard is a little inexperienced and until he is used in practice for a while will not be good enough for big games. Little is another man of the same class, but shows ability as a punter.

Full back—Miller and Litt are the two aspirants for this position and Miller at present has the call over his rival. Miller is the varsity two miler and appears to have all the requisites for the position. He is a man of the Bezdek type and is easily the choice for the place. Litt will be a valuable substitute, but is a little awkward and needs lots of practice.

WESTERN WOMEN BOOM GOLF

Visit to Toronto and Boston Last Year Brings Teams Here.

CANADIANS ARE DUE TODAY.

Field for National Championship Next Week Will Be Representative.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

By dint of earnest effort on the part of Mrs. A. T. H. Brower and her associate officials of the Western Golf association a team of western players visited Toronto last October and played a tie game with twelve Canadian players at the Lambton club. Then the westerners continued on to the Brae Burn club and played an eastern team and took part in the national championship.

This enterprise is to be rewarded this week by a visit from the Canadian and eastern teams and the no less satisfactory result that the field for the women's national championship bids fair to be one of the largest and most representative in the history of the event.

The coming of the Canadians and eastern players should give a filip to the feminine side of the sport in this section. If so, the hard work of the western officials last year will not have been in vain.

Canadians Due Today.

The Canadian team is due to arrive at the Midlothian Country club this morning. In the afternoon the visitors will practice in preparation for the match against the western team tomorrow and the eastern team on Friday.

A side issue of the championship next week will be a meeting of the executive committee of the United States Golf association, at which the nominating committee is expected to present its report.

This committee consists of President A. R. Gates of the Western Golf association, Hugo R. Johnstone of Boston, and E. R. Kellogg. Although the makeup of the ticket will not be announced until then, it is officially understood that President Daniel Chauncey of New York again will head the ticket. Silas H. Strawn of Midlothian, a member of the executive committee, is said to be slated for the position of first vice president, at present held by Fred S. James of Glen View, while Charles F. Thompson, secretary of the W. G. A., may succeed Mr. Strawn on the executive committee. John D. Cady, president of the Transmississippi association, is slated to succeed Warren Dickinson of Des Moines on the executive committee.

Scribes at Onwentsia.

Play in the newspaper golf championship was continued yesterday at the Onwentsia club. Herbert F. Jones defeated Lincoln McMillan, 2 and 1, in the semi-final for the Chatfield-Taylor cup, both getting defaults in the first round.

McMillan had a lead of 1 up at the turn, but Jones squared at the eleventh, and won the next two. McMillan won the fourteenth with a fine three. Jones came home in 41. In the lower half of the draw Edward Fullerton defeated W. L. Wells, 4 and 3, and T. A. Ballantyne won from R. Briceland by default. Fullerton and Ballantyne play today.

Canadians Leave Toronto.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—The women's team of the Lambton Golf club, which is to play the Western Golf team at Midlothian on Thursday, left for Chicago today, accompanied by President A. E. Austin of the club. While all are members of the Lambton club, some are from points outside of Toronto. Miss Thompson of St. John, N. B., champion of Canada; Miss Phepoe of Hamilton, the runner up; Miss Florence Harvey of Hamilton, Mrs. and Miss Dick, Miss Defries, Miss Hart, and Miss Wright of Toronto and Miss Uniac of Halifax are in the party. Several members of the team will remain to play in the women's national championship at Midlothian next week.

MORE ENTER FOR GOLF TOURNEY

List for Women's National Championship at Midlothian Next Week Now Numbers Eighty-four.

New York, Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Entries for the women's national golf championship today jumped from fifty-six to eighty-four, twenty-four of the additions coming through the Midlothian Country club, where the competition is to begin on Monday. Other new names were: Mrs. W. A. Alexander of the Exmoor [Ill.] Country club, Mrs. W. L. Holloway of the Skokie Country club, and the Misses Mason and Neely of West Newton, Mass. The total now equals that at Baltusrol in 1902 and is only exceeded by the ninety-six at Boston in 1906, and eighty-six at Merion a year later. Should the Canadian team enter a new record will be made for Midlothian.

DE TRAY A GOOD PLACE KICKER.

Maroon Captain Makes First Score of the Season from the Forty-five Yard Line.

Capt. Leo De Tray opened the eyes of Director Stagg at Marshall field yesterday as a possibility in place kicking. The Maroon leader lifted the ball over the goal from the forty-five yard line in the first scrimmage of the year and had the honor of chalking up the first points for his team. The coach had lined up two teams, one largely a varsity team and the other a more or less scrub aggregation.

Iddings scored a touchdown a few minutes later on one of the prettiest forward passes ever seen at the Midway. The regulars needed four yards to go on the third down. Instead of punting Steffen gave his signals and, with only De Tray and himself back of the line, snapped the ball. The play was half a fake and Iddings finally got it on a fifteen yard pass. He had only to dodge defensive Full Back Chamberlain in going the twenty yards to the line.

Twenty freshmen reported to Coach Bezdek. Among them was Beddall, the Lake Forest academy star. He weighs 240 pounds and is well built.

Hard Luck for the Gophers.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Football stock at the University of Minnesota took a decided slump today when it became known that Orrin Safford, center for the last two years, had failed to make up his studies and was accordingly barred by the Minnesota faculty. Safford had been counted upon as one of the mainstays of the Gopher line. It is most probable Dunn will be called upon from full back to replace Safford at center and a new man must be picked to take Dunn's place.

SERIES OF JOLTS TO RACE PATRONS.

Defeats of Ballot and Rye at Brighton Prove Facers for the Talent.

JOCKEY SERIOUSLY HURT.

W. Doyle's Life in Danger as a Result of Spill in the Sixth Race.

New York, Oct. 1.—[Special.]—The public was stunned at Brighton Beach today when James R. Keene's Ballot, at prohibitive odds, was beaten badly by T. Hitchcock Jr.'s Salvidere in the cup preliminary at a mile and a half.

A shock of another and more serious nature was inflicted upon the spectators in the sixth race, when Jockey W. Doyle was thrown among the flying horses and injured so badly that his life is in danger. Doyle had the mount on Voorhees, which stumbled and fell soon after the start. He was hurried to the hospital at Coney island.

On Saturday, when Ballot defeated Salvidere in the second special, the latter was unsatisfactorily ridden by Brussel. So John E. Madden put Miller up today, if only to find out just how good a colt Ballot was. There were only three starters, and when the gate went up Ballot, as usual, was taken to the front by Nicol. The Keene colt led easily for a mile, but Miller hung close to him with Salvidere up to that point, where he made his run.

The moment Salvidere was let down he showed a wonderful turn of speed, and before Ballot reached the middle of the far turn the Hitchcock racer was on even terms with him. Miller persevered, and at the head of the stretch Ballot cracked under the terrific strain, Salvidere then going on to win in a common gallop by six lengths in the remarkable time of 2:30⅘, a new track record. The world's record for the distance is 2:30¼, made in Chicago by Goodrich in 1898, but this figure could have been lowered by Salvidere if he had been extended. H. P. Whitney's Ironsides was last all the way.

The fractional time was as follows: 0:13, 0:25, 0:48⅘, 1:01⅘, 1:14⅘, 1:27⅘, 1:40, 1:52⅘, 2:05, 2:30⅘.

Miller's Ride Shocks Spectators.

Ballot's defeat caused no more surprise than did that of Rye, favorite in the third race. Rye was handled in such a manner by Miller that there was a general outcry. When the field was sent away Rye was taken quickly into a pocket and on the lower turn he was knocked about a bit. But after that Miller had plenty of time to get to the front. Yet he seemed to keep the favorite in check, so that at the end Rye finished third, Wes winning by a head from St. Valentine, which was three parts of a length in front of the favorite. Miller went before the stewards with a protest of foul. But instead of exciting sympathy he was told by C. J. Fitzgerald that he had been guilty of a ride such as a green apprentice would be ashamed of.

TIGER FANS TO INVADE CITY?

Rooters of Detroit Want Seats for 500 at the West Side Baseball Park.

So certain are Detroit fans the Tigers are going to win the American league pennant they have inaugurated plans for invading Chicago in great numbers next week, and an effort was made yesterday to secure from President Murphy the reservation of sufficient space at the west side park to accommodate them during the games here.

The Cub boss was called up on the telephone yesterday by a representative of Detroit's chief rooting organization and asked to reserve desirable space for 500 rooters in a body. President Murphy suggested they wait until the pennant was won, and drew a fierce response that the pennant already was won. He then informed the applicant there was nothing doing, as all the reserved boxes were exhausted some time ago and no sections of the grand stand or bleachers could be reserved.

High School Football Notes.

North Division, the only school to put on a midweek contest, will meet the Clairmonte A. C. at Lincoln park this afternoon. On Saturday Capt. Edward Schillo will lead his men against the Hoyne M. T. High school, which held Wendell Phillips to a single touchdown two weeks ago.

Hyde Park High will take on Elgin High at Elgin on Saturday. Hyde Park hardly has reached its best form, as was shown in last Saturday's game with Crane, but has developed some good men. Morrison, who had been playing quarter, did so well on Saturday that Referee Eckersall remarked after the game that the little Hyde Parker was one of the best men he had seen on a high school team for some years.

NELSON BREAKS WITH NOLAN

Reports from Butte Say Debts Cause the Trouble.

MANAGER TOO GOOD TO SELF.

Los Angeles Promoter Seeks Match for Jimmy Burns.

BY GEORGE SILER.

Reports from Butte, Mont., state that Battling Nelson has discharged his wily manager, Billy Nolan, because Billy was working harder for Billy than he was for Batling. Nelson recently went to Butte to collect a debt from Harry C. O'Neil, who, at present, is located at El Paso, Tex.

Nelson, so the story goes, gave O'Neil $350 to bet on him when he fought Aurelia Herrera at Butte, and when "Bat" went to collect his winnings he learned that O'Neil had skipped out with the money. A few days before the Gans-Britt fight the "Battler," en route from Hegewisch to San Francisco, stopped off at El Paso, strolled into a saloon, and saw O'Neil behind the bar. The recognition was mutual, but Nelson did not betray that he knew O'Neil. After the Gans-Britt fight Nelson went to Butte and called on the county attorney, Mr. Murray, and requested he have O'Neil extradited and to compel him to refund the $350.

Murray then informed Bat that Nolan had skipped out of Butte with $1,300 of Emil Hansen's money, $800 of which was recovered in the poolrooms, and that the other $500 still is due, and also told Bat that if he would pay Nolan's old debt he would bring O'Neil back from Texas. Nelson, presumably, learned other things about Nolan, and that, with the manner in which he treated him when he trained for his last fight with Britt, overcharging him for board and compelling him to pay the cook's salary, may have had something to do with the scales falling from his eyes regarding wily Willie.

Tom McCarey of the Pacific Athletic club of Los Angeles is seeking a customer for Jimmy Burns, who he is advertising as the lightweight champion. Tom wired here asking if "Packey" McFarland or Abe Attel would fight Burns for the title. Last night it was reported that Attel, who is in town, had signified his willingness to fight Jimmy provided the weight can be satisfactorily arranged. Burns fought Gans at 135 pounds, and as he (Attel) can battle at 122 he would be giving away too much weight. Besides the featherweight champion is after McFarland. The latter agreed to match with him at 131½, weigh in at 5 o'clock, which he refused. Now that "Packey" has tied himself down with Tommy Murphy, he is willing to accept the proposition.

Abe has an offer to meet Owen Moran, the English fighter, and the probabilities are he will take him on. "Packey" and Murphy are slated to box ten rounds at Indianapolis on Oct. 16. A week later the local fighter is scheduled to meet Abe Goodman at Fort Wayne. The semi-final of that contest will bring together Fred Gilmore and Harry Lombard. They will go eight rounds at 133 pounds. Lombard also has an offer to box Tommy Mowatt six rounds before an Elgin club the latter part of the month.

Dave Barry, the light heavyweight, is working hard to condition himself for his six round fight at Philadelphia with Al Kaufman, which takes place next week. Neither of the men has been seen in action in the Quaker city, so the contest is causing considerable interest.

Bowlers in Big Tourney.

Plans for the greater individual bowling tournament were completed yesterday. Play will start on Sunday, with fourteen representatives from a like number of alleys in the contest. The league will bowl six times around. The prize list aggregates $325.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

If Gilbert should come to Chicago just now he might burst forth with something akin to this:

When the enterprising bookie isn't booking, isn't booking,
And the dealer isn't fumbling with the cards,
They love to stroll where coppers ain't a-looking, ain't a-looking,
Or escort their country cousins through "the Yards."

When the spieler of the bracelet isn't bracing, isn't bracing,
Or assisting in the lifting of the lids,
He is lecturing his wife about tight lacing, 'bout tight lacing,
Or romping in the garden with the kids.

When the terrifying nitro isn't popping, isn't popping,
He likes to sit and crack his little joke
About the time the coin he was a-copping, was a-copping
By trimming of some meek, defenseless bloke.

[ENSEMBLE.]

Ah! When the copper gets the office to be tender, to be tender,
And work a bit and stand about at ease,
And mistake the wily brace for a suspender, a suspender,
That's the time the state's attorney is the cheese!

One win and a split for Nick Altrock. Think of that all winter.

If all the horse owners now engaged at Latonia were properly searched it would be up to a few outside of Cella and Cook to prove an alibi in the book-staking case.

Supposing there was an American Derby to be decided next year, what price would "Kid" Weller lay about Colin at the present writing?

The last bomb that exploded was the tenth. The anarchists will now proceed to set 'em up in the other alley.

Thanks to the investigations of the grand jury, you now can find a place to get action for your five spot without asking a policeman.

Among others who are contemplating Chicago's gambling troubles with comfortable placidity is Frank McWhorter, who, you will remember, was in the thick of the fight a couple of years back. McWhorter has left his former associates to their fate. He now houses his family at Los Angeles and has his hooks in at Goldfield.

We cannot believe that Prof. Stagg was long on alfalfa, clipped oats, and shredded wheat before he promulgated his vegetarian theory. Still, it costs more to feed a horse now than it did before Prof. Stagg set his training table.

If Gov. Deneen would take time to nose about a bit he might find that the "speed department" of the state fair at Springfield would not be so joyously self-sustaining if subjected to Cook county rules. In this connection it may be remarked that persons who are now before the grand jury in Chicago, threatened with indictment for neglecting to chloroform oysters previous to opening them, have paid a stated sum to the state board of agriculture for certain privileges technically described as gambling.

The respectability of roulette and the old army game depends upon environment.

We are inclined to believe that President Comiskey is in a better frame of mind to take things philosophically than President Murphy is. Mr. Comiskey has been winning pennants every day, while the public was satisfied with Mr. Murphy's achievement a month ago.

It's all off. Now let's pull for our friendly neighbor Detroit for the American league pennant, and then for the Cubs for the main works. Are we downhearted? Not so's you could notice it without the assistance of a powerful pair of glasses.

Don't give up hope. If a lot of impossible things happen the Sox will win the pennant.

We don't think it will be necessary to appoint a committee to sit up with Mr. Comiskey.

Back to the toolhouse with the Rooters' association.

The Maroons have invented a new yell. It is a cross between a whinnay and a bray. "There's a reason."

TO THE MAN UPSTAIRS.
GOOD-BY, BILL!

There's a lot we'd like to say,
Just as you are going away;
There's a lot we'd like to tell you, but we can't just now.
There's a feeling in the chest;
There's a lump beneath the vest,
But we guess you'll figure out how we feel, somehow.
Good-by, Bill!

JACKSON DEFEATS DEMAREST.

Finishes Three Points Ahead in the First Game of Their Handicap Billiard Match.

Clarence B. Jackson defeated Calvin Demarest, national amateur champion, in the first game of the four night 14 inch balk line match at Mussey's last night by 300 to 297. Jackson held Demarest even in the first 100, after which the champion forged ahead, but could not overcome the handicap. With 30 to go in the twenty-second inning, he gathered 27 and miscued on an easy draw, leaving the ivories nicely bunched for Jackson, who clicked off his required 3 points. Demarest averaged 13 11-22, with a high run of 64. Jackson's average was 9 2-32, and his high run was 38. The second game will be played at Foley's room tonight.

CHICAGO PLUNGER LOSES A BIG SUM.

C. H. White Backs Harry Scott from 10 to 1 Into a Post Favorite.

GOOD THING GOES WRONG.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—A Chicagoan came here today to make a killing and fell by the wayside. It was C. H. White, said to be the owner of the Holland hotel at Fifty-third street and Lake avenue, also of the fickle steed, Harry Scott, a son of Waterlou. S. L. Coleman trains Harry Scott, and having entered him in the sixth race, a selling affair at a mile and a furlong, he advised Owner White today was the day.

In the opening betting Harry Scott was 10 to 1. By the time his Chicago owner had finished sending it in Harry Scott went to the post favorite at 13 to 5.

He was ridden by Jockey Powers, who enjoyed a fine view of what the leaders were doing throughout the race. It was truly run and they all ran to form, including Harry Scott. Milam's consistent son of St. Leonards, Ouardi, won cleverly.

In spite of his three good races last week, the ring still refuses to acknowledge Lexoline's evident class, and his backers got all the 5 to 1 they wanted. Barney Schreiber's old horse, Deutschland, was favorite. Lee, on Lexoline, waited on Deutschland and Donna Elvira, a long shot, for half a mile, and then raced around them and came away to win alone. Summaries:

First race, 11-16 mile—Royal Queen, 105 pounds [Harty], 13 to 1, won; Lady Martha, 105 [J. Lee], 3 to 5, second; Dr. Simrall, 108 [C. Koerner], 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:08 4-5. Albert Fanze, Demonstrate, Bender, Kinsen Stone, Speed Marvel, Arlin, Sainunka, Louise K., and Mamie Gallagher ran.

Second race, selling, 1 mile—Jim Simpson, 110 pounds [Shilling], 2 to 1, won; Warner Griswell, 107 [J. Lee], 3 to 2, second; Kemp Ridgeley, 107 [Heidel], 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:42 4-5. Gold Duke, Padivoni, Knight of Ivanhoe, Royal Bond, Kaiserhof, Ingenue, Belle of Pensance, and Prince of Orange ran.

Third race, 1 mile—Lady Esther, 97 pounds [A. Walsh], 13 to 5, won; Convolo, 101 [Shilling], 3 to 1, second; Miss Strome, 88 [Schlesinger], 7 to 2, third. Time, 1:41. Usury, Toddles, and Bottle ran.

Fourth race, handicap, ¾ mile—Lexoline, 105 pounds [J. Lee], 4 to 1, won; Donna Elvira, 108 [Schlesinger], 20 to 1, second; Deutschland, 109 [Heidel], 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:27. Mike Sutton, Hazel Patch, and Patagtic ran.

Fifth race, ¾ mile—C. W. Burton, 115 pounds [Shilling], 3 to 1, won; Balla, 102 [Power], 5 to 1, second; Rebel Queen, 102 [Heidel], even, third. Time, 1:15 2-5. Queen's Pet, Mirzer, Addax, Vanset, and Snake Mary ran.

Sixth race, selling, 1⅛ miles—Ouardi, 108 pounds [Shilling], 2 to 1, won; Charlatan, 105 [Pickens], 3 to 1, second; Henry O., 108 [Lycurgus], 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:55. Pilier, Harry Scott, Blaze o'Light, Great, King of the Valley, George Young, and Belleview ran.

Hammond Not to Play on Saturday.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Michigan will be without the services of Harry Hammond, end, in Saturday's game with Case. He went home to Chicago today to attend the wedding of his brother.

A VALUABLE PRESCRIPTION

—FOR—

Rheumatism, Kidney & Bladder Troubles

Published by permission of the Eminent Specialist, DR. G. E. FLOOD:

We are glad to be able to publish for the benefit of our readers Dr. George Edmund Flood's famous prescription for rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles. Dr. Flood's remarkable success in treating rheumatism and all diseases of the kidneys and bladder has placed him first among all Specialists on these diseases. He attributes his success almost entirely to the following prescription. It is the result of years of investigation and experience. We publish it just as it came from the doctor direct to us:

℞ Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic — ½ ounce
Concentrated Barkola Compound — 1 ounce
Aromatic Elixir — 4 ounces
Directions
One teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime.

Children one-quarter to one-half teaspoonful after meals.

This prescription can be filled at any good drug store, or, better still, the ingredients can be purchased separately and mixed at home simply by shaking in a bottle. If not in need of it now, we would advise our readers to cut this out and save it.—Adv.

CORN IS REAL STAFF OF LIFE.

Two Hundred Distinct Dishes Can Be Made, It Is Said.

LEARN HOW AT COMING FAIR.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hiller Will Demonstrate at National Exposition.

"Two hundred distinct dishes may be made from corn, all palatable, and all for a few cents each."

Having made this observation, Mrs. Elizabeth O. Hiller, 298 East Ohio street, said it was a matter for regret the people of this country, especially the laboring class, were not educated to the manifold uses of the grain as food.

She will have charge of the corn kitchen at the National Corn exposition at the Coliseum for the two weeks beginning Oct. 5. Mrs. Hiller formerly was principal of the Chicago Domestic Science Training school.

"The other evening," she continued, "I served half a dozen people here with a delicious corn dish, and what do you think it cost? Just 9 cents."

The dish she described was Pannhaus, an old Pennsylvania Dutch combination of cornmeal and liver sausage, that was invented in the Broad mountains in the days when people were poor.

"The average person," Mrs. Hiller continued, "doesn't know corn to a great extent will take the place of meat. It has fully the food value of wheat and is not heating, and is of course much cheaper. For a few cents one may always have a plentiful supply, and it should be kept in every well appointed household."

Gives Sample Menu for One Dinner.

Then she described a few of the dishes that could be made, beginning with soup and terminating with dessert. The only thing that she didn't mention was the distilled article that is familiarly known as "corn juice" and which is the only article of food that won't be on display at the corn exposition. She gave the following menu for one of the dinners, composed entirely of corn, that will be served during the exposition:

Soup of cream [made from green corn].
Corn timbale [a mold of corn served on a tomato, with tomato dressing.
Corn souffle. Corn on the cob.
Corn pudding [baked with milk].
Corn a la Mexicana [served with red peppers].
Salad of corn and shredded green peppers [served with Mayonnaise or cooked in a jelly].
Old-fashioned corn bread.
Indian tapioca or old Indian meal pudding, cooked in a blanket.

"It would be no trouble at all," Mrs. Hiller asserted, "to furnish a daily bill of fare of corn alone for several months."

Mrs. Hiller, with a staff of assistant cooks and a negro page, will give demonstrations three times a day during the two weeks of the exposition in the pretty kitchen. Everything will be blue and white. The first part of the demonstrations will include the simplest dishes—the sort that the Indians made when the first colonists settled on these shores and would have starved had it not been for the maize cultivated by the redskins.

Mrs. Hiller Tells of Indian Dishes.

"The simplest thing, of course," said Mrs. Hiller, "is the gone or dodger that the Indians baked on the rocks—simply a little cornmeal mixed with salt. They parched the corn first and then ground it into meal. They mixed it with salt from the 'licks' and called it journey cake, for they would bait to make it while on a journey. From this we have the corruption 'Johnny-cake.'

"The Indians had a more elaborate dish, something like the Pannhaus that I have described. It was a porridge in which they mixed bits of fish or game and berries, and the nearest thing we have to it is Philadelphia scrapple, made from beef livers and the delicate flakes of meat from pig's head."

Mrs. Hiller will not confine her lectures to corn. She will show the women how to plank fish, how to roast a turkey, baste a ham, and how to cook a leg of mutton or other large joints of meat. The braising process in which a cheap joint of meat is cooked in its own juice and made just as palatable as the most expensive will be the subject of another demonstration.

Army of Potomac Banquet.

The nineteenth annual reception and banquet of ed the Western society, Army of the Potomac, will be held at the Midday clubrooms, Tuesday evening, Oct. 8. Maj. Gen. N. H. Curtis, Bishop Samuel Fallows, and Judge W. H. Seaman have accepted invitations to speak.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

Society's interest today is claimed by an out of town celebration—the wedding of Miss Hazel Haskell and Mr. George Curtis Venard, which is to take place at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Cobourg, Ont. Miss Haskell is a former Chicago young woman, the daughter of the late Mr. George N. Haskell, whose home was in Ontario street for many years.

The service this afternoon is to be performed by Canon Spragg at St. Peter's church, and is to be followed by a reception at Mrs. Haskell's Cobourg home, Red Gables. Miss Haskell's maid of honor is to be her sister, Miss Theodosia Haskell, and her bridemaids Miss Hadassah Felton and Miss Hazel Everingham of Chicago, Miss Mary Stanley of Baltimore, and Miss Marguerite Hess of Philadelphia. Mr. Albert Duval of Kansas City is to be the best man, and the ushers will be Mr. Eric Armour of Toronto, Mr. John B. Garneau of St. Louis, Mr. William J. McMichael of Philadelphia, and Mr. Charles A. Leonard of Philadelphia. Two small flower girls, the bride's niece, Georgina Sands of Cobourg, and Aemoral Drynan of Toronto, will complete the party.

The church decorations are to be elaborate with arches of greens up the middle aisle and bunches of white hydrangeas tied to the pews. The same flowers will be used on the altar.

The bride's robe is princesse in style and fashioned of white lace over white satin. The trimmings are of soft white satin, heavily embroidered. Her veil is of white tulle with orange blossoms, and she will carry lilies of the valley. The maid of honor will wear a gown of white net with Irish crochet lace, and will carry American beauties. The bridemaids' gowns will be of white net also, with the bodices trimmed in white satin, braided and embroidered. They will wear large white net hats trimmed with marabou and ostrich feathers, and will carry American beauties. The small flower girls will wear frocks of white and carry baskets of pink roses.

Mr. Venard, who is a Chicago man, will bring his bride to this city to reside, their future home not having been selected as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Talman Whiting yesterday issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Louise Whiting, to Mr. Charles Sommers Young, to take place Tuesday evening, Oct. 22, at 8 o'clock, at St. Chrysostom's church. At home cards for the third and fourth Mondays in January at 309 Chicago avenue were inclosed.

Mrs. Robert Gray Peck, with her infant son, Robin, of Fort Wayne, Detroit, is the guest of Mrs. Peck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin A. Fessenden, at Highland Park. Mrs. Peck, who was Miss Alice Fessenden, will sail with her husband, First Lieut. Peck of the Seventh United States infantry, for the Philippines early in April, the regiment leaving at that time for the islands. Mr. and Mrs. Fessenden recently sold their home, Happlegoluckie, and have taken the Frederick N. Cushing house for two months while their new Highland Park residence is being completed. The new home is a Devonshire cottage, which has been named Content.

Miss Catherine Berriman gave a theater party, followed by a supper at the Chicago Athletic club, last night in honor of Miss Ruby Elizabeth Marshall and Mr. Alfred Francis Weege of Dallas, Tex., who are to wed on Saturday. Miss Berriman, with Miss Lucile Lichstern, Miss Marie Plamondon, and Miss Carolyn May of Colorado Springs, Colo., are to be the bridesmaids at the wedding, and Miss Margaret Marshall will attend as maid of honor. Mr. Oliver D. Crilly will be best man, and the ushers are to be Mr. Burrell D. Jones, Mr. Louis J. MacMahon, Mr. Edmund Wunderle, and Mr. Hobart P. Young. Tonight Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lichstern will entertain the bridal party at dinner at the Auditorium Annex, followed by a theater party and supper, and tomorrow Miss Plamondon will give a supper, followed by a dance, at the South Shore Country club. Mrs. Marshall, the bride's mother, will give a dinner Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Whitcomb Cotton have returned from the east and will spend a month at the Virginia before going to Boston to reside permanently.

Mrs. George P. Shepard and her mother, Mrs. Young, will go to New York this week to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Eisendrath announce the marriage of their niece, Miss Clare Eisendrath, to Mr. David B. Stern of Chicago, which took place Wednesday, Sept. 25, at the Hotel Netherlands, New York.

Substitute for Curtain Rod.

Inexpensive curtains add a finish to any room and when one has not the double rods the following method will be found satisfactory. Make an inch hem at top of curtains. Buy some strong elastic three-quarters inch wide. Measure the elastic by stretching it as far as it can be stretched across the window. Cut out at one end, sew a strong battenberg button. Insert elastic in hems; sew another button at the other end; then fasten button at each end on the small brass knob of outer curtain rod. Pin the center of the elastic to the outer curtain and then you will find it will not sag in the least.

Make Mucilage at Home.

To 5 cents' worth of gum tragacanth, dissolved over night in a quart of warm water, add water until thinned to nearly the right consistency, then add 10 cents' worth of alcohol. Bottle and cork well. This will keep a year. E. S. L. THOMPSON.

TESTED RECIPES

Fish Mayonnaise.

Tie up in a napkin a fine trout and boil in a shallow dish. Season the water well with onions and a bouquet composed of bay leaves, thyme, and parsley, and salt to taste. Put small potatoes around the fish and, when all is done, prepare your mayonnaise. Take the yolks of eight raw eggs and a cupful of chopped green onions, chervil, and pickles. Lastly add the juice of a lemon and salt and pepper to taste. Stand in a cool place until needed, and serve with the fish.

MRS. WATERS.

Breakfast Buns.

Take good biscuit dough, roll out until about a quarter of an inch thick, spread well with soft butter, spread thickly with either brown or white sugar; roll as for jelly roll; cut into about one and one-half inch lengths; place far enough apart in pan to allow for rising; bake in a hot oven. W. E.

Use Melon for Citron.

Have any of the housekeepers ever tried using watermelon preserve in place of dried citron? It is economical, as you have already paid for your melon to eat, and it is much easier to use when you want it, because it is ready for use and the citron has to be chopped or sliced. MRS. P. J. KELLY.

Prevent Mold on Preserves.

When putting up your preserves pour a few drops of glycerin around the edges of your jar before screwing on the cover, and it will keep the mold off the top.

Ready Aid for Nervous Women

That "bad quarter of an hour," as the French say, which follows a sudden rousing from sleep by a fearful dream or unwonted noise, is familiar to nearly all women, and perhaps some men. The darkness at that moment is, to say the least, not heartening, and to rise and make a light would imply that the "woozy" feeling does not exist. Which is absurd. What a comfort at that moment to simply put out your hand, turn a switch, and flood the room with light—electric light, of course. If you have a Hylo electric light in the room you can have a low light (one-candle power) burning all night long at a trifling cost. The Car of Destiny

¶ Color and gaiety and excitement sparkle from every page of this delightfully thrilling romance, the best thing The Williamsons have done. The scenes are Spanish, contemporary with the recent Royal marriage, and there are adventures innumerable in a case of love at first sight and a motor dash across Spain in pursuit of the heroine, the charming Lady Monica, in the Princess Ena's suite. A magnificent descript on of the coronation bull-fight fittingly culminates this brilliant story.

OUSTS HARRIMAN FROM THE ALTON.

Stockholders' Annual Meeting Retires Him from Board of Directors.

ROAD HAS BANNER YEAR.

Beginning to See Financial Daylight Through Reorganization Shadow.

The potent influence of E. H. Harriman in the affairs of the Chicago and Alton railroad was eliminated at the stockholders' meeting yesterday. His place on the board of directors was filled by the election of Edwin Hawley, the dominant factor in the Toledo, St. Louis, and Western (Clover Leaf); Iowa Central, and Minneapolis and St. Louis railroads.

At a directors' meeting, to be held today in New York, the so called Rock Island directors will offer their resignations, and the formal transfer of the Rock Island interest in the Alton will be made to Mr. Hawley and his associates. The election of new directors to fill the vacancies thus created will give Mr. Hawley a clear majority on the board of directors.

The directors whose resignations will be tendered today are:

B. F. Yoakum,	Robert Mather,
James H. Moore,	D. G. Reid,
W. H. Moore.	R. A. Jackson.

There is also the resignation of James B. Forgan, submitted some time ago, to be considered, so if the Hawley forces elect none but their own men they will have seven out of the eleven directors on the board.

Election of Officers Today.

It is thought the election of officers will take place also today, but no announcement to that effect has been made. It has been stated repeatedly that S. M. Felton would retire from the presidency, and that George H. Ross, or some other high official of the Clover Leaf, would succeed him. There has never been a confirmation of the report, nor has Mr. Felton denied it. Yesterday he declared that he knew nothing of what would be done at the meeting in New York today.

The stockholders' meeting was held in the general offices of the company on the ninth floor of the Railway Exchange building. The voting was done entirely by proxies. There were 340,000 out of a total of 400,000 shares represented. These included the Harriman or Union Pacific interest of 100,000 shares for which proxies had been sent to Robert Mather, the Rock Island representative at the meeting.

Only a Few Men Present.

The others present were S. M. Felton, F. S. Winston, general counsel for the Alton, and R. A. Jackson, vice president and general solicitor of the Rock Island. Under the cumulative system of voting it would have been possible for Harriman, with his large interest in the Alton, to have forced his election as a director. His failure to do this is believed to have been due to Rock Island influence. Elimination of Harriman is said to have been one of the conditions upon which Mr. Hawley agreed to purchase the 200,000 shares of Alton stock owned by the Rock Island. This condition having been fulfilled the sale can take place today.

The other directors whose terms expired yesterday were James Stillman, another Union Pacific director, and Robert Mather. Mr. Jackson of the Rock Island was elected to succeed Mr. Stillman and Mr. Mather was reelected. Their election, however, was perfunctory, as they will resign today. The business of the meeting was transacted within an hour.

Banner Year Financially.

The financial statement of the Alton, issued at the meeting, made a record in the showing of the finances of the company. The net profits for the year increased $817,-581, or 80 per cent, and after the payment of the 4 per cent dividends on the $19,557,900 preferred and $899,300 guaranteed stock were equal to $1,010,228, or 5.11 per cent on the $19,542,800 common issue. From a financial viewpoint the road is beginning to see daylight through its reorganization, which was conceded to involve a great deal of so-called water. The income account for the year makes the following showing:

Earnings:	1906-'07.	1905-'06.	Increase.

PUBLIC DEBT $3,693,574 LESS.

Monthly Statement of Treasury Shows Liabilities of $877,998,808, Which Is a Decrease.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—The monthly statement of the public debt issued today shows that at the close of business Sept. 30, 1907, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $877,998,808, which is a decrease for the month of $3,693,574. The debt is recapitulated as follows:

Interest bearing debt	$858,685,510
Debt on which interest has ceased since maturity	8,722,875
Debt bearing no interest	400,592,066
Total	$1,267,550,122

This amount, however, does not include $1,200,319,869 in certificates and treasury notes outstanding, which are offset by an equal amount of cash held in the treasury for their redemption. The cash in the treasury is classified as follows:

Gold reserve fund	$150,000,000
Trust funds	1,200,319,869
General fund	183,445,220
In national bank depositaries	170,512,212
In Philippine treasury	5,593,865
Total	$1,709,871,167

Total, $1,709,871,167.

There are demand liabilities outstanding amounting to $1,320,319,853, which leaves a cash balance on hand of $389,551,314.

GOTHAM STOCKS CLOSE FIRM.

Bulls Gain Command After an Extremely Irregular Session.

ST. PAUL SHORTS DEFEATED.

Sudden Rise in Prices Gives Warning for More Caution.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—[Special.]—Following a session of extreme irregularity and great fluctuations in prices, the stock exchange closed today with the bears in control and the tone firm. There was little or no trading by the outsiders during the day, the dealings being entirely in the hands of professionals.

The shorts in St. Paul were given severe punishment, and this, combined with the lesson given in Canadian Pacific, served as a warning of caution for them.

The reduction in the dividend on Anaconda to $1.25 a share, compared with the preceding $1.75 quarterly dividend, was of next importance. The highest price touched by Anaconda was after the announcement of the dividend reduction and after the announcement of further cuts in the price of copper both in London and at the New York metal exchange.

The strength in Pennsylvania was assignable to the favorable return of net earnings for August, although Atchison also was notably firm throughout, in spite of a large decrease in net earnings for August.

The United States steel stocks sold off on reports of a cutting down of the working force at the mills. The Metropolitan Street railway receivership revived the often repeated weakness in the local traction group.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,508,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call—Strong; 4¾@6 per cent; ruling rate, 5½; closing bid, 4¾, offered at 5. Time loans—Firm; 60 days, 5¾ per cent; 90 days, 6; six months, 6. Prime mercantile paper, 7 per cent. Sterling exchange strong, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8575@4.8580 for demand and at 4.8225@4.8230 for 60 day bills. Commercial bills, 4.81⅝. Bar silver, 66⅝. Mexican dollars, 52. IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Money was in quieter demand in the market today and rates were easier. Discounts were weaker. A small failure was announced on the stock exchange, but it had no effect, the market showing improvement. Investment stocks, under the lead of consols, rallied.

Americans developed strength in sympathy with the tone of the New York market. The bear squeeze in Canadian Pacific there caused heavy covering here. The price opened at 172, but eased three points. The whole list went up to well over parity in the forenoon. Grand Trunk received especial attention. In the afternoon New York began selling and prices dropped all round. The market closed easy. Foreigners were quiet.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The bourse today opened with better tone, but prices were again heavy at the close.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—Prices on the boerse today were firm throughout.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 1.—[Special.]—The copper stocks were strong on the local exchange today, the cut in the dividend of Anaconda being without influence. Much of the trading was in odd lots, the activity being confined to Amalgamated, North Butte, and Copper Range.

Call loans, 4@5 per cent; time loans, collateral, 6@7 per cent; time loans, mercantile paper, 7 per cent; clearing house loans, 4 per cent.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Lack of quality and serious lack of demand for hogs caused a reversal of form in the swine market yesterday and prices were off from 10c to 15c on practically all grades. There was little stuff in the cattle market yesterday and prices were only nominally steady. Cowstuff was a shade lower. Sheep were trifle weaker, but lambs were about steady and unchanged. Receipts for the day were cattle, 10,000; hogs, 14,000; sheep, 28,000. The general range of prices was as follows:

DOINGS IN CHICAGO REALTY

Tract of 198 Lots Formerly Owned by P. O. Stensland Sold.

DEALS IN FLAT BUILDINGS.

David R. Forgan Disposes of Residence Property in Astor Street.

A tract of 198 lots at Western avenue and Irving Park boulevard, formerly owned by Paul O. Stensland, has been sold by Ira M. Cobe of the Assets Realization company to Matthew W. Kavanagh for $75,000. Mr. Cobe also conveyed 88x125 feet at Western and Warner avenues in the same subdivision to Charles Wohrle Jr. for $1,000. The property was acquired by Mr. Cobe at the bankrupt sale of the Stensland properties.

Sales of Flat Buildings.

The eighteen flat building at Roscoe street and Elaine place has been sold by Lyman M. Drake, through H. H. Banford & Co., to Walter S. Bogle for $65,000. The lot is 98x125 feet.

Mr. Drake has sold to George J. Williams the six flat building in Hinman avenue, Evanston, south of Lee street, for $22,500, with $13,000 incumbrance.

H. E. Canning and C. Denninger have sold to S. S. and George A. Hutchinson the store and flat building at Leland and Winthrop avenues, containing four stores and twelve apartments, for $64,000, taking in part payment 92x152 feet at North Lincoln street and Sunnyside avenue, valued at $15,000. Hipple & Clark negotiated the sale.

Edward I. Bloom has sold to Richard J. Stone the flat property at 4828 Michigan avenue, with 50x160 feet of ground, for $32,250, subject to $17,000 incumbrance. E. E. Manson & Co. were the brokers.

Transfers of Residence Properties.

David R. Forgan has sold to Ann Gross Miller, wife of John S. Miller, the residence property in Astor street, 121 feet south of Burton place, with lot 34x130 feet, west front, for $30,000.

The property at 420 West Adams street, with 49½x120 feet of ground, with brick improvements, has been sold by the estate of Sarah Galoss to Florence E. Hormann for $30,000.

The residence property in Kenwood avenue, 198 feet north of Forty-ninth street, with lot 50x187 feet, east front, has been sold by Chambers L. Peirce to Jessie F. Mack for $25,000.

The National Life Insurance company of Montpelier, Vt., has made two loans aggregating $41,000, five years, at 5½ per cent, to Albert S. Hecht and wife on flat property at Buena Park terrace and Evanston avenue.

Distress After Eating

Do You Ever Feel as Though You Had Swallowed a Brick Instead of a Meal?

That heavy, bloated, stuffed-up, lead-like feeling which you often experience after eating a meal is positive proof that something is wrong with your digestive organs. They are becoming weak and fagged out. There is a lack of gastric and other digestive juices. The food is no longer properly digested and it forms a heavy load on your stomach, so that nearly every meal causes you misery and distress.

If you are in this condition it means that you have dyspepsia in some form and may have had it for some time, though you didn't realize it.

Now is the time to check it, for if you don't it will surely develop into worse forms of dyspepsia and other stomach troubles, which may have serious results.

But that is not all. The stomach is the hub of the body, and an injury to it is an injury to all. A weak stomach causes the whole body to suffer. The action of the heart, liver, and kidneys becomes sluggish. The brain becomes inactive. The nerves become unstrung. The blood loses its vitality.

The only safe, sure, scientific method of restoring your stomach to its healthy, normal state is to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which will act as a substitute in digesting your food, thus giving your stomach a much needed rest.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have stood the tests for years. Thousands have used them and been cured. Physicians all over the United States recommend them. They are not a secret remedy. They contain fruit and vegetable essences, pure concentrated tincture of hydrastis, golden seal, lactose, and pure aseptic pepsin. These combined ingredients will digest the coarsest kind of food and do the work just as well as any good, strong, healthy stomach will.

Don't take our word for it. Ask your physician, your druggist or any of your friends, who may have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. But you don't even have to take their word for it. Find out for yourself. Send for a free sample package and try them. That's the surest way to learn the truth. Then, if you are satisfied, you can go to your nearest druggist and get a fifty-cent box. All druggists sell them.

SUFFERED WITH ECZEMA 25 YEARS.

Limb Peeled and Foot Was Like Raw Flesh—Had to Use Crutches, and Doctors Thought Amputation Necessary — Montreal Woman Writes of Cure Seven Years Ago.

BELIEVES LIFE SAVED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuticura Remedies first. He said, 'Try them if you like, but I do not think they will do any good.' At this time my leg was peeled from the knee, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh, and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a bottle of Cuticura Pills. After the first two treatments the swelling went down, and in two months my leg was cured and the new skin came on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use it for his own patients. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap, three boxes of Ointment, and five bottles of Resolvent, and I have now been cured over seven years, and but for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. I have lots of grandchildren, and they are frequent users of Cuticura, and I always recommend it to the many people whom my business brings to my house every day. Mrs. Jean-Baptiste Renaud, clairvoyant, 277, Mentana St., Montreal, Que., Feb. 20, 1907."

CONSTIPATION

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried Cascarets, and today I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascarets I suffered untold misery with internal piles. Thanks to you I am free from all that this morning. You can use this in behalf of suffering humanity."

ANNUAL SALE, TEN MILLION BOXES

WHEAT SHOWS BETTER TONE.

Rains Northwest and Covering by Shorts Stimulate Prices.

GENERAL TRADE IS NARROW.

Coarse Grains Quiet and Little Changed; Provisions Are Lower.

Material reduction of general selling pressure, moderately active covering by oversold shorts, harvest delaying rains northwest, marked strength at Minneapolis, and a bullish statement from Expert Snow on crop conditions in Canada figured prominently in a stiffening of wheat values yesterday. As for a long time, trading was confined almost entirely to local professional channels, impaired wire service and general apathy limiting outside business to insignificant volume. Final quotations, slightly under the day's best showing, represented net gains of ½@⅝c for December, ⅝c for May, and 1c for July.

The turn for the better, after several days of depression, was considered as a "natural reaction." There was not much in the day's news offerings to warrant a bold move in either direction, but enough to stir up some little uneasiness in the ranks of the shorts. The amount of long grain thrown into the pit was only a shadow of that unloaded the day before, although at the start it was heavy enough to offset for a few minutes the supporting influences. General floor sentiment did not appear to have undergone any change, bulls insisting that conditions were steadily shaping themselves for an upturn in values, bears professing to see little on the surface to swerve them from their stand.

Minneapolis Strength Is Marked.

Minneapolis was relatively much stronger than Chicago, good support there being based largely on fears that general rains would delay thrashing and work against the quality of the grain. Rains southwest, on the other hand, were welcomed by the bears, for they were needed to favor seeding operations. Receipts of wheat at Duluth and Minneapolis aggregated 894 cars, compared to 770 the preceding Tuesday, and 1,117 the corresponding day in 1906. Arrivals at Winnipeg were moderate, with the general grading good. Chicago had 121 cars, less than expected, and combined primaries were 1,227,000 bu, against 1,296,000 bu a year ago. Clearances at the seaboard, wheat and flour, were equal to 265,000 bu.

While the seaboard reported some export business, exporters saw a generally tame demand. Exporters, however, were said to have been free buyers of futures at New York. There was a fair inquiry for cash wheat here, with prices relatively unchanged. Kansas City reported considerable grain carried over from the previous day, although attributing a fair demand to millers and elevators. Eastern millers were said to have taken liberal quantities of wheat in the northwest.

Bullish Estimate from Abroad.

An English expert estimated that foreign wheat requirements would be about 580,000,000 bu, with a surplus of approximately 400,000,000 bu to draw from. Crop Expert Snow reiterated his previous declaration that northwestern Canada will not have more than 20,000,000 bu of milling wheat, holding that 60 per cent of the yield will not be good enough to mill. A message from Govan, Saskatchewan, about 350 miles northwest of Winnipeg, had it that wheat was running more than forty bu to the acre. It was reported that Fort William was shipping old crop wheat west. Bulls considered this as significant.

Increase in Supplies Smaller.

According to Bradstreet's the world's available supplies increased 2,253,000 bu, compared to gains of 5,708,000 bu a week ago, and 9,949,000 bu a year ago. There was a cable to the effect that extreme drought during the growing season had practically eliminated New South Wales as a factor in the exporting business. With the exception of Budapest, which wound up ¼c firmer, all the leading European markets ruled lower, closing quotations showing declines of ⅛@¼d at Liverpool, 1c at Paris, unchanged to ⅝c at Antwerp, and ½c at Berlin.

Narrow Range for Corn.

There were occasional spurts of activity in the corn market, but business as a whole was light and devoid of notable feature. Prices moved sluggishly within a narrow range, with the undertone showing firm the greater part of the session. Final quotations represented an advance of ⅛@¼c for December, and no change for May. There was some selling early on generally favorable crop weather, liberal receipts, slow shipping trade, and an increase in local stocks. The holdings in public warehouses, however, are small even with the increase. There was a little selling against country purchases, but it was not strong enough to be a market factor. Some of the "farmers" on the floor declared that there had been too much moisture in Iowa and other principal parts of the belt for the good of the late corn, but those of bearish inclination saw nothing in prevailing conditions to worry about. Cash corn ruled about steady. Local receipts aggregated 599 cars, as expected, 172 cars grading contract, the estimate for today being 465 cars. Clearances at the seaboard were 20,000 bu. Liverpool wound up ⅛@⅝d lower. Bradstreet's figured out a decrease of 148,000 bu in the world's available supplies, compared to an increase of 814,000 bu a year ago. Total primary arrivals were 1,302,000 bu, against 725,000 bu last year.

Pronounced Dullness in Oats.

Pronounced dullness characterized the oats market, which moved within narrow grounds, closing ¼c easier for all months. At times the pit was entirely deserted, traders lounging in the chairs at the edge of the pit or "visiting" their brothers in business elsewhere. Northwesterners were credited with selling May oats moderately, local shorts absorbing the offerings. The Patten crowd did practically nothing, although men close to the influencing factors in it declared that its bullish sentiment retained all the former strength. Oats at the sample tables ruled about steady, the general shipping demand being quiet. There was a fair call for the better grades from local interests. Local receipts were 250 cars, of which only 5 graded standard, 40 cars more than expected, the estimate for today being 297 cars. The world's available supplies, according to Bradstreet's, increased 1,227,000 bu, against a gain of 339,000 bu last year. Total primary receipts were 1,020,000 bu, compared to 814,000 bu last year.

Provision Liquidation Still On.

Continued liquidation by October longs again served as a depressing influence in the provision market, which early showed firmness for some products. A break in prices for hogs at the yards also had a detrimental effect. Deliveries on October contracts were liberal, going principally to packers, who report a generally active cash demand. January products received some support from scattered investors, packers being principal sellers. Western receipts of hogs totaled 54,900, compared to 55,400 the similar day last year. Estimated local arrivals for today were 25,000. Final pit prices showed net declines of 2½@5c for pork, 2½@12½c for lard, and 2½@7½c for ribs.

Rye Prices Are Lower.

Rye sold fairly well at a decline of 1@2c. Receipts were 22 cars. No. 2 free on board sold at 86@88c; No. 3, 80@84c; No. 4, 77@80c; no grade, 65@73c; December was 88c bid and May 90c bid.

Trade in barley was less active, offerings being lighter and demand not so urgent. Receipts were 45 cars. Feed was quoted at 78@80c; malting, 92c@$1.03; screenings, 48@76c.

Flaxseed was dull and unchanged. No. 1 northwestern was quoted at $1.25; No. 1 from the northwest, $1.23½; No. 1 southwestern, $1.15; rejected northwestern, $1.17@1.20½. Receipts were 5 cars here, 45 cars at Minneapolis, and 44 cars at Duluth.

Timothy seed was quiet. Contract October seed was quoted at $4.15 bid; March, $4.40; country lots, $3.50@4.20. Clover was steady at $16.75 for October contract and $10.00@15.75 for cash lots.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Cash wheat buyers were not in the market to any large extent, and sales were were confined to small lots. Prices were on about the same basis as recently, but there was less snap to the demand, both for domestic and export account. No. 2 red was 3¼c under December. St. Louis was 1c lower for cash wheat, and both that market and Kansas City reported a slow demand. At Kansas City 100 cars were carried over unsold from Monday. One message from St. Louis, however, said that Texas, Tennessee, and Kentucky millers were fair buyers. Duluth said there had been a good business done in spring wheat, and Minneapolis No. 1 northern was in fair demand at 3½c over December. Local exporters stated that there had been no business worked even on the decline. Hard winter wheats at the gulf were relatively weaker, bids being 5c over December for No. 2 hard, against 6½c over less than a week ago. Premiums are still high, however, shorts having bid prices up sharply in their anxiety to cover their sales. Corn here was steady to ¼c lower, with only a moderate demand. Receipts continued large, but stocks do not show much accumulation. Oats were easy—unchanged to ½c lower. Corn sales included 50,000 bu for export. Total sales were 65,000 bu wheat, 250,000 bu corn, and 125,000 bu oats. Seaboard sales were reported at 200,000 bu wheat and 68,000 bu corn.

Broomhall sums up foreign crop conditions as follows: United kingdom—Under favorable weather conditions thrashing has continued to make favorable progress. France—The recent drought reported still continues and is hindering plowing, but rains are predicted and as a result offerings are liberal. Germany—Offerings continue to show an increase. The potato crop is expected to be an average one, but of doubtful quality. Hungary—The drought which we reported last week still continues and is hindering plowing. This dry condition, however, is favorable for corn and potatoes. Roumania—Drought still continues, which is unfavorable for plowing. Wheat in growers' hands is reported exhausted. A small corn crop is expected. Russia—The outlook for seeding is generally favorable. Arrivals at the southwest ports are light and at the southeast fair. India—Latest advices continue unfavorable as a result of continued drought. Australia—Reports regarding the crop outlook as received from leading shippers are unfavorable, and they question much whether there will be any exportable surplus from New South Wales. The state raised about 21,000,000 bu.

The following message from Govan, Saskatchewan, 375 miles northwest of Winnipeg, is in striking contrast to some of the alarmist reports: "The last two or three weeks, in fact, the whole of this season, has been a period of anxiety for the farmers in this district. Spring opened late and the latter part of the season has been somewhat dull and wet. There has, too, been the possibility of frost; danger point, however, has been fortunately passed by, and the greater portion of the wheat and oats is tied up in sheaves. The season, though late, has been of such a nature as to develop an unusually plump and fine sample of grain, especially where the sowing was earliest. One man, who has farmed all his life, reports that he cut a field of wheat that was the heaviest crop and the plumpest kernel he ever saw, and if properly cured and thrashed in all probability will yield forty to forty-five bushels to the acre on an average."

B. W. Snow, the crop expert, gave out the following pessimistic report on his return from his Saskatchewan farm yesterday: "Twenty millions is outside estimate for good milling wheat in northwest Canada. Only wheat that was cut before frost was southern Manitoba and some in southern Saskatchewan and winter wheat in Alberta. This is all that is being thrashed yet and is of fair quality, but light yield. In many districts no wheat was cut until after frost and nowhere was all the crop secured. When this frosted wheat is thrashed it will make little besides feed. Old wheat is being bought now for next year's seed. Inside of two weeks receipts will only be grading No. 4 and feed. Weather for two weeks dull and rainy, preventing frosted grain from hardening and delaying thrashing. Sixty per cent of the crop will be of too low quality to mill."

The eleventh annual convention of the Grain Dealers' National association convenes at Cincinnati today, and will be in session today and tomorrow. A special train will take a large delegation from this place and other points along the line. At the opening session George F. Stone, secretary of the Chicago board of trade, will respond to the address of welcome on behalf of the grain trade. W. N. Eckhardt of Pope-Eckhardt and A. E. Schuyler, assistant weighmaster of the board of trade, are down on the program of the second day for papers. Arthur R. Sawers, Adolph Gerstenberg, and Fred D. Austin compose the local committee which has charge of the transportation arrangements. The special train will go over the Big Four.

Logan-Bryan, Northern Grain, Lake, Canby, and Bartlett-Frazier were early buyers of wheat. Shorts bought freely on the opening decline. On the bulge Barrell, Northern Grain, Brosseau, Lake, Gillett, and Knight-McDougal sold. Howe, Marfield, Wells, Comstock, and Bartlett-Frazier were the leaders on the buying side of corn. Cudahy brokers were the best sellers. Comstock sold on the upturn. Wagner and Updike were on the selling side. Marfield and cash houses sold oats, and Buckley and Howe were moderate buyers. October lard and ribs were sold by Logan-Bryan and other commission houses. Packers took a little nearby lard.

Bradstreet's report of the world's available supply of grains last week showed the following increases:

	1907.	1906.
Wheat east of Rockies	353,000	5,249,000
Europe and afloat	1,900,000	4,700,000
Totals	2,253,000	9,949,000

Charles Waite and Robert H. Thorburn were yesterday reinstated to membership by the directors of the board of trade. As members of the old grain firm of Waite-Thorburn, they were expelled from the board in 1902 for defaulting on corn and oats contracts in that year. They have made a settlement with their creditors.

October deliveries of hog products were large—9,250 brls pork, 6,250 tcs lard, and 4,850,000 lbs short ribs. The North American company put out the bulk of the stuff. Ellsworth and Logan-Bryan took in the pork, Schwarz and Ellsworth the lard, and Armour the ribs.

Closing prices for wheat in foreign markets were: Liverpool, ⅛@¼d lower; Paris, unchanged to ¼c lower; Antwerp, unchanged to ⅝c lower; Berlin, ½c lower, and Budapest, ¼c higher.

Sales on the call were: Oats—No. 3 white, 10 days, 3,000 bu at 47⅞c, 1,500 bu at 48c transmississippi; No. 3 white, October, 11,500 bu at 48⅞c Illinois proportional.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 87 cars; corn, 465 cars; oats, 297 cars; rye, 8 cars; barley, 46 cars; hogs, 25,000.

Giles A. Eddy and James A. Begg have been admitted to membership on the board of trade.

Charters were made for 100,000 bu wheat and 140,000 bu corn.

Charles Waite has posted his membership for transfer.

Sanitary District Bonds Sold.

The Illinois Trust and Savings bank and the Harris Trust and Savings bank have closed a contract with the sanitary district of Chicago for the purchase of $1,000,000 4 per cent bonds of the district. These are the bonds that were advertised for sale on Aug. 31, at which time there was no award. The bonds are dated Sept. 1, 1907, and mature serially from 1909 to 1926. The bonds will be offered for sale at a price to net over 4 per cent.

Copper News.

The reduction of the Anaconda dividends from $1.75 to $1.25 a share was not so large as had been expected. In consequence the securities market was not greatly affected.

At the New York Metal exchange yesterday there was a further reduction of ¼c in all grades of copper. Quotations were:

Lake, 14½c to 15c; electrolytic, 15¼c to 14½c; castings, 14¼c asked.

St. Paul Rumor Denied.

William Rockefeller declared that the rumors current to the effect that the St. Paul was in the market to borrow $12,000,000 on short term notes were untrue, and the talk that the road was in need of money he declared to be all nonsense.

Dividends Declared.

Anaconda Mining company today declared a quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share. The previous dividend was $1.75 a share, and was paid July 17 last. The dividend is payable Oct. 16. Books close Oct. 5, reopen Oct. 15.

The Vulcan Detinning company declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred stock, payable Oct. 21. Books close Oct. 10, reopen Oct. 22.

The International Smokeless Powder and Chemical company declared a dividend of 4 per cent on its preferred stock, payable Nov. 15 as registered Oct. 31.

The H. B. Claflin company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on its common stock, payable Oct. 15. Books close Oct. 5, reopen Oct. 16.

General Financial News.

The annual meeting of the Northern Pacific railroad was postponed to Oct. 8.

It is announced that the United States Steel corporation has laid off 100 pattern makers at the Homestead mills. This is reported to be the first instance of the laying off of skilled workmen by the corporation.

Beer sales in Chicago for the month of September were 410,902 barrels, compared with 521,552 barrels in August, and 409,787 barrels in September of 1906.

Since last Friday the New York subtreasury has gained $2,871,000 from the banks.

The last installment of 20 per cent in the $2,500,000 syndicate organized to complete the Walsh road has been called and is payable Oct. 5.

The Harris Trust and Savings bank has been appointed registrar of the preferred and common stocks of Street's Western Stable Car line as of Oct. 1. The bank also succeeds the Equitable Trust company as trustee under the company's bond mortgage.

Car Foundry.

American Car Foundry company reports for quarter ended July 31 last:

		Increase.
Net earnings	$2,592,978	$986,924
Preferred dividend	525,000
Common dividend	300,000	300,000

Total surplus	21,320,608	6,075,460

Money Situation Well in Hand.

The fact that Oct. 1 was turned in the money market with lower rates, instead of an advance, appeared to demonstrate the fact that thus far the money situation is well in hand. September disbursements were the largest recorded for that month, being $160,000,000, or $10,000,000 in excess of the corresponding period last year.

Illinois Trust.

Stockholders of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank yesterday paid for their new stock. The issue was $500,000 and was sold at par. Quarterly dividend checks of 4 per cent were issued to shareholders.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The dry goods market was quiet today, with prices holding steady in most cases. Cotton yarns are lower. The export trade is quiet. Clothiers' linings are in better demand than linings for jobbers. Printed fabrics are being bought more freely, and ginghams continue in steady demand.

Metals—Tin in London was unchanged to 10s higher, with spot at £161 5s and futures at £157 15s. Locally the market was quiet at $35.50 to $35.75. Copper was lower in London, with spot and futures both at £63 2s 6d. Locally the market was weak and prices were shade lower. Lake, $14.50@15.00; electrolytic, $14.25@14.50; casting, $14.00@14.25. Lead was lower, at £19 15s in London, and unchanged in the local market. Spelter was unchanged in both markets, with spot quoted at £21 in London. Iron was lower in London. Standard foundry, 53s 1d; Cleveland warrants, 54s 1½d. Locally the market was unchanged.

Antimony—The demand for antimony continues of moderate proportions, with European quotations steady. The local market presents a dull appearance, and there is a little more firmness apparent. Cookson's is quoted at 10@11½c, Hallett's at 10½@11c, and other brands at 10@10½c. In the London market Hallett's is steady at £45, and ordinary brands at £43.

Butter—Firm; unchanged; receipts, 11,965 pkgs. Butter in Philadelphia, ½c higher; extra western creamery, 30½c.

Eggs—Irregular; receipts, 17,610 cases; state, Pennsylvania, and nearby, brown and mixed, fancy, 27@28c; firsts to extra firsts, 23@26c; Western firsts, 22@23c; seconds, 19@21c. Eggs in Philadelphia firm; western, choice, free cases, 25c at mark.

Poultry—Alive firm; spring chickens, 15c; fowls, 16c; turkeys, 14. Dressed irregular; western spring chickens, 12@18c; turkeys, 10@16c; fowls, 12@14c.

Low Prices for Bonds

We have on hand at this time blocks of various 5 per cent bonds which are parts of issues that we have handled for a number of years, securities that are in every way suitable for the most conservative investment. Most of these bonds have in the past sold at par or better, but on account of market conditions we can now supply them at exceedingly low prices, yielding from 5½ to 6 per cent.

If interested, please communicate with us and we will supply full details and quote terms that we are confident will be attractive.

ODD PIECE SALE.

Sample & Misfit Garments.

25% TO 50% OFF.

SOMETHING TO INTEREST EVERY MAN.

Owing to the volume of our business and the liberal treatment which we accord to our customers who find fault of any kind with our work, or with the fitting of their garments, we receive a large number of garments back. In the course of a season we sometimes receive as much as many small clothing stores buy for their season's requirements. We are obliged to take a loss on these garments, and we do it gracefully and as quickly as possible.

We have just had returned by our branch stores all of their season's accumulation of misfits, errors, and returned garments of all descriptions. If we can fit you, we will sell you a $40.00 suit for $25.00; a $30.00 suit for $20.00; a $25.00 suit for $15.00, and other garments at proportionate reductions. We have some few of last year's garments which we offer at about ½ of the above prices, so you can see why we are anxious to turn them into money quickly. The style changes and they are worth only ½ as much the following season.

These garments are brand new and we will guarantee them in perfect condition. Here is an opportunity to dress swell at a decidedly low cost. Call early and select before best patterns are taken.

To see these houses is the best way to judge their real value and their real superior construction. To give you an idea how they are built, I will say they have:
Stone foundation,
Hot water, furnace, or heating systems,
Hardwood throughout,
Spacious porches,
Extra large pantries and closets,
Handsome combination fixtures,
Large size attics.
REMEMBER
That gas, water, sewer, cement walks, etc., are all in and paid for.
No special assessments.
OUR TERMS
ARE WITHIN YOUR MEANS.

Autumnal Opening: The Triumph of the Styles

Only those who have attended a Stevens Opening can appreciate the importance of these style expositions. It is the time for bringing out the newest, the most exclusive and extreme modes for the coming season. Each section of this outfitting store is really a Paris shop in itself, so replete is it with the new novelties. A splendid opportunity for procuring stunning apparel for the Horse Show.

IT seems needless to announce that Monday and yesterday were the two most successful Opening days in the history of our business, when so many thousands of women visited our store and saw for themselves the beautiful creations.

It substantiates the statement in our advertisements that, although every citizen is and should be proud of Chicago's magnificent retail establishments, conceded to be the grandest in the world, the real desire in the heart of every woman who attends these openings is to arrive at a conclusion as to what she herself wants to wear the coming season

And therefore a substantial interest in the merchandise begins to assert itself in her mind. This is why they nearly all go to Stevens', for at no other place in Chicago can such appropriate things for women to wear be found.
